Paper Says Nix On Saucer Stories

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 7 (AP)—A ban on "flying saucer" stories has been announced by the Ottawa Daily Republican-Times.

In an editorial printed Wednesday, Managing Editor Herbert Hames told the paper's 12,000 purchasers: "We're not printing them any more."

"We've chosen sides. And we invite the 1,700 other daily newspapers in the nation to join in a fight against feeding pap to the newspaper reading public," the editorial said.

Chicago Girl Slain By Gunman While Sitting in Park

Police Say Killer Had Big Record of Arrests Dating to 1944; Note Found

Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—A young man crying, "I love Sally," darted suddenly from the bushes in Grant Park yesterday and sprayed bullets at a young couple listening to music. His bullets killed the girl and critically wounded her escort.

Then the man embraced the girl—apparently a stranger to him—as she lay dying on the ground, and shot himself to death.

The lightning action took place in the midst of hundreds of downtown office workers spending their lunch hour in the park, some listening to the rehearsal of the Grant Park Symphony Orchestra in the big park band shell.

Victims of Shooting

The victims were Patricia Kahler, 17, killed by two bullets fired into her head, and Herbert A. Hoffman, 17, wounded critically in the neck, chest and back. Both were employed in the nearby offices of the Standard Oil Co.

The dead gunman had a hotel receipt in his pocket which bore the name of R. Walker, who recently stayed at the Griswold Hotel, in Detroit.

Police Give Report

However, police said FBI fingerprints showed the killer was Bernard Richardson, who had a police record dating back to 1944, with arrests in several cities throughout the country. The FBI report did not show his age or address.

Hoffman told police he did not know the assailant and believed Miss Kahler had never seen him before.

Police said a letter found in the killer's pocket, apparently written by him, said in part:

"I have loved you completely and deeply but you do not love me * * * oh to make a choice between Bonny and Carol Hoffman would be difficult. Behold my love for you * * * both strong as death, for death will not separate or keep us apart."

The letter was unsigned.

Sheriff Seeks Man Believed Drowned

Barge Captain Seen Last Trying to Swim to Creek Bank

Sheriff's office men and volunteers continued grappling throughout this morning in an attempt to locate the body of a barge captain who was last seen when he attempted to swim to shore from a small boat that capsized in the Rondout Creek shortly before 11 p. m. Wednesday.

The missing man has been tentatively identified as Frank LaVallee of 610 East 136th street, the Bronx, the sheriff's office said.

Kingston police, who also conducted an investigation, reported LaVallee was captain of the barge, "Louise," owned by the Jacobus Scow and Transportation Company and chartered by the Callanan Road Improvement Company of South Rondout.

Captain Mertens, 65, in charge of a barge owned by the Jacob Rice and Sons Barge Company, heard LaVallee call for help shortly before 11 o'clock last night.

Stevenson Might Tell HST 'No Go'

Democratic Nominee Gets Bid to Be Present at Cabinet Session Next Week

May Drop Truman

President May Be Asked by Him to Refrain From Any Speeches

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois may face the difficult task here next week of suggesting to President Truman that he take a back seat in the presidential campaign.

The White House announced yesterday Stevenson had accepted an invitation to attend a cabinet meeting here Tuesday. Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the vice-presidential nominee, and Vice President Barkley also were invited.

It will be Stevenson's first face-to-face meeting with Truman since the governor was nominated at the Chicago convention. It might be historic in its development of relationships between a retiring President and the party's nominee to succeed him.

Reluctant, Is Feeling

Stevenson gave no indication he regarded the cabinet meeting bid as in the nature of a command performance. But there is general belief among Democrats here that the nominee is reluctant to become too closely identified with the Truman administration.

As a start toward establishing his own political entity for the coming campaign, Stevenson is reported about ready to replace Truman's Democratic national committee chairman, Frank E. McKinney.

Stevenson's top choice for the job is believed to be former Sen. Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania, who quarterbacked the "draft Stevenson" movement at the Chicago convention. The governor's press secretary, however, denied reports that Myers had an inside track to the job. Another man under consideration for the job is Rep. Michael Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democrtic House Campaign Committee.

Recognizes Corruption

Stevenson's evident wish to disassociate himself from the present regime was indicated when, for one thing, he made it clear in his acceptance speech at Chicago that he recognizes corruption-in-government charges as a campaign issue and proposes to do something about it other than deny—as Truman has—that there have been any serious wrongdoing.

In what generally was regarded as a criticism of Truman's attitude as well as that of the Republican, Stevenson demanded:

"Do you doubt the power of any political leader, if he has the will to do so, to set his own house in order without his neighbors burning it down?"

Truman has offered to take to the whistle stops again with the give-'em-hell-type of campaigning he pursued so successfully in 1948.

Not Meat-Axe Type

But that isn't Stevenson's style at all. He leans toward the political rapier rather than the meat-axe.

He might feel the contrast would work to his disadvantage if Truman were dividing the country's attention at a time when the governor may believe he alone should have the Democratic spotlight.

The expense of a campaign train—so heavy there was doubt at times that Truman's could be kept rolling in 1948—also may be a deterrent to any big scale presidential campaigning.

If Truman takes to the road, the Democratic committee will have to dig down for two trains and also keep Sparkman going at the same time.

For these and other reasons many Democrats believe it would please Stevenson to have Truman remain—as the President himself has put it—a buck private in the rear ranks of the campaign.

There seems little doubt that Truman is itching to take to the country a personal defense of his record in office. He told Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, who visited the White House yesterday, that he would like to speak in Brooklyn, Pittsburgh and Boston—but in his buck private role.

Truman, of course, could accept

This is all that remained of the Oriental Light Metals plant in North Korea after 63 U. S. B-29 bombers staged the largest air strike of the war against a single target the night of July 30-31. Air Force officials estimated 90 per cent destruction by 1,200,000 pounds of high explosives. Three large buildings in center were badly damaged. Mossadegh Plans Taxes to Replace Lost Oil Revenue

Two Per Cent Land Levy Is Proposed in Iran —Nation Is Close to Bankruptcy

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 7 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh put before his cabinet last night a plan for sweeping new taxes to replace revenues lost through nationalization of the Iranian oil industry.

Informants said unofficially that the premier will impose an annual two per cent tax on all land holdings, most of it owned by Iran's wealthy upper class. One source close to the government predicted the new levy would bring in at least 330 million dollars yearly—slightly more than the government now is spending.

Port Pilot Scores As Sabres Down Communist Jets

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 7 (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots today shot down four Russian-made jets and damaged four in the fourth straight day of jet battles over North Korea.

One of the damage claims was credited to Lt. Ronald W. Hartrim, Route One, Port Jervis, N. Y.

On the ground, grenade-tossing South Korean infantrymen won back a central front height called Capitol Hill three hours after they had lost it at dawn. A U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer said it was the sixth time in two days that the steep hill had changed hands.

Today's toll of Communist jets boosted the Reds' losses to 15 MIGs destroyed and 18 damaged in four days. U. S. losses, if any, will be announced later in a weekly summary.

One MIG was shot down and one damaged in two battles near the Yalu river around noon. Two more were destroyed in a battle near Anju. Sabres shot down one and damaged three in a clash

Romance Seems A-Blooming When Two Visit Beach

Aspirin Bottle Note Duo Visit Strand Where Milkmaid Saw Message

Dingle, County Kerry, Ireland, Aug. 7 (AP)—Former GI Frank Hayostak and milkmaid Breda O'Sullivan walked today to the spot on Dingle Bay where the bottle that started their romance washed ashore seven years ago.

Only the seagulls knew what they talked about—but tourists and slyly winking villagers thought they had a pretty good idea. As far as this village in southwest Ireland is concerned, this is romance with a capital R—just like they sing about in the old ballads.

One Lovely Day

Hayostak and pretty Miss O'Sullivan, 24 and blue-eyed, gave the villagers the slip and went motoring among the storied lakes of Killarney. "It was a lovely day for them," one villager said. The weather was perfect.

The shy, hand-holding couple would not say whether they planned to marry. They were only talkative with each other. Her parents weren't saying much either, but they smiled when the idea of marriage was mentioned to them.

No Marriage Brokers

For generations most marriages in this part of Ireland have been arranged by the families of the boy and girl. But one feature of this system has died out in recent years. No longer does a marriage broker serve as a go-between for couples wishing to become engaged.

Billion Is Lost in Crops But Rain Saves Something

(By The Associated Press)

Drouth-cracking rains splashed down Wednesday on New England and parts of the south—too late to save nearly a billion dollars worth of burned out crops and pastures.

But the moisture was a timely life-saver for corn, tobacco, cotton and vegetable crops still surviving in the drouth-singed areas and gave promise of reviving some pastures by fall.

The drouth, one of the worst in years to hit the nation's over-all food production, already is having these effects:

Some sharp increases in produce prices, scattered setbacks to rural trade, cuts in milk supplies in southern Missouri, a decline in farm labor employment in the stricken area and some "scare" buying in canned fruits and vegetables.

Unless the rainfall pattern returns to normal, some government spokesmen predicted that sales of farm implements will be hurt and that a water power shortage will develop in New Hampshire and in oil-producing Oklahoma.

A Department of Commerce survey showed no serious business slump yet in any area because of the drouth but that there had been some sharp increases in produce prices.

As the rains came, the federal government raised to 10 the number of entire states listed as disaster areas. It added North Carolina and the remainder of Arkansas to the list. Other states are South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Massachusetts, Maine and 44 Missouri counties. Oklahoma and Texas have been carried over from the 1951 drouth.

Farmers in these areas are eligible for government loans.

The southern states were assured by government spokesmen attending an emergency drouth session in Atlanta yesterday that no hard-pressed farmer will be put out of business or be forced to sacrifice livestock.

The farmers need credits for hay purchases in non-affected states to feed hungry livestock.

Agricultural spokesmen said the drouth was broken in southern New England and in parts of the South. Arkansas had general rain but the weather bureau said it was not enough to break the drouth there.

Birmingham, Ala., reported 2.55 inches of rain, heaviest since Jan. 1, as the climax to a week of drouth-easing showers, but the rains were too late to reduce the estimated 150 million dollars crop loss in that state.

A total of 1.86 inches of rain fell at Knoxville, Tenn., and the weather bureau said the drouth is broken there. A half inch of rain fell in the Tennessee Valley.

At least 1.75 inches of rain pelted the entire state of Connecticut and Dr. Paul Anderson, director of the Connecticut agricultural experimental station in Windsor, said the rain was worth "millions" to the tobacco crop alone.

Massachuetts Deputy Commissioner, James H. Collins, said .25 to .75 inches of rain in that state "ought to help everything."

Eisenhower to Confer With Jordan, Hansen

Two Taft Supporters Will Be Heard by Nominee at Denver—Illinois Promises Staunch Support

Denver, Aug. 7 (AP)—Seeking a united GOP front, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower booked conferences today with two more pre-convention Taft supporters.

The Republican presidential nominee arranged meetings with Gov. Len B. Jordan of Idaho and George T. Hansen, the party's national committeeman from Utah.

Both Jordan and Hansen backed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the nomination.

The general also scheduled talks with two national committee women who were on his side at the Republican convention. They are Mrs. Ethel Heffelfinger of Minnesota and Miss Berth S. Adkins of Maryland.

Although Taft pledged Eisenhower wholehearted support a few minutes after the general was nominated in Chicago, the Eisenhower camp was concerned at first that the Ohioan's followers might do little to make the pledge effective.

Headquarters Cheered

But developments since then have cheered the general's headquarters.

The day after Eisenhower came to his Denver headquarters from the Chicago convention he was told he could count on enthusiastic GOP support in Illinois, which was almost solidly pro-Taft in the first-ballott voting on the nomination.

The promise of support came from William Stratton, the Republican candidate for governor of Illinois. Stratton's opponent at the time was Adlai Stevenson, the Democrat incumbent, who a few days later became the Democrats' nominee for president.

Two days ago, a big Illinois delegation headed by the state's GOP national committeeman, former U. S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, called on Eisenhower to look him over. Brooks said the group went back home embued with a missionary spirit to elect Eisenhower in November.

Sing His Praises

Among other Taft backers who have called on the general and who went away singing his praises are Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska and Sen. Arthur V. Watkins of Utah. Both are seeking reelection.

As for his own campaign itinerary plans, Eisenhower said yesterday he intends to keep the Democrats guessing for another month or so. "There is no use giving the opposition a chance to surround you with county fairs and other rallies," Eisenhower told news men at a buffet luncheon at which he was host.

"After all, during the war I never told the enemy a month in advance where I was going to attack," he added.

Time of Study

The general said the period between now and the start of his active campaign about Sept. 1 would be a time of "intensive study, conferences and investigation."

Eisenhower announced that his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, will arrive here early Friday for another round of conferences.

The general said Nixon may decide to set up national headquarters in Denver until Eisenhower leaves late in the month for New York for an Aug. 25 address to the American Legion national convention.

Defense Report Cites Loss Due to Walkout in Steel

Steelman Says 25 Million Man-Days Disrupt Schedule by Full Year

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—A defense mobilization report, censored before it was published, says 25 million man-days of work were lost in the steel strike, knocking military production a whole year off its stride.

The report to President Truman was made by acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman, who released excerpts yesterday after deleting secret data.

Steelman estimated 25 million man-days of work slipped by during the idleness of 600,000 striking steel workers. Stoppages in steel-using industries before the 54-day strike was settled boosted this total of idle to perhaps 1,400,000 men.

To Be Felt Heavily

"The effects of the steel stoppage will be felt heavily for the next three to six months," Steelman said, "and will not be completely worked out of the military production program for an entire year."

He added that the impact will delay the planned program to step up production of many major items. He estimated steel output this year will be about 90 million tons, 14 per cent below 1951 and the lowest since 1949.

Steelman said ammunition production may not get back on schedule until early next year.

Closed or Slowed Down

He said 299 plants either had closed or slowed down by July 25, when the strike ended, and he confirmed a forecast that more will be idled before mills can catch up on deliveries.

There were some bright spots, however, including:

1. The new 7-48 medium tank is now rolling off the assembly line.

2. Total warplane output continued upward, despite the strike.

3. Serious loss of perishable foods was avoided.

Aside from the military phase of mobilization, the report also said:

1. Following removal of price ceilings from many items, no commodities climbed as high as the ceiling level.

2. Easy-payment credit reached

Rose Says Affidavit Release 'Enough to Make Man Weep'

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Showman Billy Rose, who has obtained a sizzling divorce affidavit against Eleanor Holm, says "it's enough to make a strong man weep."

"I assure you I get no joy from the release of the Alberta Jones affidavit," he told newsmen yesterday.

The diminutive producer referred to a written statement he has gotten from a maid in connection with his marital action here.

Rose is suing for divorce—with the only ground in New York state being adultery—and his wife is suing for a separation with maintenance.

The battle of the Roses—seldom dormant in the past few months—burst into new fury this week when a criminal libel charge was lodged against Rose in California.

The charge was made in Beverly Hills by Mrs. Dorothy Bernie, widow of the radio's "Old Maestro" Ben Bernie.

Mrs. Bernie based her court complaint Monday on the affidavit obtained by Rose from her former maid in New York, Mrs. Alberta Jones.

The affidavit was obtained by Rose in connection with his divorce suit against the former swimming star which is scheduled to go to trial here Sept. 10. Papers in the case are impounded, under usual court procedure.

The affidavit came to light when Mrs. Bernie, 42, filed the criminal libel charge in Beverly Hills.

Rose said at a news conference yesterday—as the divorce battle

Refuses Any News About E. G. Arnall

Stabilizer Has Parley With Chief Executive, Says He Is Attentive to Price News

Can't Do Work

Fund Slash Hampers Agency Effectiveness, He Says

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Truman said today he is considering calling an extra session of Congress to ask for a stronger price control law.

He told a news conference that no decision has been made, but he has the matter under consideration.

If it is necessary to call a special session, he declared, he will call it.

A decision will await developments, he added.

Truman declined to comment on reports that Ellis G. Arnall is preparing to quit as price stabilizer.

Arnall went to the White House yesterday bearing his resignation, effective Sept. 1, and a report to Truman that food prices again are rising sharply.

'Very Attentive'

Arnall told reporters Truman "was very attentive—he said he was quite concerned about the rising prices." Arnall added that he also discussed with the President "the inadequate controls law written just before the end of the session of Congress."

Some administration sources reported the President is reluctant to see Arnall leave and predicted he would make every effort to keep the Georgian on the price job. Some of Arnall's associates said, however, that the price boss is extremely anxious to get back to his private law practice and business affairs.

'Need Stronger Law'

Arnall said he told Truman that "we need a stronger law to control prices." He said he suggested that the act is "very weak due to crippling amendments." Among these factors he mentioned the decontrol by Congress of fruits and vegetables in raw and processed forms.

He also mentioned that the OPS is unable to do what he called an effective job because of a slash by Congress in its operating funds. Between now and Sept. 1 OPS must release more than half of its 12,000 employes in Washington and in about 100 field offices.

"With a skeleton crew in office, the job (of inflation control) just can't be done," Arnall said.

Says Prices Set Record

Arnall said he told the President food prices increased a record 1½ per cent between June 15 and July 15. He said that even after the Korean outbreak food prices went up only one per cent a month.

Among factors affecting the increase in the cost of living, Arnall said, is the widespread drouth in many states which is sharply reducing the supply of fresh fruits and vegetables for canning. He has said this will create shortages. The National Canners Association disputed this.

Carlos Campbell, the association's executive secretary, said there is every indication the 1952 pack of fruits and vegetables, plus a large carryover from the 1951 pack, will insure above-normal supplies.

Campbell added in a statement last night that prices apparently have stabilized and that canned foods are selling for about 7½ per cent below price ceilings in effect before Congress decontrolled these foods.

Cut in Taxes

Wellington, N. Z., Aug. 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland today announced a reduction in income tax for New Zealanders. In presenting the government's 1952-53 budget, he estimated expenditures of 167,300,000 pounds (468 million dollars) and a surplus of 2,700,000 pounds (7½ million dollars.) Holland said the current surcharge of 10 per cent on all incomes will be reduced to five per cent.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—The position of the treasury Aug. 5: Net budget receipts, $367,329,268.61; budget expenditures, $357,020,101.39; cash balance, $7,604,916,571.64; customs receipts for month, $6,380,118.18; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $3,897,348,202.29; budget expenditures fiscal year, $7,484,465,113.23; budget deficit, $3,587,116,910.94; total debt, $262,924,291,167.89; decrease under previous day, $173,956,828.93; gold assets, $23,350,331,434.38.

Would Delay Serving

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello attempted today to delay the start of his 18-month sentence for contempt of the U. S. Senate from tomorrow until Aug. 15. He said in a petition to Federal Judge John C. Knox he did not believe he should surrender until Justice Robert H. Jackson of the U. S. Supreme Court acts on his appeal for a review of the case. Costello is free in bail. Knox also had before him a government request for an order calling for Costello's surrender at 9:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow. The judge was expected to decide on both the government and Costello applications later today.

Billion Is Lost in Crops But Rain Saves Something

(By The Associated Press)

Drouth-cracking rains splashed down Wednesday on New England and parts of the south—too late to save nearly a billion dollars worth of burned out crops and pastures.

But the moisture was a timely life-saver for corn, tobacco, cotton and vegetable crops still surviving in the drouth-singed areas and gave promise of reviving some pastures by fall.

The drouth, one of the worst in years to hit the nation's over-all food production, already is having these effects:

Some sharp increases in produce prices, scattered setbacks to rural trade, cuts in milk supplies in southern Missouri, a decline in farm labor employment in the stricken area and some "scare" buying in canned fruits and vegetables.

Unless the rainfall pattern returns to normal, some government spokesmen predicted that sales of farm implements will be hurt and that a water power shortage will develop in New Hampshire and in oil-producing Oklahoma.

A Department of Commerce survey showed no serious business slump yet in any area because of the drouth but that there had been some sharp increases in produce prices.

As the rains came, the federal government raised to 10 the number of entire states listed as disaster areas. It added North Carolina and the remainder of Arkansas to the list. Other states are South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Massachusetts, Maine and 44 Missouri counties. Oklahoma and Texas have been carried over from the 1951 drouth.

Farmers in these areas are eligible for government loans.

The southern states were assured by government spokesmen attending an emergency drouth session in Atlanta yesterday that no hard-pressed farmer will be put out of business or be forced to sacrifice livestock.

The farmers need credits for hay purchases in non-affected states to feed hungry livestock.

Agricultural spokesmen said the drouth was broken in southern New England and in parts of the South. Arkansas had general rain but the weather bureau said it was not enough to break the drouth there.

Birmingham, Ala., reported 2.55 inches of rain, heaviest since Jan. 1, as the climax to a week of drouth-easing showers, but the rains were too late to reduce the estimated 150 million dollars crop loss in that state.

A total of 1.86 inches of rain fell at Knoxville, Tenn., and the weather bureau said the drouth is broken there. A half inch of rain fell in the Tennessee Valley.

At least 1.75 inches of rain pelted the entire state of Connecticut and Dr. Paul Anderson, director of the Connecticut agricultural experimental station in Windsor, said the rain was worth "millions" to the tobacco crop alone.

Massachuetts Deputy Commissioner, James H. Collins, said .25 to .75 inches of rain in that state "ought to help everything."

Romance Seems A-Blooming When Two Visit Beach

Aspirin Bottle Note Duo Visit Strand Where Milkmaid Saw Message

Dingle, County Kerry, Ireland, Aug. 7 (AP)—Former GI Frank Hayostak and milkmaid Breda O'Sullivan walked today to the spot on Dingle Bay where the bottle that started their romance washed ashore seven years ago.

Only the seagulls knew what they talked about—but tourists and slyly winking villagers thought they had a pretty good idea. As far as this village in southwest Ireland is concerned, this is romance with a capital R—just like they sing about in the old ballads.

One Lovely Day

Hayostak and pretty Miss O'Sullivan, 24 and blue-eyed, gave the villagers the slip and went motoring among the storied lakes of Killarney. "It was a lovely day for them," one villager said. The weather was perfect.

The shy, hand-holding couple would not say whether they planned to marry. They were only talkative with each other. Her parents weren't saying much either, but they smiled when the idea of marriage was mentioned to them.

No Marriage Brokers

For generations most marriages in this part of Ireland have been arranged by the families of the boy and girl. But one feature of this system has died out in recent years. No longer does a marriage broker serve as a go-between for couples wishing to become engaged.

Rose Says Affidavit Release 'Enough to Make Man Weep'

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Showman Billy Rose, who has obtained a sizzling divorce affidavit against Eleanor Holm, says "it's enough to make a strong man weep."

"I assure you I get no joy from the release of the Alberta Jones affidavit," he told newsmen yesterday.

The diminutive producer referred to a written statement he has gotten from a maid in connection with his marital action here.

Rose is suing for divorce—with the only ground in New York state being adultery—and his wife is suing for a separation with maintenance.

The battle of the Roses—seldom dormant in the past few months—burst into new fury this week when a criminal libel charge was lodged against Rose in California.

The charge was made in Beverly Hills by Mrs. Dorothy Bernie, widow of the radio's "Old Maestro" Ben Bernie.

Mrs. Bernie based her court complaint Monday on the affidavit obtained by Rose from her former maid in New York, Mrs. Alberta Jones.

The affidavit was obtained by Rose in connection with his divorce suit against the former swimming star which is scheduled to go to trial here Sept. 10. Papers in the case are impounded, under usual court procedure.

The affidavit came to light when Mrs. Bernie, 42, filed the criminal libel charge in Beverly Hills.

Rose said at a news conference yesterday—as the divorce battle

Eisenhower to Confer With Jordan, Hansen

Two Taft Supporters Will Be Heard by Nominee at Denver—Illinois Promises Staunch Support

Denver, Aug. 7 (AP)—Seeking a united GOP front, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower booked conferences today with two more pre-convention Taft supporters.

The Republican presidential nominee arranged meetings with Gov. Len B. Jordan of Idaho and George T. Hansen, the party's national committeeman from Utah.

Both Jordan and Hansen backed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the nomination.

The general also scheduled talks with two national committee women who were on his side at the Republican convention. They are Mrs. Ethel Heffelfinger of Minnesota and Miss Berth S. Adkins of Maryland.

Although Taft pledged Eisenhower wholehearted support a few minutes after the general was nominated in Chicago, the Eisenhower camp was concerned at first that the Ohioan's followers might do little to make the pledge effective.

Headquarters Cheered

But developments since then have cheered the general's headquarters.

The day after Eisenhower came to his Denver headquarters from the Chicago convention he was told he could count on enthusiastic GOP support in Illinois, which was almost solidly pro-Taft in the first-ballott voting on the nomination.

The promise of support came from William Stratton, the Republican candidate for governor of Illinois. Stratton's opponent at the time was Adlai Stevenson, the Democrat incumbent, who a few days later became the Democrats' nominee for president.

Two days ago, a big Illinois delegation headed by the state's GOP national committeeman, former U. S. Sen. C. Wayland Brooks, called on Eisenhower to look him over. Brooks said the group went back home embued with a missionary spirit to elect Eisenhower in November.

Sing His Praises

Among other Taft backers who have called on the general and who went away singing his praises are Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska and Sen. Arthur V. Watkins of Utah. Both are seeking reelection.

As for his own campaign itinerary plans, Eisenhower said yesterday he intends to keep the Democrats guessing for another month or so. "There is no use giving the opposition a chance to surround you with county fairs and other rallies," Eisenhower told news men at a buffet luncheon at which he was host.

"After all, during the war I never told the enemy a month in advance where I was going to attack," he added.

Time of Study

The general said the period between now and the start of his active campaign about Sept. 1 would be a time of "intensive study, conferences and investigation."

Eisenhower announced that his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, will arrive here early Friday for another round of conferences.

The geheral said Nixon may decide to set up national headquarters in Denver until Eisenhower leaves late in the month for New York for an Aug. 25 address to the American Legion national convention.

Defense Report Cites Loss Due to Walkout in Steel

Steelman Says 25 Million Man-Days Disrupt Schedule by Full Year

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—A defense mobilization report, censored before it was published, says 25 million man-days of work were lost in the steel strike, knocking military production a whole year off its stride.

The report to President Truman was made by acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman, who released excerpts yesterday after deleting secret data.

Steelman estimated 25 million man-days of work slipped by during the idleness of 600,000 striking steel workers. Stoppages in steel-using industries before the 54-day strike was settled boosted this total of idle to perhaps 1,400,000 men.

To Be Felt Heavily

"The effects of the steel stoppage will be felt heavily for the next three to six months," Steelman said, "and will not be completely worked out of the military production program for an entire year."

He added that the impact will delay the planned program to step up production of many major items. He estimated steel output this year will be about 90 million tons, 14 per cent below 1951 and the lowest since 1949.

Steelman said ammunition production may not get back on schedule until early next year.

Closed or Slowed Down

He said 299 plants either had closed or slowed down by July 25, when the strike ended, and he confirmed a forecast that more will be idled before mills can catch up on deliveries.

There were some bright spots, however, including:

1. The new 7-48 medium tank is now rolling off the assembly line.
2. Total warplane output continued upward, despite the strike.
3. Serious loss of perishable foods was avoided.

Aside from the military phase of mobilization, the report also said:

1. Following removal of price ceilings from many items, no commodities climbed as high as the ceiling level.
2. Easy-payment credit reached

Refuses Any News About E. G. Arnall

Can't Do Work

Fund Slash Hampers Agency Effectiveness, He Says

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Truman said today he is considering calling an extra session of Congress to ask for a stronger price control law.

He told a news conference that no decision has been made, but he has the matter under consideration.

If it is necessary to call a special session, he declared, he will call it.

A decision will await developments, he added.

Truman declined to comment on reports that Ellis G. Arnall is preparing to quit as price stabilizer.

Arnall went to the White House yesterday bearing his resignation, effective Sept. 1, and a report to Truman that food prices again are rising sharply.

'Very Attentive'

Arnall told reporters Truman "was very attentive—he said he was quite concerned about the rising prices." Arnall added that he also discussed with the President "the inadequate controls law written just before the end of the session of Congress."

Some administration sources reported the President is reluctant to see Arnall leave and predicted he would make every effort to keep the Georgian on the price job. Some of Arnall's associates said, however, that the price boss is extremely anxious to get back to his private law practice and business affairs.

'Need Stronger Law'

Arnall said he told Truman that "we need a stronger law to control prices." He said he suggested that the act is "very weak due to crippling amendments." Among these factors he mentioned the decontrol by Congress of fruits and vegetables in raw and processed forms.

He also mentioned that the OPS is unable to do what he called an effective job because of a slash by Congress in its operating funds. Between now and Sept. 1 OPS must release more than half of its 12,000 employes in Washington and in about 100 field offices.

"With a skeleton crew in office, the job (of inflation control) just can't be done," Arnall said.

Says Prices Set Record

Arnall said he told the President food prices increased a record 1½ per cent between June 15 and July 15. He said that even after the Korean outbreak food prices went up only one per cent a month.

Among factors affecting the increase in the cost of living, Arnall said, is the widespread drouth in many states which is sharply reducing the supply of fresh fruits and vegetables for canning. He has said this will create shortages. The National Canners Association disputed this.

Carlos Campbell, the association's executive secretary, said there is every indication the 1952 pack of fruits and vegetables, plus a large carryover from the 1951 pack, will insure above-normal supplies.

Campbell added in a statement last night that prices apparently have stabilized and that canned foods are selling for about 7½ per cent below price ceilings in effect before Congress decontrolled these foods.

Cut in Taxes

Wellington, N. Z., Aug. 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland today announced a reduction in income tax for New Zealanders. In presenting the government's 1952-53 budget, he estimated expenditures of 167,300,000 pounds (468 million dollars) and a surplus of 2,700,000 pounds (7½ million dollars.) Holland said the current surcharge of 10 per cent on all incomes will be reduced to five per cent.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—The position of the treasury Aug. 5: Net budget receipts, $367,329,268.61; budget expenditures, $357,020,101.39; cash balance, $7,604,916,571.64; customs receipts for month, $6,380,118.18; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $3,897,348,202.29; budget expenditures fiscal year, $7,484,465,113.23; budget deficit, $3,587,116,910.94; total debt, $262,924,291,167.89; decrease under previous day, $173,956,828.93; gold assets, $23,350,331,434.38.

Would Delay Serving

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello attempted today to delay the start of his 18-month sentence for contempt of the U. S. Senate from tomorrow until Aug. 15. He said in a petition to Federal Judge John C. Knox he did not believe he should surrender until Justice Robert H. Jackson of the U. S. Supreme Court acts on his appeal for a review of the case. Costello is free in bail. Knox also had before him a government request for an order calling for Costello's surrender at 9:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow. The judge was expected to decide on both the government and Costello applications later today.

Rhee Is Winner By Big Majority

Pusan, Korea, Aug. 7 (AP)—Aging President Syngman Rhee was swept back into office by an overwhelming majority in nearly complete unofficial returns from the republic of Korea's first direct election of chief executives.

Rhee's choice for vice president—Ham Tai Yung, a little known Presbyterian minister—piled up a commanding lead over eight opponents in late returns from Tuesday's election.

The 77-year-old Rhee puttered in the garden of his palatial presidential residence in Seoul as the vote count, gathered over police communication channels, assured his return to office for four years.

Declines to Pose

He declined to make a statement or pose for photographs. His secretary beamed, "Mr. Rhee is very happy over the outcome."

The inauguration is set for Aug. 15—fourth anniversary of the republic—and probably will be held in Seoul's war-damaged capitol.

Returns from 161 of 163 counting places gave Rhee 4,969,299 votes to 762,772 for Cho Bong Am, vice chairman of the National Assembly and former Communist leader; 748,945 for Lee Shi Yung, former vice president, and 241,489 for Hugh Cynn, former ambassador to Japan.

Returns from 140 counting places gave Ham 2,158,529 votes. His closest opponents were Lee Bum Suk with 1,454,024 and Chough Pyung Ok with 505,255.

Official returns are to be announced Aug. 13.

Barge Gets Face-Lifting

San Pedro, Calif. (AP)—A former fish barge has had a recent face-lifting—it's now half a pirate ship. The barge was remodeled by Vin Taylor, set dresser, and D. Steele, lighting technician, for use in marine films. Fishermen who have delivered catches of albacore to the barge wouldn't recognize the vessel, Taylor said. Its freezer house is now a replica of a ship's bridge, complete with wheel, mast, shrouds and ratlines.

Barge Gets Face-Lifting

San Pedro, Calif. (AP)—A former fish barge has had a recent face-lifting—it's now half a pirate ship. The barge was remodeled by Vin Taylor, set dresser, and D. Steele, lighting technician, for use in marine films. Fishermen who have delivered catches of albacore to the barge wouldn't recognize the vessel, Taylor said. Its freezer house is now a replica of a ship's bridge, complete with wheel, mast, shrouds and ratlines.

NOW, TIDE ACTUALLY WASHES WHITER THAN ANY BLEACH CAN BLEACH!

New TIDE miracle! No more need to bleach—except for stubborn stains!

YES! New laboratory tests prove that Tide actually washes clothes whiter than any bleach can bleach them! Just put your clothes in Tide's gentle, so-safe suds . . . and they will come out whiter than they'd be if you'd soaked them long hours in strongest bleach! No bleach known can match Tide's amazing whitening action!

SO SAFE TO USE! Yes, safe. With all its whitening action, Tide is really safe for everything that's washable . . . the most delicate fabrics, the daintiest colors. Why, after just one wash, Tide actually brightens soap-dulled colors!

CLEANER CLOTHES, TOO! And, of course, when you rinse out a Tide wash, you've got cleaner clothes than you will get with any soap of any kind! That's right! No soap known will get out so much grimy dirt, yet leave clothes so free of dulling film. Get Tide today! Remember, no other washday product—bleach, soap, or "detergent," will give you a whiter, cleaner wash than Tide!

TIDE is MILDER for hands than any other leading "detergent"!

Tide has a wonderful new mildness—so kind, so gentle to your hands. Why, not even the mildest leading "detergents" made especially for dishwashing are so easy on your hands as Tide.

SO THRIFTY, TOO! Such a little Tide makes such oceans of rich, long-lasting suds . . . goes so far in hardest water, it's a miracle of economy.

'Expensive' Coffee

Danver, Mass. (AP)—A store which not-too-modestly admits to having sold the most expensive cups of coffee in the world is a highlight of this town's 200th anniversary. The drug store in which three armored truck guards sipped coffee while their truck was looted last March has hung a huge counterpart of a coffee cup in front, inscribed: "The Home of the $681,000 Cup of Coffee."

River Deposits Sand

St. Joseph, Mo. (AP)—A layer of sand 2 to 6 feet deep covers an estimated 500 acres of rich Missouri bottom land in the wake of the recent Missouri River flood. The "sand dune" was formed when the raging river topped and cut levees on either side of Rock Creek.

Bethlehem Steel Completes Terms With Union Leaders

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Co. last night became the second major company to complete final contract terms with the CIO United Steelworkers.

The announcement was made jointly by Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers Union, and J. M. Larkin, Bethlehem's vice president in charge of industrial and public relations.

The agreement will run until June 30, 1954, with a wage reopening clause effective June 30, 1953.

Preceding Bethlehem in signing final agreements were Inland Steel, one of the top steel producers, and Wheeling Steel a smaller firm.

No Specification Given

The statement did not specify what the Bethlehem contract contains on the union shop, major demand of the steelworkers. But the nationwide settlement reportedly called for a modified version of the union shop, under which new workers must join but can withdraw from the union and old employes may remain non-union.

The national basic settlement provided an overall hourly wage increase of about 21 cents.

The Bethlehem pact calls for a wage increase of at least 12½ cents an hour with higher boosts for higher job classifications, and averages out to an estimated 16½ cents an hour. The statement did not specify the terms reached on fringe pay issues.

Previous wage scales in the industry averaged about $1.88 an hour.

Mormons Open Pageant On Cumorah, Palmyra

Palmyra, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—The Mormon pageant depicting the history and founding of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints opens its annual three-night stand tonight on Hill Cumorah, just south of this central New York village.

The pageant usually attracts more than 100,000 people.

Mormon belief holds that Joseph Smith, founder of the church more than a century ago, discovered on Hill Cumorah the golden tablets on which was written the history of this continent's earliest inhabitants. These inhabitants were one of the wandering tribes of Israelites who migrated to America and the American Indians were among their descendents, according to the Mormon faith.

From the tablets, Smith wrote the Book of Mormon which, with the Bible, makes up the sacred works of the church.

Smith, who said he was directed to the hill by a vision of the Angel Moroni, subsequently was killed by mob violence at Nauvoo, Ill., during the Mormons' westward trek.

Mexican Cattle Expected

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today about 500,000 head of cattle are expected to come into this country from Mexico in the first 12 months after Sept. 1, if the border re-opens then as scheduled after being closed for about five years as a result of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

'Expensive' Coffee

Danver, Mass. (AP)—A store which not-too-modestly admits to having sold the most expensive cups of coffee in the world is a highlight of this town's 200th anniversary. The drug store in which three armored truck guards sipped coffee while their truck was looted last March has hung a huge counterpart of a coffee cup in front, inscribed: "The Home of the $681,000 Cup of Coffee."

River Deposits Sand

St. Joseph, Mo. (AP)—A layer of sand 2 to 6 feet deep covers an estimated 500 acres of rich Missouri bottom land in the wake of the recent Missouri River flood. The "sand dune" was formed when the raging river topped and cut levees on either side of Rock Creek.

Bethlehem Steel Completes Terms With Union Leaders

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Co. last night became the second major company to complete final contract terms with the CIO United Steelworkers.

The announcement was made jointly by Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the Steelworkers Union, and J. M. Larkin, Bethlehem's vice president in charge of industrial and public relations.

The agreement will run until June 30, 1954, with a wage reopening clause effective June 30, 1953.

Preceding Bethlehem in signing final agreements were Inland Steel, one of the top steel producers, and Wheeling Steel a smaller firm.

No Specification Given

The statement did not specify what the Bethlehem contract contains on the union shop, major demand of the steelworkers. But the nationwide settlement reportedly called for a modified version of the union shop, under which new workers must join but can withdraw from the union and old employes may remain non-union.

The national basic settlement provided an overall hourly wage increase of about 21 cents.

The Bethlehem pact calls for a wage increase of at least 12½ cents an hour with higher boosts for higher job classifications, and averages out to an estimated 16½ cents an hour. The statement did not specify the terms reached on fringe pay issues.

Previous wage scales in the industry averaged about $1.88 an hour.

Mexican Cattle Expected

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today about 500,000 head of cattle are expected to come into this country from Mexico in the first 12 months after Sept. 1, if the border re-opens then as scheduled after being closed for about five years as a result of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

Mormons Open Pageant On Cumorah, Palmyra

Palmyra, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—The Mormon pageant depicting the history and founding of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints opens its annual three-night stand tonight on Hill Cumorah, just south of this central New York village.

The pageant usually attracts more than 100,000 people.

Mormon belief holds that Joseph Smith, founder of the church more than a century ago, discovered on Hill Cumorah the golden tablets on which was written the history of this continent's earliest inhabitants. These inhabitants were one of the wandering tribes of Israelites who migrated to America and the American Indians were among their descendents, according to the Mormon faith.

From the tablets, Smith wrote the Book of Mormon which, with the Bible, makes up the sacred works of the church.

Smith, who said he was directed to the hill by a vision of the Angel Moroni, subsequently was killed by mob violence at Nauvoo, Ill., during the Mormons' westward trek.

'GET-OUT-THE-VOTE' CAMPAIGN

An outfit called The American Heritage Foundation comes along with an old idea which looks good and some new figures which look bad.

The old idea is that people lucky enough to live in a country where they can vote should do it.

The new figures—new to us, at least—are comparisons of the number of people who vote here and in other countries, and the figures make us look pretty bad.

In 1948, for instance, only 51 per cent of the people in this country eligible to vote did so. But in 1948 in Italy 89 per cent of the eligibles voted.

In England last year the figure was 83 per cent. The year before in Belgium it was 90 per cent. In Canada, 75 per cent of the eligibles voted in 1949. In Sweden last year it was 80 per cent.

Furthermore, our voting record has been getting worse for about the last three-quarters of a century. In 1880, for instance, 78.4 per cent of the eligibles in this country voted. It had dropped to 73.5 per cent in 1900. When women voted for the first time in 1920 it dropped to what must have been an all-time low of 49.3 per cent.

Of the approximately 95 million persons eligible to vote in the United States in 1948, only about 60 million even bothered to register. And 48,680,416 actually went to the polls.

What accounts for this poor performance? The Foundation lists what it believes are the reasons. For one thing, too many people think their "one little old vote" can't make any difference one way or the other.

Some are hopeless, because they think things are so bad, and others are indifferent, because they feel things are going well enough.

Some don't vote because they're confused by too many complex issues.

Others are uninterested because they believe the issues aren't sharply enough defined.

Still others are too busy with daily affairs that seem more important than voting.

The Foundation is out to lick these things, and it seems off to a good start. It has some 50 non-partisan organizations enrolled in a get-out-the-vote campaign for November, and it hopes to get others.

The present ones include the American Legion, the Daughters of the American Revolution, Jewish War Veterans, U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis International, and National Retail Dry Goods Association.

On its board of trustees, as officers and members, are such men as Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the board of Inland Steel, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The Heritage Foundation has an elaborate and detailed program all set to get rolling, and it has no axe to grind except to get out the biggest vote possible. You can't find much quarrel with an outfit that says, "We don't care which way you vote, just so you get out and vote."

As a matter of fact, that strikes us as a pretty fair-minded and public spirited approach.

We are not nearly so concerned with the grass roots that politicians refer to so frequently as we are about the grass blades that need cutting on our lawn.

Russia predicts that its athletes will sweep the Olympic Games. Probably because the United States neglected to equip its teams with brooms.

More than half of all the trucks in the world are found in the United States—usually, it seems, in the steep hills along the country highways.

There is probably nothing so bothersome as a husband getting home late for dinner—unless it is a dinner late for a husband getting home.

THE IMMIGRATION LAW

Few acts of Congres have been as violently attacked as Public Law 414, passed by the 82nd Congress, vetoed by the President and passed over his veto. This is a codification of all existing laws on the subject of immigration, naturalization and nationality, to which the Congress added some features. The law runs 120 pages of fine print, which means that few will read it, although many will speak about it.

The principal responsibile objection to Public Law 414 is that it shows preference for Western European immigrants and discriminates against Eastern and Southern European immigrants and Asiatics. This is undoubtedly true. The quota system has prevailed since 1921 and remains in effect.

No one can gainsay the right of a state to place limitations upon immigration. Nor can the right of a country to determine what kind of immigrants it prefers be gainsaid. There may be vast differences of opinion on this subject but in our country, the final decision has to be made by Congress. An absolutely free immigration, without any restrictions at all, is not even thinkable in the United States at the present time. The difficulty of setting limitations are enormous and no system devised can be satisfactory. The quota system is as good or as bad as any other.

The present law adopted the general principles of the McCarran Act and excludes persons for being Communists. The provisions on this subject are long and detailed. There is too much to quote; however, this paragraph is definitive:

"(c) Aliens who are members of or affiliated with (i) the Communist Party of the United States, (ii) any other totalitarian party of the United States, (iii) the Communist Political Association, (iv) the Communist or any other totalitarian party of any state of the United States, of any foreign state, or of any political or geographical subdivision of any foreign state, (v) any section, subsidiary, branch, affiliate, or subdivision of any such association or party, or (vi) the direct predecessors or successors of any such association or party, regardless of what name such group or organization may have used, may now bear, or may hereafter adopt: Provided, that nothing in this paragraph, or in any other provision of this Act, shall be construed as declaring that the Communist Party does not advocate the otherthrow of the Government of the United States by force, violence, or other unconstitutional means. . . ."

The definition of terms runs seven paragraphs of the law, but it goes a step further. It provides a loophole for those who once were Communists and have since ceased to be. But to avoid the subterfuge of mere declaration of anti-Communism, the law defines, in effect, an ex-Communist as follows:

". . . since the termination of such membership or affiliation, such alien is and has been, for at least five years prior to the date of the application for a visa, actively opposed to the doctrine, program, principles, and ideology of such party or organization or the section, subsidiary, branch, or affiliate or subdivision thereof, and (B) the admission of such alien into the United States would be in the public interest. . . ."

In a word, an ex-Communist has to establish his bonafides or his presence in this country must be worthwhile for the United States, as, for instance, if he were an atomic scientist.

As so many American citizens are of European origin and as many of them are sentimentally attached to the countries of their ancestry, the immigration problem of this country is different from most other countries.

Those who advocate the quota system base their theories on the historic fact that the human basis for the American civilization has been essentially Western European, that is, British, Scotch, Irish, French, Dutch, German and Scandinavian.

Those who oppose the quota system point to the undeniable fact that in the late 19th century and the 20th century, the character of our immigration changed, with emphasis on Southern and Eastern Europe. They further take the position that the quota system places discriminatory limitations on Roman Catholics and Jews.

In spite of the correctness of both positions, the fact remains that if a quota system is to be used at all, it is bound to be discriminatory against some group. The Anglo-Saxon philosophic and social basis for this country cannot be denied and a consensus of American opinion would favor such preference under the quota system.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

INFLAMMATION OF LINING OF HEART

Because there have always been many drugs with which to treat various diseases, some of which are consideerd specific, or especially capable of curing, controlling or preventing death from a certain disease, many of us may be forgetting that within the body itself there are tissues and fluids which are able, in the majority of cases, to ward off certain special diseases and kill the organisms of this disease. These defenses of the body against disease are called host defenses or host factors.

There is one specific disease, bacterial endocarditis — inflammation of the lining of the heart caused by tiny organisms—which has always proved fatal. I have written before of a schoolmate who called me up some years ago, told me his son was stricken with this disease, that his family doctor had called in a heart specialist and they both gave him no hope. He wondered if, as a friend, I could suggest anything, I could only tell him that his family physician and the heart specialist had used our best-known treatment and that I had nothing to suggest. The boy died a few days later.

Fortunately, since that time there have been new drugs discovered which are almost specific for bacterial endocarditis and many of these lives (as high as 80 per cent) are now saved.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Mortimer Bader, Richard Bader, and Charles K. Friedberg, First Medical Service, Mount Sinai Hospital, New York state that, while the recovery rate of patients with subacute bacterial endocarditis has increased progressively, death from incomplete removal of the infection or from complications of the disease still occurs in 20 to 30 per cent of the patients. The aim of all research physicians is to prevent death in every case, when the disease is properly diagnosed, and the special curative treatment has been used. Thus, a case where death occurred, despite the use of two of the usual specific drugs—penicillin and aureomycin—in the regulation dosage, is considered worthy of the attention of all members of the medical profession.

It was found that this death occurred from congestive failure, despite three courses of treatment that seemed effective during each period of observation. The patient had been admitted to hospital on three occasions.

Why did this patient die despite the proper or specific treatment for this disease?

The factor responsible for this death was failure to have the patient's ailment recognized until heart was so badly damaged that the special curative drugs were not effective. Early treatment saves lives.

Full Speed Ahead!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Word has been passed inside the Chelf Committee that the investigation of the Justice Department is to be quietly tapered off. Chief reason: Pressure from certain big distillers who have contributed to both parties in the past.

Already three committee investigators have been given notice and orders are out to start writing the final report. Republican members are expected to object, but some of them may not be too vigorous, because the liquor companies have also been generous to the GOP.

The Chelf committee was set up as a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee for the special purpose of probing the Justice Department. Congressman Frank Chelf, its chairman, appeared anxious to do a good job. However, Chelf, who comes from Kentucky where bourbon is sometimes said to be king, has not called his committee together since Seagrams admitted paying $30,000 in cash to ex-Attorney General Howard McGrath on behalf of the Democrats, and $20,000 to Harold Talbot on behalf of the Republicans.

Various heavy contributions were admitted by other liquor companies, together with the claim that an antitrust suit against them was dropped.

Note — The Chelf Committee will meet in August to probe the law firm of Peyton Ford and Herbert Bergson, two former Justice Department officials, and then plans quietly to fold its tent. Actually the operations of the Ford-Bergson firm are not important compared to some of the other things left untouched.

Rewarding the Bureaucrats

During the war, Nelson Rockefeller, who did such a god job improving our good-neighbor relations with Latin America, once remarked to me:

"When I first came to Washington I had the idea that I could bring in private business executives and reform the government overnight. However, I've been here about a year, and the longer I'm here, the more respect I have for the average government servant.

"Running the government," Rockefeller added, "is a lot harder than operating private business. You can't fire a congressman who cuts your appropriations. And you have to do business with senators whether you like them or not.

"In addition, I have found that the average government servant is very conscientious — some of them remarkably effcient."

That statement, coming from the son of one of the biggest businessmen in the nation, may cause surprise. However, Nelson's brother, John D. Rockefeller 3d, has followed it up this week with hard cash.

He has put up a quarter of a million dollars through Princeton University to give an award each year to the 10 or so most deserving "bureaucrats." As a reward for their service to the government, they are to be given free educational travel or study for about six months.

Enbalmed Evita Peron

Dictator Peron's plan to have his wife embalmed to lie in state permanently is a shrewd move to continue the hold he had, through his wife, on Argentine organized labor and the unorganized Argentine poor.

Keeping their support, yet at the same time winning back Peron's greatest original source of strength, the military, is his real problem.

Peron came in power through the army. But when his wife took over the Labor Ministry and as her unique power over the underprivileged increased, the military became restless and rebellious.

It was because of Evita's "undue prominence" that military disaffection reached a climax last summer and some army units revolted. While the attempt failed, distrust remained, and it took the secret police at least five months to catch even the secondary figures in the revolution. The No. 1 revolutionary still remains unknown to Peron.

Now that he is alone, Peron has been making overtures to the army. He wants to win back his old military friends. But the problem is to do this without alienating labor.

That is why Peron sent to Hamburg, Germany, to obtain the best embalming experts of Europe to preserve the remains of the ex-cabaret entertainer as a permanent shrine like that of Lenin in Moscow.

Washington Pipeline

Juan Trippe, head of Pan American Airways, slipped into England last week for secret negotiations to buy British commercial jet planes. However, the British have so many advance orders that Pan American won't be able to buy any for some time . . . . The Communist party is so discouraged by the strong hand of the major political parties against communism that orders have gone out to all party members to affiliate with right-wing political groups, trade unions, and civic clubs, in order to bore from within. Party members were also instructed to place more people inside the Republican party . . . The American Military Mission in Iran has cabled the Pentagon that it does not expect to get kicked out of the country. The American Mission is on good terms with the powerful Iranian army . . . The government will soon remove all price controls from shoes — including baby shoes and work shoes which are in short supply and bound to shoot upwards when the ceilings are removed . . . Congratulations to Great Britain for setting up new Marshall scholarships enabling 12 American students to study each year at British universities. The program is to say "Thank You" for the Marshall plan aid and is another step forward to the important goal of people-to-people friendship.

Communist Propaganda

The Italian Communist newspaper Unita has distorted some remarks of mine to make it appear that the American ambassador in Rome, Ellsworth Dunker, was cosying up to the new Fascist leader, Marshal Graziani, and cooling off on Premier De Gasperi.

Not only did I not say this, but nothing could be further from the truth. De Gasperi rates ace high with the ambassador, with the State Department, and with the White House. I have known him personally, and regard him as one of the most courageous leaders of western Europe.

Unfortunately, both the Communists and Fascists to some extent are playing ball with each other in Italy, and the latter, especially, are trying to give the impression that U. S. officials are in their corner.

Lapses in U. S. Justice Department Are Traced to Report on Non-Red Oath

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 7—From one end of the country to the other the newspapers published a few days ago dispatches implying that the Senate subcommittee on labor had issued a report favoring the abolition of the non-Communist affidavits for labor-union officers which are required by existing law.

But a close examination of the document reveals that the Senate subcommittee itself hasn't made any such recommendation and that the proposal is embodied in an official-looking document entitled "staff report" which, in very small type at the bottom of one of the introductory pages, reveals the fact that it is the work of one individual—Jack Barbash, who is referred to as "staff director of the subcommittee on labor."

Mr. Barbash approaches the subject of non-Communist affidavits from the standpoint of convenience of procedure in the National Labor Relations Board. He says that the filing of these affidavits is an obstacle to speedy handling of routine. He then writes this amazing statement.

"It must be candidly recognized that at this stage, the non-Communist affidavit is serving no practical purpose. Well-known Communist party liners have no difficulty in signing affidavits that they are not Communists."

What's the matter with the Department of Justice? Can a man make a false oath if he is an officer of a labor union and escape prosecution? If the National Labor Relations Board members have knowledge that any one who signs an oath saying he isn't a Communist is really a Communist, then it is their duty to turn the facts over to the United States attorneys and the Federal Grand Juries wherever the union officers reside. The "staff" report adds:

"Whatever else may be attributed to the anti-Communist affidavit, it has not prevented unions controlled by followers of the Communist party line from using the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board."

Who is responsible for this? The purpose of the non-Communist affidavit was to bring about full diclosure and then action. If the National Labor Relations Board is ignoring the facts and is not taking cognizance of the frauds being perpetrated against it, then some other agency of the government—presumably the Department of Justice—is obligated to find out how "union controlled by followers of the Communist party" are conspiring to violate the laws of the United States. For a union to set up dummy officers who do not actually administer the affairs of those unions is to invite prosecution in much the same way as anybody who controls a corporation can be punished if, in laws requiring disclosure of true ownership or control, for example, there is any evasion practiced.

The "staff report" says that "a labor-saving approach to the problem of barring the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board to unions with Communist officers is to amend the law to waive the affidavit requirement for those labor organizations that certify that their constitution or by-laws bar Communists as defined, from holding any office in the organization, the waiver to be effective so long as this constitution remains and is enforced. This proposal is not offered as a certain way of dealing with the problem of Communist-dominated labor unions. The proposal does purport to be a way of maintaining at least as much control over the use of board procedures by Communists as there is now, and at the same time cutting down on the cumbersome clerical tasks imposed on the board and on the overwhelming number of unions free from Communist influence."

If a union doesn't have Communist officers, it shouldn't take but a minute or two for the officers to sign and file the proper affidavits. Since unions resent the one-sided requirement, the law can be amended to provide that employers as well as individual employes are not members of the Communist party or any organization which has for its object the overthrow of the American form of government by violence.

The value of the non-Communist affidavit is that it permits the government to catch up with perjurers and other conspirators. To leave it to the unions to enforce would subject them to suits for slander or libel and threats by Communists which they could not meet as well as the Department of Justice can, though the "staff report" would seem to indicate that the department is asleep because numerous affidavits apparently are signed with false oaths. It is a charge of incompetence against the department which the "staff report" of the Senate subcommittee on labor unwittingly brings to public attention.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In view of the reiterated charge that persons exposed as fellow-travelers are victims of a "smear" by ruthless, reactionary character-assassins, I should like to refer to some forgotten background information.

In his book entitled "Labor Lawyer," published in 1944, Louis Waldman, who has had a long career in left-wing politics in New York, but never as a Communist, wrote:

"Herbert H. Lehman said on Oct. 29, 1941:

"'The mayor, (Fiorello La Guardia) not only in this campaign but for a long time in his capacity as chief executive of this city, has abused and vilified everyone who opposed or criticized him. Thief, double-crosser, crook, bum, are among his milder epithets.

"'The people have heard a lot of the mayor's abuse and a few even seek to excuse it on the ground that it is merely an eccentricity. But the mayor's practice of abusing his opponents in both private and public life is not an eccentricity but a deliberate technique to intimidate those who oppose him. Unfortunately, most people are afraid to stand up to the mayor. They have no desire to compete with him in intemperate abuse and so they have permitted themselves to be intimidated into silence.'"

This was Lehman's opinion of a man whose mind and tongue were so filthy that these very evils protected him from exposure. Jim Farley once thought of revealing La Guardia's character to a stag gathering and went prepared with a text quoting him literally. But it was so obscene that Jim couldn't bring himself to repeat the mayor's expressions.

La Guardia was a political parasite, hopping from party to party as the opportunities for success beckoned, but always a rascal and always in the New Deal fold even in his Republican guise.

As to this particular campaign, Mr. Waldman wrote that it was "the most obscene I have ever witnessed."

"La Guardia," he said, "the mayor of our largest city, director of the Office of Civilian Defense for the country by appointment of President Roosevelt, made quick peace with the Communists and their friends," after Hitler attacked Stalin. Up to that point, La Guardia had followed the Roosevelt Line of Aid to Britain while his old Red comrades in the American Labor party had damned this line as "imperialism."

"He took Mike Quill, Joe Curran, Marcantonio and the rest of the discredited camarilla into the same camp with the reluctant Republican party, the right wing of the American Labor party and the Social Democrats."

Waldman became chairman of a committee for the election of the Democratic nominee Bill O'Dwyer, since discredited in the odorous underworld investigations. And, Waldman said, La Guardia's "popular front" sent forth "hatchet-men" to whisper rumors that O'Dwyer was the candidate of the Nazis, the Fascists and the anti-Semites.

"The smear worked," Waldman continued. "From the moment that it received widespread circulation, the campaign for O'Dwyer was over. His defeat followed.

"This unprecedented campaign of character assassination and abuse left a reservoir of suspicion, hatred, prejudice and fear among scores of thousands of New York voters. New York has become a haven for peddlers of hate who set religion against religion and race against race."

Lehman, so sensitive to the evil of La Guardia's method, is nevertheless a member of that political faith which has been guilty of shielding Communists, of giving them key positions in the government and of smearing as "smear artists" all who expose this treasonous penetration Joe McCarthy has exposed the guilt of Lehman's political party and therefore has been smeared by the party which brought the smear to its highest development.

I published some months ago excerpts from a disgraceful political advertisement in the New York Post, probably the only New York daily, except the outright Communist papers, which would have fouled its pages with such a text. It warned the large Jewish population of New York against pogroms to ensue if Ferdinand Pecora should be elected mayor.

There were many sponsors listed below this shocking appeal to hatred but the most important, as it turned out, was Herman Hoffman, a member of Isidore Lipschutz's private spying organization called the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League. This thing kept itself alive by keeping alive a fear among Jews that their neighbors are only waiting for a chance to do them in.

The text that Hoffman's name was subscribed to was the more vicious because Ferd Pecora, depicted in vague, inferential terms as a Hitler yearning to hold massacres in New York, is absolutely innocent of any evidence of animus against any element of the population because of religion or race in a long and honorable career.

Nevertheless, soon after Vincent Impellitteri was elected over Pecora, Hoffman was appointed to a job on the municipal bench for

'GET-OUT-THE-VOTE' CAMPAIGN

An outfit called The American Heritage Foundation comes along with an old idea which looks good and some new figures which look bad.

The old idea is that people lucky enough to live in a country where they can vote should do it.

The new figures—new to us, at least—are comparisons of the number of people who vote here and in other countries, and the figures make us look pretty bad.

In 1948, for instance, only 51 per cent of the people in this country eligible to vote did so. But in 1948 in Italy 89 per cent of the eligibles voted.

In England last year the figure was 83 per cent. The year before in Belgium it was 90 per cent. In Canada, 75 per cent of the eligibles voted in 1949. In Sweden last year it was 80 per cent.

Furthermore, our voting record has been getting worse for about the last three-quarters of a century. In 1880, for instance, 78.4 per cent of the eligibles in this country voted. It had dropped to 73.5 per cent in 1900. When women voted for the first time in 1920 it dropped to what must have been an all-time low of 49.3 per cent.

Of the approximately 95 million persons eligible to vote in the United States in 1948, only about 60 million even bothered to register. And 48,680,416 actually went to the polls.

What accounts for this poor performance? The Foundation lists what it believes are the reasons. For one thing, too many people think their "one little old vote" can't make any difference one way or the other.

Some are hopeless, because they think things are so bad, and others are indifferent, because they feel things are going well enough.

Some don't vote because they're confused by too many complex issues.

Others are uninterested because they believe the issues aren't sharply enough defined.

Still others are too busy with daily affairs that seem more important than voting.

The Foundation is out to lick these things, and it seems off to a good start. It has some 50 non-partisan organizations enrolled in a get-out-the-vote campaign for November, and it hopes to get others.

The present ones include the American Legion, the Daughters of the American Revolution, Jewish War Veterans, U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis International, and National Retail Dry Goods Association.

On its board of trustees, as officers and members, are such men as Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the board of Inland Steel, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The Heritage Foundation has an elaborate and detailed program all set to get rolling, and it has no axe to grind except to get out the biggest vote possible. You can't find much quarrel with an outfit that says, "We don't care which way you vote, just so you get out and vote."

As a matter of fact, that strikes us as a pretty fair-minded and public spirited approach.

We are not nearly so concerned with the grass roots that politicians refer to so frequently as we are about the grass blades that need cutting on our lawn.

Russia predicts that its athletes will sweep the Olympic Games. Probably because the United States neglected to equip its teams with brooms.

More than half of all the trucks in the world are found in the United States—usually, it seems, in the steep hills along the country highways.

There is probably nothing so bothersome as a husband getting home late for dinner—unless it is a dinner late for a husband getting home.

THE IMMIGRATION LAW

Few acts of Congres have been as violently attacked as Public Law 414, passed by the 82nd Congress, vetoed by the President and passed over his veto. This is a codification of all existing laws on the subject of immigration, naturalization and nationality, to which the Congress added some features. The law runs 120 pages of fine print, which means that few will read it, although many will speak about it.

The principal responsibile objection to Public Law 414 is that it shows preference for Western European immigrants and discriminates against Eastern and Southern European immigrants and Asiatics. This is undoubtedly true. The quota system has prevailed since 1921 and remains in effect.

No one can gainsay the right of a state to place limitations upon immigration. Nor can the right of a country to determine what kind of immigrants it prefers be gainsaid. There may be vast differences of opinion on this subject but in our country, the final decision has to be made by Congress. An absolutely free immigration, without any restrictions at all, is not even thinkable in the United States at the present time. The difficulty of setting limitations are enormous and no system devised can be satisfactory. The quota system is as good or as bad as any other.

The present law adopted the general principles of the McCarran Act and excludes persons for being Communists. The provisions on this subject are long and detailed. There is too much to quote; however, this paragraph is definitive:

"(c) Aliens who are members of or affiliated with (i) the Communist Party of the United States, (ii) any other totalitarian party of the United States, (iii) the Communist Political Association, (iv) the Communist or any other totalitarian party of any state of the United States, of any foreign state, or of any political or geographical subdivision of any foreign state, (v) any section, subsidiary, branch, affiliate, or subdivision of any such association or party, or (vi) the direct predecessors or successors of any such association or party, regardless of what name such group or organization may have used, may now bear, or may hereafter adopt: Provided, that nothing in this paragraph, or in any other provision of this Act, shall be construed as declaring that the Communist Party does not advocate the otherthrow of the Government of the United States by force, violence, or other unconstitutional means. . . ."

The definition of terms runs seven paragraphs of the law, but it goes a step further. It provides a loophole for those who once were Communists and have since ceased to be. But to avoid the subterfuge of mere declaration of anti-Communism, the law defines, in effect, an ex-Communist as follows:

". . . since the termination of such membership or affiliation, such alien is and has been, for at least five years prior to the date of the application for a visa, actively opposed to the doctrine, program, principles, and ideology of such party or organization or the section, subsidiary, branch, or affiliate or subdivision thereof, and (B) the admission of such alien into the United States would be in the public interest. . . ."

In a word, an ex-Communist has to establish his bonafides or his presence in this country must be worthwhile for the United States, as, for instance, if he were an atomic scientist.

As so many American citizens are of European origin and as many of them are sentimentally attached to the countries of their ancestry, the immigration problem of this country is different from most other countries.

Those who advocate the quota system base their theories on the historic fact that the human basis for the American civilization has been essentially Western European, that is, British, Scotch, Irish, French, Dutch, German and Scandinavian.

Those who oppose the quota system point to the undeniable fact that in the late 19th century and the 20th century, the character of our immigration changed, with emphasis on Southern and Eastern Europe. They further take the position that the quota system places discriminatory limitations on Roman Catholics and Jews.

In spite of the correctness of both positions, the fact remains that if a quota system is to be used at all, it is bound to be discriminatory against some group. The Anglo-Saxon philosophic and social basis for this country cannot be denied and a consensus of American opinion would favor such preference under the quota system.

That Body of Yours

INFLAMMATION OF LINING OF HEART

Because there have always been many drugs with which to treat various diseases, some of which are consideerd specific, or especially capable of curing, controlling or preventing death from a certain disease, many of us may be forgetting that within the body itself there are tissues and fluids which are able, in the majority of cases, to ward off certain special diseases and kill the organisms of this disease. These defenses of the body against disease are called host defenses or host factors.

There is one specific disease, bacterial endocarditis — inflammation of the lining of the heart caused by tiny organisms—which has always proved fatal. I have written before of a schoolmate who called me up some years ago, told me his son was stricken with this disease, that his family doctor had called in a heart specialist and they both gave him no hope. He wondered if, as a friend, I could suggest anything, I could only tell him that his family physician and the heart specialist had used our best-known treatment and that I had nothing to suggest. The boy died a few days later.

Fortunately, since that time there have been new drugs discovered which are almost specific for bacterial endocarditis and many of these lives (as high as 80 per cent) are now saved.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Mortimer Bader, Richard Bader, and Charles K. Friedberg, First Medical Service, Mount Sinai Hospital, New York state that, while the recovery rate of patients with subacute bacterial endocarditis has increased progressively, death from incomplete removal of the infection or from complications of the disease still occurs in 20 to 30 per cent of the patients. The aim of all research physicians is to prevent death in every case, when the disease is properly diagnosed, and the special curative treatment has been used. Thus, a case where death occurred, despite the use of two of the usual specific drugs—penicillin and aureomycin—in the regulation dosage, is considered worthy of the attention of all members of the medical profession.

It was found that this death occurred from congestive failure, despite three courses of treatment that seemed effective during each period of observation. The patient had been admitted to hospital on three occasions.

Why did this patient die despite the proper or specific treatment for this disease?

The factor responsible for this death was failure to have the patient's ailment recognized until heart was so badly damaged that the special curative drugs were not effective. Early treatment saves lives.

Full Speed Ahead!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Word has been passed inside the Chelf Committee that the investigation of the Justice Department is to be quietly tapered off. Chief reason: Pressure from certain big distillers who have contributed to both parties in the past.

Already three committee investigators have been given notice and orders are out to start writing the final report. Republican members are expected to object, but some of them may not be too vigorous, because the liquor companies have also been generous to the GOP.

The Chelf committee was set up as a subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee for the special purpose of probing the Justice Department. Congressman Frank Chelf, its chairman, appeared anxious to do a good job. However, Chelf, who comes from Kentucky where bourbon is sometimes said to be king, has not called his committee together since Seagrams admitted paying $30,000 in cash to ex-Attorney General Howard McGrath on behalf of the Democrats, and $20,000 to Harold Talbot on behalf of the Republicans.

Various heavy contributions were admitted by other liquor companies, together with the claim that an antitrust suit against them was dropped.

Note — The Chelf Committee will meet in August to probe the law firm of Peyton Ford and Herbert Bergson, two former Justice Department officials, and then plans quietly to fold its tent. Actually the operations of the Ford-Bergson firm are not important compared to some of the other things left untouched.

Rewarding the Bureaucrats

During the war, Nelson Rockefeller, who did such a god job improving our good-neighbor relations with Latin America, once remarked to me:

"When I first came to Washington I had the idea that I could bring in private business executives and reform the government overnight. However, I've been here about a year, and the longer I'm here, the more respect I have for the average government servant.

"Running the government," Rockefeller added, "is a lot harder than operating private business. You can't fire a congressman who cuts your appropriations. And you have to do business with senators whether you like them or not.

"In addition, I have found that the average government servant is very conscientious — some of them remarkably effcient."

That statement, coming from the son of one of the biggest businessmen in the nation, may cause surprise. However, Nelson's brother, John D. Rockefeller 3d, has followed it up this week with hard cash.

He has put up a quarter of a million dollars through Princeton University to give an award each year to the 10 or so most deserving "bureaucrats." As a reward for their service to the government, they are to be given free educational travel or study for about six months.

Enbalmed Evita Peron

Dictator Peron's plan to have his wife embalmed to lie in state permanently is a shrewd move to continue the hold he had, through his wife, on Argentine organized labor and the unorganized Argentine poor.

Keeping their support, yet at the same time winning back Peron's greatest original source of strength, the military, is his real problem.

Peron came in power through the army. But when his wife took over the Labor Ministry and as her unique power over the underprivileged increased, the military became restless and rebellious.

It was because of Evita's "undue prominence" that military disaffection reached a climax last summer and some army units revolted. While the attempt failed, distrust remained, and it took the secret police at least five months to catch even the secondary figures in the revolution. The No. 1 revolutionary still remains unknown to Peron.

Now that he is alone, Peron has been making overtures to the army. He wants to win back his old military friends. But the problem is to do this without alienating labor.

That is why Peron sent to Hamburg, Germany, to obtain the best embalming experts of Europe to preserve the remains of the ex-cabaret entertainer as a permanent shrine like that of Lenin in Moscow.

Lapses in U. S. Justice Department Are Traced to Report on Non-Red Oath

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 7—From one end of the country to the other the newspapers published a few days ago dispatches implying that the Senate subcommittee on labor had issued a report favoring the abolition of the non-Communist affidavits for labor-union officers which are required by existing law.

But a close examination of the document reveals that the Senate subcommittee itself hasn't made any such recommendation and that the proposal is embodied in an official-looking document entitled "staff report" which, in very small type at the bottom of one of the introductory pages, reveals the fact that it is the work of one individual—Jack Barbash, who is referred to as "staff director of the subcommittee on labor."

The proposal does purport to be a way of maintaining at least as much control over the use of board procedures by Communists as there is now, and at the same time cutting down on the cumbersome clerical tasks imposed on the board and on the overwhelming number of unions free from Communist influence."

If a union doesn't have Communist officers, it shouldn't take but a minute or two for the officers to sign and file the proper affidavits. Since unions resent the one-sided requirement, the law can be amended to provide that employers as well as individual employes are not members of the Communist party or any organization which has for its object the overthrow of the American form of government by violence.

The value of the non-Communist affidavit is that it permits the government to catch up with perjurers and other conspirators. To leave it to the unions to enforce would subject them to suits for slander or libel and threats by Communists which they could not meet as well as the Department of Justice can, though the "staff report" would seem to indicate that the department is asleep because numerous affidavits apparently are signed with false oaths. It is a charge of incompetence against the department which the "staff report" of the Senate subcommittee on labor unwittingly brings to public attention.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In view of the reiterated charge that persons exposed as fellow-travelers are victims of a "smear" by ruthless, reactionary character-assassins, I should like to refer to some forgotten background information.

In his book entitled "Labor Lawyer," published in 1944, Louis Waldman, who has had a long career in left-wing politics in New York, but never as a Communist, wrote:

"Herbert H. Lehman said on Oct. 29, 1941:

"'The mayor, (Fiorello La Guardia) not only in this campaign but for a long time in his capacity as chief executive of this city, has abused and vilified everyone who opposed or criticized him. Thief, double-crosser, crook, bum, are among his milder epithets.

"'The people have heard a lot of the mayor's abuse and a few even seek to excuse it on the ground that it is merely an eccentricity. But the mayor's practice of abusing his opponents in both private and public life is not an eccentricity but a deliberate technique to intimidate those who oppose him. Unfortunately, most people are afraid to stand up to the mayor. They have no desire to compete with him in intemperate abuse and so they have permitted themselves to be intimidated into silence.'"

This was Lehman's opinion of a man whose mind and tongue were so filthy that these very evils protected him from exposure. Jim Farley once thought of revealing La Guardia's character to a stag gathering and went prepared with a text quoting him literally. But it was so obscene that Jim couldn't bring himself to repeat the mayor's expressions.

La Guardia was a political parasite, hopping from party to party as the opportunities for success beckoned, but always a rascal and always in the New Deal fold even in his Republican guise.

As to this particular campaign, Mr. Waldman wrote that it was "the most obscene I have ever witnessed."

"La Guardia," he said, "the mayor of our largest city, director of the Office of Civilian Defense for the country by appointment of President Roosevelt, made quick peace with the Communists and their friends," after Hitler attacked Stalin. Up to that point, La Guardia had followed the Roosevelt Line of Aid to Britain while his old Red comrades in the American Labor party had damned this line as "imperialism."

"He took Mike Quill, Joe Curran, Marcantonio and the rest of the discredited camarilla into the same camp with the reluctant Republican party, the right wing of the American Labor party and the Social Democrats."

Waldman became chairman of a committee for the election of the Democratic nominee Bill O'Dwyer, since discredited in the odorous underworld investigations. And, Waldman said, La Guardia's "popular front" sent forth "hatchet-men" to whisper rumors that O'Dwyer was the candidate of the Nazis, the Fascists and the anti-Semites.

"The smear worked," Waldman continued. "From the moment that it received widespread circulation, the campaign for O'Dwyer was over. His defeat followed.

"This unprecedented campaign of character assassination and abuse left a reservoir of suspicion, hatred, prejudice and fear among scores of thousands of New York voters. New York has become a haven for peddlers of hate who set religion against religion and race against race."

Lehman, so sensitive to the evil of La Guardia's method, is nevertheless a member of that political faith which has been guilty of shielding Communists, of giving them key positions in the government and of smearing as "smear artists" all who expose this treasonous penetration Joe McCarthy has exposed the guilt of Lehman's political party and therefore has been smeared by the party which brought the smear to its highest development.

I published some months ago excerpts from a disgraceful political advertisement in the New York Post, probably the only New York daily, except the outright Communist papers, which would have fouled its pages with such a text. It warned the large Jewish population of New York against pogroms to ensue if Ferdinand Pecora should be elected mayor.

There were many sponsors listed below this shocking appeal to hatred but the most important, as it turned out, was Herman Hoffman, a member of Isidore Lipschutz's private spying organization called the non-sectarian Anti-Nazi League. This thing kept itself alive by keeping alive a fear among Jews that their neighbors are only waiting for a chance to do them in.

The text that Hoffman's name was subscribed to was the more vicious because Ferd Pecora, depicted in vague, inferential terms as a Hitler yearning to hold massacres in New York, is absolutely innocent of any evidence of animus against any element of the population because of religion or race in a long and honorable career.

Nevertheless, soon after Vincent Impellitteri was elected over Pecora, Hoffman was appointed to a job on the municipal bench for

Court Rules Hotel Get Liquor License

Grand Hotel in Tannersville today received its summer liquor license by direction of the Appellate Division, which held in a decision yesterday that the action of the State Liquor Authority in denying the license was "arbitrary and capricious."

Emanuel Petrakakis, sole owner and proprietor of the hotel, brought action in the courts to review the State Liquor Authority's ruling in disapproving his application for a summer license on May 29. Attorneys Frank Campochiaro and Clyde F. Gardner of Gardner of Saugerties represented Petrakakis.

ABC Calls It Risk

Disapproval of the application by the Liquor Authority was on the grounds that the applicant's prior record of law observance would present a "high degree of risk" in the administration and enforcement of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law.

In asking that the authority's determination be reviewed by the courts, Petrakakis pointed out that the facts cited by the authority consisted of an incident which occurred 12 years ago when Petrakakis, a partner in a licensed establishment, was not on the premises.

Bookstein Upheld

Proceedings commenced by Petrakakis under Article 78 of the Civil Practice Act were heard at Supreme Court Special Term, Part 1, in Albany county before Justice Isadore Bookstein on June 27. By decision on July 15, Justice Bookstein annulled the determination of the liquor authoroity and made an order on July 18 directing the authority to issue the license.

This decision was appealed to the Appellate Division, Third Department, by the State Liquor Authority, and issuance of the license was automatically stayed pending the appeal.

Since the summer license, if issued, would expire on Sept. 30, Justice Foster, presiding, convened the Appellate Division on August 6 specially to hear the arguments in the appeal, so that the case could be determined before the issues involved became "moot and academic." The Appellate Division unanimously upheld Justice Bookstein's earlier decision and affirmed his order to issue the license.

U. S. Air Base Opposed

Tokyo (AP)—The U. S. Air Force is going to use an air base near Nara and the citizens of that ancient city of temples don't like it. The newspaper Asahi says the citizens fear for the safety of this cradle of Japanese art and culture should war come again to Japan. Horyuji Temple, one of the most treasured of Japanese national relics, is 5 miles from the proposed base. Both Nara and Kyoto, another shrine city, were spared by U. S. bombers during the war.

Will Hold Exams For Two Positions

An examination for the position of local water works superintendent will be held Sept. 27, the Municipal Civil Service Commission announced today.

The position is now being filled on a temporary basis by Edmund T. Cloonan, who had served with the city engineer's department for many years.

Cloonan was appointed to succeed John J. Byrne, who resigned to take a similar position at Haverstraw.

The commission also announced that an examination will be held on the same date for the position of medical stenographer with the City of Kingston Laboratory.

Passengers Are Unhurt

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—An inbound Capital Airlines plane from Pittsburgh ran off a runway at La Guardia Field early today, but none of the 20 passengers was injured. The accident occurred, police said, when the four-engine DC-4 veered from the main runway to a side ramp and "bogged down."

Revolving around the nucleus of an atom are a number of particles called electrons, each with a negative charge.

Kantrowitz Named Alamar Captain

Martin Kantrowitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis W. Kantrowitz of this city, has been chosen captain of the Red team for the traditional "Color War Week" at Camp Alamar, located on top of Stormville Mountain.

During the week, the entire camp membership is divided into two groups—the Red team and the Green team. More than 300 campers will participate in a week-long program including every form of athletic contest as well as associated camp pursuits. The team that earns the greatest number of points will be declared Color War Victors.

Two captains are chosen, one for each team. The honor customarily is given the two best all-around athletes in the camp.

Martin's sister, Phyllis, also attends Camp Alamar and three times in the past years has been chosen as best all-around camper in her class.

Freedom of the seas is merely a popular term without definite meaning in international law. In a general way, however, it is the converse of command or sovereignity of the seas and is applied to the principle that all nations have equal rights on the high seas at all times. In 1850, when Spain had a stronger navy than England, Queen Elizabeth wrote to the Spanish ambassador: "The use of the sea and air is common to all; neither can a title to the ocean belong to any people or private persons, forasmuch as neither nature nor public use and custom permit any possession thereof."

Freedom of the seas is merely a popular term without definite meaning in international law. In a general way, however, it is the converse of command or sovereignity of the seas and is applied to the principle that all nations have equal rights on the high seas at all times. In 1850, when Spain had a stronger navy than England, Queen Elizabeth wrote to the Spanish ambassador: "The use of the sea and air is common to all; neither can a title to the ocean belong to any people or private persons, forasmuch as neither nature nor public use and custom permit any possession thereof."

The book canvasser knocked at the door of Mr. Jones' house.

Mrs. Jones (firmly) — Nothing today.

Salesman—But, madam, I have something here that is bound to interest you. "The Husband's Friend, or Five Hundred Reasons for Staying Out Late."

Mrs. Jones (angrily) — What makes you think that book would interest me?

Salesman—Well, I sold a copy to your husband on his way to the station this morning.

Informed she had inherited $100,000 worth of rich Oklahoma oil land, a 75-year-old Choctaw Indian said she was satisfied with her thatched-roof cabin on a river near Wynne, Ark. "And we're not going to buy an automobile," she said. "My rowboat is good enough for me."

May you live all the days of your life.—Swift.

Sue — How about a diamond bracelet?

Sam — My dear, extenuating circumstances perforce me to exclude you from a bauble of extravagance.

Sue—I don't get it.

Sam—That's just what I said.

Three August Days Hit 90 and Above

Three of these seven August days have had temperatures of 90 and above, but the hot weather has not been record-breaking to date.

The city engineer's weather records showed 90 degrees on Aug. 3, 91 on the 4th and 92 on the 5th, but this is almost cool compared to the record-breaking 1949 weather when the mercury hit 104 on August 9 and 10 and 102 on the 11th.

July, 1949 had 21 days with temperatures of 90 and above, and on several of these days the mercury went 100 and above. June in that year also had days of 100 and above.

Last month equalled 1949 in the duration, but not in top temperatures. It had 21 days with temperatures of 90 and above, but the warm spell did not extend into August as intensely as that of three years ago. The low to date this month was Aug. 1 when the city engineer's office recorded 61 degrees.

The average temperature last month was 79 degrees and that in July, 1949 was 80.2. The rainfall to date this month was .43 of an inch. The July total was above four inches.

The temperature today at 10 a. m., was 73 degrees with no indication that the mercury would reach as high as 90 during the afternoon.

Traffic Maintained In Italian Strike

Rome, Aug. 7 (AP)—Army engineers and non-Communist workers took the throttles of crack passenger trains in Italy today to maintain a trickle of traffic through a Communist-called 24-hour nationwide railroad strike.

The walkout started at midnight. By midday unofficial reports said only 239 of the regular 6,000 trains were moving over Italy's state-owned, 13,500-mile rail network. Non-Communist unions, who refused to join the strike, were manning the trains.

Just how many army engineers were pressed into service could not be determined.

The Reds called the strike in a dispute over classification of union members on the railroad central committees. The non-Communist unions termed the walkout "a show of strength for evident political motives."

Two Believed Dead In Crash of Bomber

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 7 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force bomber plunged into the Rhine river at Mainz today with four crewmen aboard. Two jumped from the plummeting craft before it struck the water and escaped with serious injuries. The other two are missing and believed drowned.

The twin-engined B-26—based at Wiesbaden—apparently was on a training flight when one of its engines caught fire. Witnesses said the flaming craft hit about 200 yards from the Rhine Bridge, which spans the river at Mainz. It barely missed a big barge.

The two crewmen who jumped were hauled out and taken to a French military hospital in Mainz.

A U. S. navy diver attempted to find the bodies of the two still missing.

Hickey's Story on City Is Flavorful Narrative

The Story of Kingston, by Andrew S. Hickey, Capt. U. S. Navy (Retired), a 233-page book published by Stratford House, is now on sale at local bookstores.

The book, in its attractive blue-green binding, is written in an exciting narrative form. It brings the history of Kingston effectively up-to-date, since the last complete history of the city, written by Marius Schoonmaker, was published as long ago as 1888. The book is dedicated to the memory of Caryl Crawford Hickey.

Capt. Hickey, who spent two years in research, one in actual writing and approximately six months in proofing and revising, said that he had thoroughly enjoyed writing the book, a statement borne out by its flavor and enthusiasm.

Hickey states in the preface that "accuracy has been the basis of The Story of Kingston . . ." and re-emphasized the point in a telephone conversation when he said that "dates have been verified two, three or four times from documents."

Tells About Half Moon

In the first chapter, entitled Henry Hudson and His River, Hickey describes the trip of the Half Moon up the river. The great adventure began Sept. 14, 1609, and day by day, Hickey says, Indians along the river watched the progress of the "great white canoe."

He describes what he terms Hudson's "weakness of character" which became "more and more apparent in the management of his buccaneering, insubordinate crew."

He states that Hudson passed the "City of our Story" on September 16 on his way up the river and again about September 28 on his way down. Hickey says that it is possible Hudson landed just north of Kingston Point but that "it would be advisable to accept a more conservative viewpoint that he 'was ashore in Ulster county.'"

From the exciting adventure of the first chapter the reader is led into a general description of Ulster county, its terrain, soil, climate, geological structure, etc., presenting briefly the setting in which the dramatic events of over three centuries were to unfold.

Hickey describes the pioneer settlements, pointing out that there was a "historically authenticated story that the Mayflower intended to enter the Hudson river but after reaching Massachusetts Bay a meeting was held aboard and it was decided to remain. Why the plan was changed is not known."

Picture of Chambers

Thomas Chambers, a "red-headed Englishman, sometimes said to be Irish," was deeded 72 acres of land by the Esopus Indians June 5, 1652, and other purchases were made in later years.

Chambers, one of the most interesting of the early settlers, is described by Hickey as "long and lean, a carpenter by trade, and a leader among men of the colony that Stuyvesant said was 'only gradually and slowly peopled by the scrapings of all sorts of nationalities (few excepted) who consequently have the least interest in the welfare and maintenance of the Commonwealth'."

Hickey details the long series of troubles between the settlers and Indians culminating in the building of the stockade. He points out that the differences might have been resolved "had the Dutch restricted the amount of rum furnished the Indians."

The stockade, at first laid out by Stuyvesant who "stumped over the site he selected on June 1, 1658," the village measured less than half a mile in circumference and was enclosed with palisades. There was space for 40 houses, with exits "evidently in the north and east stockades." The size of the stockade was increased several times as the village grew.

"More serious complications began to develop than those with the Esopus Indians," however, intelligence having been received that the English were inciting the Indians to continue their fight against the Dutch "with English help. As the English would not promise immediate action, the Indians decided to make friends with the Dutch and sign a treaty of peace, for they agreed, 'It is better we make peace with the Dutch, the English are only fooling us.'"

Holland Loses Out

After half a century Holland lost the colony, due primarily to failure of the Dutch West India Company to protect it.

Hickey treats the economic developments of the city briefly from its earliest period. In 1852 the telegraph came to Kingston, was installed in Winter Brothers store on the Strand and in 1878, two years after Bell invented the telephone, two were installed in the drug stores of the Van Deusen Brothers, one at 161 E. Strand and the other at 6 Wall street.

Pitch, pine knot and candles gave way to whale oil, kerosene, gas and, finally, electricity. The Rondout and Kingston Gas Light Company commenced making gas in 1856 and the first building to have it installed was the Mansion House, a hotel in Rondout. The first electric arc light was installed near the turn of the century from city hall across Broadway to the John O'Reilly property called O'Reilly's Woods.

Hickey points out that in Ulster county there are 5,051 wage earners receiving an average of $4,253,000 in yearly wages, producing manufactured goods valued at $9,453,000. The number of wage earners in the city, he states, is 2,895 earning $2,284,000 yearly and producing $4,764,000 in manufactured articles.

Most employes in Kingston are women, Hickey writes, pointing out that there are a number of women's and children's wear and shirt and pajama factories. At present, he says, there are five shipyards equipped to build seagoing ships and barges. Local shipyards were active in both world wars.

Political Complection

In tracing the political activities of the settlement, Hickey states that from 1664 to 1673 Esopus had Dutch and English governments, the most important village had three names and each time the people had to adjust themselves to new conditions. "With the changes in the laws and customs and the polyglot language spoken, the magistrates and the other authorities had their hands, full. Mixtures of Dutch English, French, Swedish, German languages, Indian signs and dialects, were used for many years."

Hickey states, "The inhabitants must have been in a state bordering on hysteria. Had there been psychiatrists in that era they would have had a 'field day.'"

Two of the earliest volunteer fire companies were the Cornell Hose Company and the Wiltwyck Hose Company, Hickey writes. They provided their own parade uniforms, assisted to some extent by their own sponsors and public-spirited citizens, while the fire-fighting equipment was a concern of the village.

"Cornell Hose members wore wine colored frock coats with brass buttons, fawn colored trousers and caps with the name Cornell in purple, when dressed for competition or a parade."

Good Fire Protection

The modern fire department was organized in 1848 and hand engines were provided by the village.

At present, Hickey writes, there are 48 paid firemen, headed by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy. "Kingston is indeed fortunate in having one of the best fire departments of any city of its size in the nation. Its equipment is up-to-date and is assisted by approximately 500 volunteers who have proved their efficiency and devotion . . . Fire insurance rates are among the lowest in the state of New York class A."

Hickey also traces the evolution of the police department from the Watch of the Dutch times and, later, the election of constables, to the modern department headed by Chief Raymond Van Buren. He points to the fact that Kingston is the gateway to the Catskills and summer traffic heavy but that it was handled "quietly and efficiently by the traffic officers and patrolmen, to the amazement and satisfaction of the citizens who are fortunate in having their police department under a most competent chief of police and his loyal staff of officers."

Family Life

Hickey paints an attractive picture of the daily life of the family which "commenced at dawn in the spring and summer when the horns of the cow herders awakened the village. Then arose from the low flat chimneys the light gray smoke blown up by the bellows that stirred up the embers 'banked' during the night. After a fat breakfast, washed down by buttermilk or good beer, the 'suppawn' was followed by mineheer lighting up his long pipe of native tobacco. Then the work of the day began and, depending upon his occupation, he traded in farm products or worked in the fields, opened his small store for business, operated his windmill, or sometimes went fishing.

"The Dutch 'huysvrouw,' meanwhile having finished her daily chores, attended the children and sent the older ones off to school, commenced her endless, monotonous knitting, without which the family could hardly have been clothed. She could not go to the nearest store to buy her yarn as we do today, but made it from sheep's wool after 'washing, cleaning, dyeing, carding, greasing, rolling, spinning, winding and rinsing,' before she could knit. For recreation she had her well kept garden surrounded by aromatic herbs for medicines and cooking, and well stocked with the flowers she adored. She managed the flocks of wassling geese and 'homelike' poultry, and if she had bond servants or grownup daughters, supervised the making of butter and cheese; otherwise she did it herself.

"At the end of the day the burgher met with his cronies and perhaps a passing traveller or the captain of a river schooner in the 'market house' to smoke his pipe and 'talk over the weighty affairs of the colony.' Now and then in the summertime he and his wife visited among the neighbors for 'klappernye' (chit-chat) and gathered around the well-laden table to enjoy again the plentiful supply of 'suppawn' and milk on the pewter platters. The glow of the chimney place was the signal to 'turn in' and the warming pan was filled with hot coals to 'thrust warily between the ice-cold sheets of the children's beds.' An occasional visitor always was welcomed at the supper with a glass of rum or schnaps, or even a glass of mulled wine. Before bedtime the burning brands in the fireplace were covered with ashes. Then at the sound of the 'tap-toes' from the fort, and the watchman's cry that all was well, the family departed to a well earned rest."

Kingston is a "Joiner City," Hickey writes, "if one is to judge by the number of social, fraternal, welfare and other similar organizations which reach a total of more than 150. The only one that is lacking is a Community Chest. A chest would have been organized long ago, no doubt, except that certain well known national organizations refuse to cooperate in local community chests. The project has been tried in Kingston, but for various reasons did not succeed."

Kingston's Part in Wars

Hickey has included interesting sections on artistic, cultural and minor arts, law and social problems and reform.

"The earth's crust had hardly cooled before wars began . . ." Hickey writes, tracing the history of war as it affected Kingston, beginning with the earliest troubles with the Indians. He points out that Ulster county had thousands of men in the 20th and 120th New York Regiments in the Civil War and that 1,567 Kingston men and women served in World War 1, less than three per cent of whom were killed. More than 12,000 men and women from the county served in the second World War, of whom 4,945 were from Kingston, Hickey says. Of these, 117 in Kingston and Ulster county lost their lives.

The history concludes with a brief chapter on the 300th anniversary celebration and the visit of Queen Juliana.

Hickey was born in Kingston and graduated from the Kingston Academy and the US Naval Academy. He served on various ships in both world wars and when on shore duty spent considerable time in official capacity at US embassies in Europe, Central America and Mexico. He retired with the rank of captain.

He was in charge of the island of Martinique when it surrendered to the Allies. In 1930 he was vice president of the Nicaragua national board of elections. He has also served with the US Navy in China, Japan, Port Arthur and Southeast Asia.

Sheriff Seeks Man

able to locate LaVallee, however.

Police later learned that Jones and LaVallee had been rowing across the creek between Abeel street and the Callanan dock when the small boat capsized. LaVallee began swimming toward the stone docks, and Jones, who reportedly was unable to swim, clung to the boat.

Others Hear Call

Two men aboard the barge, Margaret Feeney, also heard Capt. LaVallee's call for help. They went to the McManus Tavern at 577 Abeel street, from where John McManus, the proprietor, summoned aid from the sheriff's office at 10:55 p. m.

Night Jailor Wesley O'Brien dispatched deputies to the location, and also notified the city police.

Another call was received by the sheriff's office from James Johnson, night watchman at Callanan's Road Improvement Company, at 11:20 p. m.

Deputy Chester A. Wolven, dispatched on the first call, was joined by O'Brien, Deputies Sapp, Eisele, Newkirk, Investigator A. H. Brown, and Deputy Arthur B. Smith. Investigation for the city police was conducted by Patrolmen Thomas Hanley and Harold DeGraff.

A heavy fog forced authorities to suspend grappling operations early this morning, but they were resumed shortly after 9 a. m.

Hickey says that it is possible Hudson landed just north of Kingston Point but that "it would be advisable to accept a more conservative viewpoint that he 'was ashore in Ulster county.'"

From the exciting adventure of the first chapter the reader is led into a general description of Ulster county, its terrain, soil, climate, geological structure, etc., presenting briefly the setting in which the dramatic events of over three centuries were to unfold.

Hickey describes the pioneer settlements, pointing out that there was a "historically authenticated story that the Mayflower intended to enter the Hudson river but after reaching Massachusetts Bay a meeting was held aboard and it was decided to remain. Why the plan was changed is not known."

Picture of Chambers

Thomas Chambers, a "red-headed Englishman, sometimes said to be Irish," was deeded 72 acres of land by the Esopus Indians June 5, 1652, and other purchases were made in later years.

Chambers, one of the most interesting of the early settlers, is described by Hickey as "long and lean, a carpenter by trade, and a leader among men of the colony that Stuyvesant said was 'only gradually and slowly peopled by the scrapings of all sorts of nationalities (few excepted) who consequently have the least interest in the welfare and maintenance of the Commonwealth'."

Hickey details the long series of troubles between the settlers and Indians culminating in the building of the stockade. He points out that the differences might have been resolved "had the Dutch restricted the amount of rum furnished the Indians."

The stockade, at first laid out by Stuyvesant who "stumped over the site he selected on June 1, 1658," the village measured less than half a mile in circumference and was enclosed with palisades. There was space for 40 houses, with exits "evidently in the north and east stockades." The size of the stockade was increased several times as the village grew.

"More serious complications began to develop than those with the Esopus Indians," however, intelligence having been received that the English were inciting the Indians to continue their fight against the Dutch "with English help. As the English would not promise immediate action, the Indians decided to make friends with the Dutch and sign a treaty of peace, for they agreed, 'It is better we make peace with the Dutch, the English are only fooling us.'"

Holland Loses Out

After half a century Holland lost the colony, due primarily to failure of the Dutch West India Company to protect it.

Hickey treats the economic developments of the city briefly from its earliest period. In 1852 the telegraph came to Kingston, was installed in Winter Brothers store on the Strand and in 1878, two years after Bell invented the telephone, two were installed in the Drug stores of the Van Deusen Brothers, one at 161 E. Strand and the other at 6 Wall street.

Pitch, pine knot and candles gave way to whale oil, kerosene, gas and, finally, electricity. The Rondout and Kingston Gas Light Company commenced making gas in 1856 and the first building to have it installed was the Mansion House, a hotel in Rondout. The first electric arc light was installed near the turn of the century from city hall across Broadway to the John O'Reilly property called O'Reilly's Woods.

Hickey points out that in Ulster county there are 5,051 wage earners receiving an average of $4,253,000 in yearly wages, producing manufactured goods valued at $9,453,000. The number of wage earners in the city, he states, is 2,895 earning $2,284,000 yearly and producing $4,764,000 in manufactured articles.

Most employes in Kingston are women, Hickey writes, pointing out that there are a number of women's and children's wear and shirt and pajama factories. At present, he says, there are five shipyards equipped to build seagoing ships and barges. Local shipyards were active in both world wars.

Political Complection

In tracing the political activities of the settlement, Hickey states that from 1664 to 1673 Esopus had Dutch and English governments, the most important village had three names and each time the people had to adjust themselves to new conditions. "With the changes in the laws and customs and the polyglot language spoken, the magistrates and the other authorities had their hands, full. Mixtures of Dutch English, French, Swedish, German languages, Indian signs and dialects, were used for many years."

Hickey states, "The inhabitants must have been in a state bordering on hysteria. Had there been psychiatrists in that era they would have had a 'field day.'"

Two of the earliest volunteer fire companies were the Cornell Hose Company and the Wiltwyck Hose Company, Hickey writes. They provided their own parade uniforms, assisted to some extent by their own sponsors and public-spirited citizens, while the fire-fighting equipment was a concern of the village.

"Cornell Hose members wore wine colored frock coats with brass buttons, fawn colored trousers and caps with the name Cornell in purple, when dressed for competition or a parade."

Good Fire Protection

The modern fire department was organized in 1848 and hand engines were provided by the village.

At present, Hickey writes, there are 48 paid firemen, headed by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy. "Kingston is indeed fortunate in having one of the best fire departments of any city of its size in the nation. Its equipment is up-to-date and is assisted by approximately 500 volunteers who have proved their efficiency and devotion . . . Fire insurance rates are among the lowest in the state of New York class A."

Hickey also traces the evolution of the police department from the Watch of the Dutch times and, later, the election of constables, to the modern department headed by Chief Raymond Van Buren. He points to the fact that Kingston is the gateway to the Catskills and summer traffic heavy but that it was handled "quietly and efficiently by the traffic officers and patrolmen, to the amazement and satisfaction of the citizens who are fortunate in having their police department under a most competent chief of police and his loyal staff of officers."

Family Life

Hickey paints an attractive picture of the daily life of the family which "commenced at dawn in the spring and summer when the horns of the cow herders awakened the village. Then arose from the low flat chimneys the light gray smoke blown up by the bellows that stirred up the embers 'banked' during the night. After a fat breakfast, washed down by buttermilk or good beer, the 'suppawn' was followed by mineheer lighting up his long pipe of native tobacco. Then the work of the day began and, depending upon his occupation, he traded in farm products or worked in the fields, opened his small store for business, operated his windmill, or sometimes went fishing.

"The Dutch 'huysvrouw,' meanwhile having finished her daily chores, attended the children and sent the older ones off to school, commenced her endless, monotonous knitting, without which the family could hardly have been clothed. She could not go to the nearest store to buy her yarn as we do today, but made it from sheep's wool after 'washing, cleaning, dyeing, carding, greasing, rolling, spinning, winding and rinsing,' before she could knit. For recreation she had her well kept garden surrounded by aromatic herbs for medicines and cooking, and well stocked with the flowers she adored. She managed the flocks of wassling geese and 'homelike' poultry, and if she had bond servants or grownup daughters, supervised the making of butter and cheese; otherwise she did it herself.

"At the end of the day the burgher met with his cronies and perhaps a passing traveller or the captain of a river schooner in the 'market house' to smoke his pipe and 'talk over the weighty affairs of the colony.' Now and then in the summertime he and his wife visited among the neighbors for 'klappernye' (chit-chat) and gathered around the well-laden table to enjoy again the plentiful supply of 'suppawn' and milk on the pewter platters. The glow of the chimney place was the signal to 'turn in' and the warming pan was filled with hot coals to 'thrust warily between the ice-cold sheets of the children's beds.' An occasional visitor always was welcomed at the supper with a glass of rum or schnaps, or even a glass of mulled wine. Before bedtime the burning brands in the fireplace were covered with ashes. Then at the sound of the 'tap-toes' from the fort, and the watchman's cry that all was well, the family departed to a well earned rest."

Kingston is a "Joiner City," Hickey writes, "if one is to judge by the number of social, fraternal, welfare and other similar organizations which reach a total of more than 150. The only one that is lacking is a Community Chest. A chest would have been organized long ago, no doubt, except that certain well known national organizations refuse to cooperate in local community chests. The project has been tried in Kingston, but for various reasons did not succeed."

Kingston's Part in Wars

Hickey has included interesting sections on artistic, cultural and minor arts, law and social problems and reform.

"The earth's crust had hardly cooled before wars began . . ." Hickey writes, tracing the history of war as it affected Kingston, beginning with the earliest troubles with the Indians. He points out that Ulster county had thousands of men in the 20th and 120th New York Regiments in the Civil War and that 1,567 Kingston men and women served in World War 1, less than three per cent of whom were killed. More than 12,000 men and women from the county served in the second World War, of whom 4,945 were from Kingston, Hickey says. Of these, 117 in Kingston and Ulster county lost their lives.

The history concludes with a brief chapter on the 300th anniversary celebration and the visit of Queen Juliana.

Hickey was born in Kingston and graduated from the Kingston Academy and the US Naval Academy. He served on various ships in both world wars and when on shore duty spent considerable time in official capacity at US embassies in Europe, Central America and Mexico. He retired with the rank of captain.

He was in charge of the island of Martinique when it surrendered to the Allies. In 1930 he was vice president of the Nicaragua national board of elections. He has also served with the US Navy in China, Japan, Port Arthur and Southeast Asia.

able to locate LaVallee, however.

Police later learned that Jones and LaVallee had been rowing across the creek between Abeel street and the Callanan dock when the small boat capsized. LaVallee began swimming toward the stone docks, and Jones, who reportedly was unable to swim, clung to the boat.

Others Hear Call

Two men aboard the barge, Margaret Feeney, also heard Capt. LaVallee's call for help. They went to the McManus Tavern at 577 Abeel street, from where John McManus, the proprietor, summoned aid from the sheriff's office at 10:55 p. m.

Night Jailor Wesley O'Brien dispatched deputies to the location, and also notified the city police.

Another call was received by the sheriff's office from James Johnson, night watchman at Callanan's Road Improvement Company, at 11:20 p. m.

Deputy Chester A. Wolven, dispatched on the first call, was joined by O'Brien, Deputies Sapp, Eisele, Newkirk, Investigator A. H. Brown, and Deputy Arthur B. Smith. Investigation for the city police was conducted by Patrolmen Thomas Hanley and Harold DeGraff.

A heavy fog forced authorities to suspend grappling operations early this morning, but they were resumed shortly after 9 a. m.

Goldman's Style Shop Is Moving To Main Street

Goldman's Style Shop, after 30 years in its present location, 24 Broadway, is moving to 1 Main street, it was announced today by Bernard Goldman.

Goldman said that the move uptown had been under consideration for a number of years. The modern new store, which will be located at the corner of Main street and Clinton avenue, will be open to the public Tuesday, Sept. 2.

"We intend to have a completely modern store," Goldman said, and to serve the public as we have for the past 31 years, paying special attention to individual needs."

Goldman pointed out that the new store would have more display space and more room and that very likely stock would be increased. Goldman's carries a complete high quality line of ladies ready-to-wear, coats, coat suits, furs, dresses, gowns, bridal gowns, millinery, blouses, skirts and related items.

"We are moving uptown in order to better serve our clientele," Goldman explained. "The largest percentage has always been from the uptown area."

The store was founded in 1920 by Isadore Goldman, father of the present manager, who is still actively associated with the buisiness. Its initial location was at 16-18 Mill street where it remained for approximately a year and a half before moving to 24 Broadway.

The present structure at 24 Broadway has been remodelled twice. In 1933 a new front was installed and the interior completely redone. Bernard Goldman, who served in the meteorological section, U. S. Army Air Force, during World War 2, took over management in 1930.

Hill Is Seized

Fiercely charging Chinese troops backed by heavy artillery fire seized rugged Capitol Hill about 5 a. m., after losing about 200 dead and wounded. But soldiers of the South Korean First Regiment swept back up the rugged slopes. UN artillerymen and warplanes helped keep the Communists at bay.

The see-saw battles for Capitol Hill were fought in sweltering heat. Wednesday was the hottest day of the year—106 degrees—at some places on the front.

The Eighth Army briefing officer said another South Korean unit pushed back a Chinese platoon trying to grab an advance post to the southwest of Capitol's main knob in eight hours of hard fighting today.

Action was reported light on the eastern and western fronts.

The report also said that draft calls, now running about 30,000 a month, will jump over 50,000 in October and stay that way until June 30, 1953.

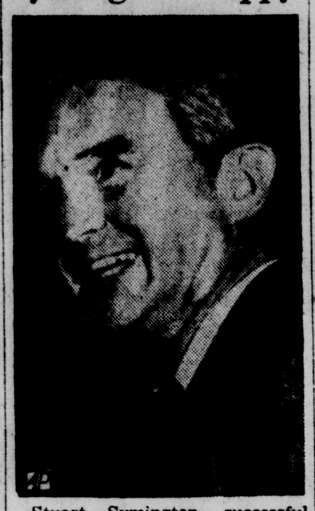
Symington Happy



Stuart Symington, successful candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, wears a big smile in St. Louis after returns from Missouri's primary gave him a sweeping victory. He defeated State Attorney General J. E. Taylor, President Truman's candidate, by a surprising 2 to 1 margin. (AP Wirephoto).

As Pegler Sees It

which, as this advertisement showed, he is morally unfit.

Waldman knows the score. He laid it on the line that during his second term as mayor, La Guardia gave the Communists the run of the town, invading the elementary and high schools and colleges with cells in every teaching group and imposing their will on unorganized and unsuspecting majorities. That is no smear. That is truth.

The same type of campaign that was used in the effort to discredit McCarthy has been waged against Senator Pat McCarran, of Nevada, for two reasons. First, McCarran is chairman of the Senate sub-committee which brought off a major expose of the State Department and other fronts, supplementing the work of the House anti-Communist committee in many important phases. And second, he was co-author of a long and complex revision of the immigration laws which pays special attention to the infiltration of treacherous Communists in the pathetic guise of innocent refugees from wanton persecution.

Lehman did nothing to help the House committee, McCarthy or the McCarran committee in their anti-Communist work. His niece, Mrs. Benjamin (Helen) Buttenwieser, and her husband gave asylum to Alger Hiss after he had been convicted of perjury with implications of treason, and the Buttenwiesers took Hiss into their home during his appeal.

Buttenwieser was sent to Germany as principal assistant to John McCloy, the then American high commissioner and pooh-bah. During my inquiries in Germany last winter, I heard from well-informed Americans the opinion that Buttenwieser was the actual boss and McCloy the assistant. McCloy's chief assistant at that time absolutely refused to discuss the matter. McCloy himself was away.

Now these persons are not Herbert Lehman but if this be "smear by association," a familiar phrase from the jargon of pro-Communist Democrats, the facts themselves are responsible for any impression that is painful to anyone concerned. There is no distortion or manipulation of the facts. No fact is disputed.

On the other side, as Lehman long ago said of La Guardia, the abuse of opponents is a deliberate technique to intimidate those who have fought F.D.R., Eleanor Roosevelt and the Communists spread throughout the vast Washington government, the municipal government of New York, the movies and radio, and our magazines.

Increased Social Security Benefits For 2,900 Here

George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security office, submits another article on the provisions of the Social Security Act:

About 2,900 people in Ulster county will receive higher social security payments beginning early in October as a result of the social security amendments which President Truman signed into law last month.

The Social Security Administration is already changing the amounts, and we expect to get them changed in time to have them in the mail October 3, the regular delivery date, but if in a few cases we don't meet that schedule we'll send the regular check and make up the difference in a later check.

I wish to point out that although nearly every family receiving payments would receive an increase, the additional amount would not always be divided among all the members of the family receiving monthly checks. In some cases the entire increase will go to the retired worker.

Amount of the increase for a retired worker will range from $5 to $8.60, with the average about $6. Where several members of a family are receiving payments, the total increase to the family can be as much as $18.90. A few benefits now being paid, and most of those payable in the future, will be based on earnings after 1950 instead of after 1936. The amended law provides a new formula for determining the amount of the payments in these cases. Under it, a retired worker's monthly benefit would be 55% of the first $100 of his average monthly earnings plus 15% of the remainder up to $300.

Beginning September 1, the new law increased to $75 a month instead of $50 the amount of money a beneficiary may earn and still receive the monthly benefits. Self-employed people entitled to old-age and survivors insurance benefits may receive the payments for each month of the year if their net earnings during the entire year are not over $900.

The amended law contains a provision of special importance to self-employed people who have retired or plan to retire during 1952. Before the passage of the amendments their earnings for the year in which an application was made could not be used to figure their old-age benefit payments. Now, those self-employed people who originally applied for benefits in 1952 may re-apply at the close of the taxable year and have their 1952 earnings used in figuring their monthly benefit payments. In general, this will increase the monthly benefit payment to self-employed persons.

A similar change in the law now permits insured wage earners who retire in 1952 to have their wages for this year used immediately in figuring the amount of their benefit payments. Heretofore, it was necessary for them to come back after the end of the year in order to have all of their covered wages for 1952 included in the computation of the benefit amount.

Another amendment allows beneficiaries aged 75 or over, already on the rolls, to take advantage of the higher benefit payments provided under the new formula, if they have had at least a year and a half of covered work after 1950.

We wish to make it clear to all our readers that the increased benefits for individuals who are at present on the benefit rolls do not have to be applied for.

The Kingston office of the Social Security Administration, servicing all of Ulster county, is located in Room 206, Central Post Office Bldg., Broadway.

Increased Social Security Benefits For 2,900 Here

George J. Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security office, submits another article on the provisions of the Social Security Act:

About 2,900 people in Ulster county will receive higher social security payments beginning early in October as a result of the social security amendments which President Truman signed into law last month.

The Social Security Administration is already changing the amounts, and we expect to get them changed in time to have them in the mail October 3, the regular delivery date, but if in a few cases we don't meet that schedule we'll send the regular check and make up the difference in a later check.

I wish to point out that although nearly every family receiving payments would receive an increase, the additional amount would not always be divided among all the members of the family receiving monthly checks. In some cases the entire increase will go to the retired worker.

Amount of the increase for a retired worker will range from $5 to $8.60, with the average about $6. Where several members of a family are receiving payments, the total increase to the family can be as much as $18.90. A few benefits now being paid, and most of those payable in the future, will be based on earnings after 1950 instead of after 1936. The amended law provides a new formula for determining the amount of the payments in these cases. Under it, a retired worker's monthly benefit would be 55% of the first $100 of his average monthly earnings plus 15% of the remainder up to $300.

Beginning September 1, the new law increased to $75 a month instead of $50 the amount of money a beneficiary may earn and still receive the monthly benefits. Self-employed people entitled to old-age and survivors insurance benefits may receive the payments for each month of the year if their net earnings during the entire year are not over $900.

The amended law contains a provision of special importance to self-employed people who have retired or plan to retire during 1952. Before the passage of the amendments their earnings for the year in which an application was made could not be used to figure their old-age benefit payments. Now, those self-employed people who originally applied for benefits in 1952 may re-apply at the close of the taxable year and have their 1952 earnings used in figuring their monthly benefit payments. In general, this will increase the monthly benefit payment to self-employed persons.

A similar change in the law now permits insured wage earners who retire in 1952 to have their wages for this year used immediately in figuring the amount of their benefit payments. Heretofore, it was necessary for them to come back after the end of the year in order to have all of their covered wages for 1952 included in the computation of the benefit amount.

Another amendment allows beneficiaries aged 75 or over, already on the rolls, to take advantage of the higher benefit payments provided under the new formula, if they have had at least a year and a half of covered work after 1950.

We wish to make it clear to all our readers that the increased benefits for individuals who are at present on the benefit rolls do not have to be applied for.

The Kingston office of the Social Security Administration, servicing all of Ulster county, is located in Room 206, Central Post Office Bldg., Broadway.

Greeks Open Fire On Bulgarians

Athens, Greece, Aug. 7 (AP)—Greek troops opened fire this morning on Bulgarian soldiers on the Greek-claimed border island of Gamma, in the Evros river, the Greek general staff announced today.

A communique said the Greek fire—from machineguns and mortars—was not returned by the troops from Greece's Soviet satellite northern neighbor.

The attack began at 8:30 a. m. (1:30 a. m. EST).

(An Istanbul dispatch said a top Turkish official at Adrianople, Turkish border town 10 miles from Gamma, reported the firing continued for about an hour and a half and stopping around 10 a. m.)

The attack came after Bulgarian troops had been noticed on the island last night, the announcement said. Earlier last night the general staff had issued a communique saying no Bulgars had been seen on the island after expiration of an earlier Greek ultimatum demanding that all Bulgarian troops quit Gamma by 8 a. m. yesterday.

Give Warning

Press dispatches from correspondents in the area, written after the expiration of the ultimatum but apparently prior to the Greek attack, said those on the Greek side of the frontier still could see the Bulgarians on the island.

Today's army announcement said the United Nations peace sub-committee was present when the Greeks attacked and that prior to opening fire, the Greeks warned the Bulgars by loudspeaker.

The island was the scene of a Bulgarian attack on a Greek patrol July 27. Three Greek soldiers were killed. Reporting the incident to United Nations headquarters, the UN Balkan sub-committee condemned the Bulgarian actio.n

Sanitation Forces Protest Long Hours

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Twelve men wearing black hood-like masks picketed the city sanitation department pier today but later removed their disguises on orders from police.

They said they were employes seeking a shorter work week and that they wore the masks, with eye and mouth slits, to hide their identities and avoid possible reprisals by sanitation department officials.

They continued to picket, however, without the disguises after police informed them that the wearing of masks violated the law.

The pickets said they were protesting the city's refusal to give them an immediate five-day, 40-hour week. They said the present work week of 48 to 54 hours caused sickness and a high mortality rate among department workers.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri announced yesterday that the work week for city employes working more than 40 hours would be reduced gradually, with a cut to 44 hours on Oct. 1 as the first step.

The pickets opened their lines to permit trucks to take milk to the St. John's Guild floating hospital, which uses the same dock as the sanitation department scows.

Goldfish Increase Noted

Du Quoin, Ill. (AP)—This Southern Illinois city's treasury was so low it had payless paydays this spring but its park pool produced more gold than ever before—goldfish that is. Workmen giving the pool its spring cleaning counted 392 goldfish, 2 to 10 inches long—150 more than last year.

Greeks Open Fire On Bulgarians

Athens, Greece, Aug. 7 (AP)—Greek troops opened fire this morning on Bulgarian soldiers on the Greek-claimed border island of Gamma, in the Evros river, the Greek general staff announced today.

A communique said the Greek fire—from machineguns and mortars—was not returned by the troops from Greece's Soviet satellite northern neighbor.

The attack began at 8:30 a. m. (1:30 a. m. EST).

(An Istanbul dispatch said a top Turkish official at Adrianople, Turkish border town 10 miles from Gamma, reported the firing continued for about an hour and a half and stopping around 10 a. m.)

The attack came after Bulgarian troops had been noticed on the island last night, the announcement said. Earlier last night the general staff had issued a communique saying no Bulgars had been seen on the island after expiration of an earlier Greek ultimatum demanding that all Bulgarian troops quit Gamma by 8 a. m. yesterday.

Give Warning

Press dispatches from correspondents in the area, written after the expiration of the ultimatum but apparently prior to the Greek attack, said those on the Greek side of the frontier still could see the Bulgarians on the island.

Today's army announcement said the United Nations peace sub-committee was present when the Greeks attacked and that prior to opening fire, the Greeks warned the Bulgars by loudspeaker.

The island was the scene of a Bulgarian attack on a Greek patrol July 27. Three Greek soldiers were killed. Reporting the incident to United Nations headquarters, the UN Balkan sub-committee condemned the Bulgarian actio.n

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Twelve men wearing black hood-like masks picketed the city sanitation department pier today but later removed their disguises on orders from police.

They said they were employes seeking a shorter work week and that they wore the masks, with eye and mouth slits, to hide their identities and avoid possible reprisals by sanitation department officials.

They continued to picket, however, without the disguises after police informed them that the wearing of masks violated the law.

The pickets said they were protesting the city's refusal to give them an immediate five-day, 40-hour week. They said the present work week of 48 to 54 hours caused sickness and a high mortality rate among department workers.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri announced yesterday that the work week for city employes working more than 40 hours would be reduced gradually, with a cut to 44 hours on Oct. 1 as the first step.

The pickets opened their lines to permit trucks to take milk to the St. John's Guild floating hospital, which uses the same dock as the sanitation department scows.

Goldfish Increase Noted

Du Quoin, Ill. (AP)—This Southern Illinois city's treasury was so low it had payless paydays this spring but its park pool produced more gold than ever before—goldfish that is. Workmen giving the pool its spring cleaning counted 392 goldfish, 2 to 10 inches long—150 more than last year.

Four Are Injured In Gardiner Crash

Four persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding was in collision with a tractor trailer at Gardiner about 1:15 p. m. Wednesday, state police reported.

The injured, all of New York, were taken to Kingston Hospital by the New Paltz Fire Department Ambulance.

Efraim Lewan, 60, who troopers said suffered a fractured leg, was reported in "apparently fair" condition at the hospital. His wife, Betty, 49, and Mrs. Bella Jacobs, 31, were reported in "apparently good" condition, and Herbert Jacobs, 35, was released after treatment for injuries which troopers said included lacerations and abrasions to face, arms and legs.

Investigation Is Made

Trooper Michael Lisman and members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department investigated. Lisman reported the accident occurred during a hard rain on an S-curve in the highway. The tractor trailer involved was an oil tank truck owned by Mid-Hudson Oil Company of Poughkeepsie and driven by Russell F. Miles, 42, of that city, the report stated.

The automobile, driven by Jacobs, was completely wrecked, and the trailer wheels of the larger vehicle were dislodged, according to the report.

Gromyko Presents Credentials to Queen

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—Top-hatted Andrei Gromyko, Communist Russia's new ambassador to Britain, rode in a gilded royal coach to Buckingham Palace today and presented his credentials to Queen Elizabeth II.

There was nothing proletarian about the show. It was conducted in an atmosphere of cast-iron dignity that even an unruly horse could not disturb.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden introduced Gromyko to the young queen. The Russian envoy spent 20 minutes at the palace. He was accompanied by seven senior embassy officials and British Maj. Gen. Guy Salisbury-Jones, marshal of the diplomatic corps.

Going and coming, Gromyko was his usual unsmiling self. If he felt self-conscious riding in a coach that looked like something out of Cinderella, he did not show it.

A crowd gathered outside Buckingham Palace and quietly watched Gromyko enter and depart.

Gromyko was received with shouts of "go home" when he arrived in London July 28. He replaced Georgi N. Zarubin, who has been appointed Soviet ambassador to the United States.

Will Visit U. S.

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 7 (AP)—Iraq's boy king, Feisal 2nd, sailed today on the Queen Mary for a five-week official visit to the United States. The 17-year-old monarch, only five feet tall, was accompanied by the prince regent of Iraq, who rules for him until he becomes 18 next May 3. Feisal told reporters his jaunt "is really an educational tour."

Manila, Aug. 7 (AP)—A two-day rainstorm tapered off tonight, leaving at least three dead, communications snarled and hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage in this city of more than a million. A 12-inch drenching, heaviest in four years, turned thoroughfares into rivers, flooded homes and stores and washed out railroads and highways throughout the Philippines' biggest island, Luzon.

Stilwell Is Appointed

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 7 (AP)—Col. Joseph W. Stilwell, Jr., son of the late Gen. "Vinegar" Joe Stilwell of World War 2 fame in the China-Burma-India theatre, today was appointed commander of the 23rd Regiment of the U. S. Second Infantry Division. The 40-year-old Columbus, Ga., and Falls Church, Va., soldier has been in the army 23 years. He is a West Point graduate.

Begin Shooting National Guard Film in Kingston

Shooting began this morning on a film with a National Guard theme which will be shown in theatres throughout the country.

The production, which began at 9 a. m. at the Kingston Transportation Company, is being made by the American Film Producers Association, 1600 Broadway, New York, for the National Guard Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Maj. Stephen H. White, chief of the information office of the National Guard Bureau, was present at the state armory Monday morning to confer with Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, producers and federal army administrative assistants.

Kingston was selected for the film setting as a typical American town and the 156th Field Artillery Battalion as a typical National Guard organization with suitable armory, facilities and equipment.

When completed, it was pointed out, the film will be shown in theatres, on television at armory and other installations, and especially to young people where National Guard recruiting is being carried on.

A small cast of professional actors, assisted by some local talent, will make the film under the direction of Larry Glesnes of the American Film Producers Association. Larry Kostroff will serve as unit manager and Julian Townsend as photographer.

Warrant Officer Thomas M. Miller and Capt. John E. Martell, army administrative assistants stationed at the local armory, are assisting the producers of the film.

Cripple Has $64 Days Panhandling

Oklahoma City, Aug. 7 (AP)—Willie the Panhandler told wide-eyed policemen yesterday he thinks Oklahoma city people have hearts of gold.

Willie, who is probably the nation's best panhandler, said he came to Oklahoma city from Dallas Tuesday because things were getting slow in the Texas city. So slow, in fact, he couldn't afford to keep up the payments on his new Lincoln and give a young chauffeur $35 a week to drive for him.

His first day in Oklahoma netted him $64, he said, and yesterday was going about the same.

Willie is 34, and has been paralyzed from the waist down since childhood because of infantile paralysis. He travels in a delapidated little wagon which he propels with his hands.

Two scout car officers arrested Willie when his chauffeur tried to change $50 worth of nickels and dimes into paper money.

"This boy ain't doing anything wrong," Willie protested. "I gave him the money. I pay him $35 a week as my chauffeur. You know I can't drive the car myself."

Pays $283 a Month

In his private papers police uncovered a book from a Dallas automobile financing firm showing Willie pays $143 a month for his new Lincoln.

"My overhead with the chauffeur is $283 a month before I get a bite to eat or buy my clothes," wailed Willie. "A dollar today is worth about 30 cents normally."

Police officers said they wouldn't file charges if Willie left town.

But the nation's number one panhandler said he thought he would have his chauffeur swing around by way of Chicago and both would take a little vacation before returning to Dallas.

Four Are Injured In Gardiner Crash

Four persons were injured when the automobile in which they were riding was in collision with a tractor trailer at Gardiner about 1:15 p. m. Wednesday, state police reported.

The injured, all of New York, were taken to Kingston Hospital by the New Paltz Fire Department Ambulance.

Efraim Lewan, 60, who troopers said suffered a fractured leg, was reported in "apparently fair" condition at the hospital. His wife, Betty, 49, and Mrs. Bella Jacobs, 31, were reported in "apparently good" condition, and Herbert Jacobs, 35, was released after treatment for injuries which troopers said included lacerations and abrasions to face, arms and legs.

Investigation Is Made

Trooper Michael Lisman and members of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department investigated. Lisman reported the accident occurred during a hard rain on an S-curve in the highway. The tractor trailer involved was an oil tank truck owned by Mid-Hudson Oil Company of Poughkeepsie and driven by Russell F. Miles, 42, of that city, the report stated.

The automobile, driven by Jacobs, was completely wrecked, and the trailer wheels of the larger vehicle were dislodged, according to the report.

Gromyko Presents Credentials to Queen

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—Top-hatted Andrei Gromyko, Communist Russia's new ambassador to Britain, rode in a gilded royal coach to Buckingham Palace today and presented his credentials to Queen Elizabeth II.

There was nothing proletarian about the show. It was conducted in an atmosphere of cast-iron dignity that even an unruly horse could not disturb.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden introduced Gromyko to the young queen. The Russian envoy spent 20 minutes at the palace. He was accompanied by seven senior embassy officials and British Maj. Gen. Guy Salisbury-Jones, marshal of the diplomatic corps.

Going and coming, Gromyko was his usual unsmiling self. If he felt self-conscious riding in a coach that looked like something out of Cinderella, he did not show it.

A crowd gathered outside Buckingham Palace and quietly watched Gromyko enter and depart.

Gromyko was received with shouts of "go home" when he arrived in London July 28. He replaced Georgi N. Zarubin, who has been appointed Soviet ambassador to the United States.

Will Visit U. S.

Southampton, Eng., Aug. 7 (AP)—Iraq's boy king, Feisal 2nd, sailed today on the Queen Mary for a five-week official visit to the United States. The 17-year-old monarch, only five feet tall, was accompanied by the prince regent of Iraq, who rules for him until he becomes 18 next May 3. Feisal told reporters his jaunt "is really an educational tour."

Fire Suspends Service

Clermont, Fla. (AP)—A fire broke out here recently that was difficult to report— it was in the city's telephone exchange. The whole town was without service 30 hours while damage was being repaired.

Storm Kills Three

Manila, Aug. 7 (AP)—A two-day rainstorm tapered off tonight, leaving at least three dead, communications snarled and hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage in this city of more than a million. A 12-inch drenching, heaviest in four years, turned thoroughfares into rivers, flooded homes and stores and washed out railroads and highways throughout the Philippines' biggest island, Luzon.

Stilwell Is Appointed

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 7 (AP)—Col. Joseph W. Stilwell, Jr., son of the late Gen. "Vinegar" Joe Stilwell of World War 2 fame in the China-Burma-India theatre, today was appointed commander of the 23rd Regiment of the U. S. Second Infantry Division. The 40-year-old Columbus, Ga., and Falls Church, Va., soldier has been in the army 23 years. He is a West Point graduate.

Begin Shooting National Guard Film in Kingston

Shooting began this morning on a film with a National Guard theme which will be shown in theatres throughout the country.

The production, which began at 9 a. m. at the Kingston Transportation Company, is being made by the American Film Producers Association, 1600 Broadway, New York, for the National Guard Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Maj. Stephen H. White, chief of the information office of the National Guard Bureau, was present at the state armory Monday morning to confer with Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, producers and federal army administrative assistants.

Kingston was selected for the film setting as a typical American town and the 156th Field Artillery Battalion as a typical National Guard organization with suitable armory, facilities and equipment.

When completed, it was pointed out, the film will be shown in theatres, on television at armory and other installations, and especially to young people where National Guard recruiting is being carried on.

A small cast of professional actors, assisted by some local talent, will make the film under the direction of Larry Glesnes of the American Film Producers Association. Larry Kostroff will serve as unit manager and Julian Townsend as photographer.

Warrant Officer Thomas M. Miller and Capt. John E. Martell, army administrative assistants stationed at the local armory, are assisting the producers of the film.

Cripple Has $64 Days Panhandling

Oklahoma City, Aug. 7 (AP)—Willie the Panhandler told wide-eyed policemen yesterday he thinks Oklahoma city people have hearts of gold.

Willie, who is probably the nation's best panhandler, said he came to Oklahoma city from Dallas Tuesday because things were getting slow in the Texas city. So slow, in fact, he couldn't afford to keep up the payments on his new Lincoln and give a young chauffeur $35 a week to drive for him.

His first day in Oklahoma netted him $64, he said, and yesterday was going about the same.

Willie is 34, and has been paralyzed from the waist down since childhood because of infantile paralysis. He travels in a delapidated little wagon which he propels with his hands.

Two scout car officers arrested Willie when his chauffeur tried to change $50 worth of nickels and dimes into paper money.

"This boy ain't doing anything wrong," Willie protested. "I gave him the money. I pay him $35 a week as my chauffeur. You know I can't drive the car myself."

Pays $283 a Month

In his private papers police uncovered a book from a Dallas automobile financing firm showing Willie pays $143 a month for his new Lincoln.

"My overhead with the chauffeur is $283 a month before I get a bite to eat or buy my clothes," wailed Willie. "A dollar today is worth about 30 cents normally."

Police officers said they wouldn't file charges if Willie left town.

But the nation's number one panhandler said he thought he would have his chauffeur swing around by way of Chicago and both would take a little vacation before returning to Dallas.

Buildings Are Destroyed

Tokyo, Aug. 7 (AP)—Far East Air Forces said tonight its B-29 Superforts destroyed more than 90 per cent of the buildings connected with the Communists' biggest gold mine in North Korea in a raid Tuesday night. The air force made its estimate after studying aerial photographs and damage to the mine and ore processing buildings at Hoechang, 34 miles east of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. The attack was the first against the mine, which produced gold for purchasing war materiel.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of several foods moved irregularly higher this week.

A few fresh vegetables advanced at little as drouth conditions trimmed supplies from some growing areas.

Lean pork cuts rose 2 to as much as 8 cents a pound, reflecting higher government ceilings and a tighter supply caused by partial livestock market quarantines to stop the spread of a hog disease.

And top grade eggs advanced 2 to 4 cents a dozen—a seasonal trend usual at this time of year when farmers are replacing their laying flocks with younger birds.

Fresh Produce Varies

The trend in fresh produce prices varied considerably from place to place. The changes were sharpest in the south and in New England where the drouth has hit hardest. Snap beans, spinach, tomatoes and potatoes appeared to be the items most affected pricewise in the majority of stores. But the long, hot dry spells also were causing quality deterioration of some items like onions, and hurrying the maturity of others like peaches.

Produce men said that although the week-to-week price advances of several vegetables didn't appear large, the increases over the past several weeks had brought prices above the year-ago levels. Peppers, lima beans, cabbage, broccoli, carrots, corn, cucumbers, onions and potatoes were in this category, they said.

Long-Range Effects

The drouths also were expected to have longer-range effects on the family food budget. Commercial buyers of crops for freezing were reported bidding up prices well above what canners could pay, for example. Farmers hard pressed for feed crops in some areas were said to be selling their cattle ahead of schedule, which would mean not only tighter meat supplies later but a sudden drop in the local milk supplies.

Only last week, meat dealers were saying they would hold off as long as possible in boosting their prices of lean pork cuts to the higher ceiling levels recently authorized by price stabilizers. They felt that pork prices already were meeting consumer resistance.

Pork Supplies Hit

However, pork supply channels were at least temporarily disrupted when stockyards in five cities were partially embargoed in moves to control a virus disease (vesicular exanthema) which affects only hogs—not other animals or humans. As a result, several big store chains and many independent retailers raised their prices or announced plans to do so by this weekend. Chops and loin roasts advanced as much as 8 cents in some places, spare ribs as much as 6 cents.

Stores in some sections scheduled weekend specials of lamb chops and other lamb items at reduced prices, but generally speaking prices of meats and poultry were otherwise about unchanged.

Medium-sized eggs were selling at 10 to 12 cents a dozen below the large sizes in many places, and pullet eggs were as much as 23 cents below the large eggs. And the smaller sizes were becoming much more plentiful. Dealers said that whenever the mediums get 10 cents or more a dozen below the price of large eggs, they're a more economical buy on a pound-for-pound basis. When pullet eggs are 20 or more cents below the large, they're a thriftier buy.

Week's Specials

There were the foods most frequently mentioned as specials for this week by major chains and independents: Lamb cuts, ribs of beef, beef pot roasts, frying chickens, turkeys, frankfurters and other cold cuts, peaches, pears, cantaloupes, watermelons, grapes, and sea foods.

So They Get a Laugh

With U. S. 7th Infantry Division, Korea, Aug. 7 (AP)—Two South Korean soldiers with an undying hatred of communism and a sense of humor have devised an ingenious gadget which raps the Reds and at the same time gives everyone a good laugh. They harnessed a water wheel to a trip hammer which bops a picture of Joe Stalin on the head each time the wheel turns.

Buildings Are Destroyed

Tokyo, Aug. 7 (AP)—Far East Air Forces said tonight its B-29 Superforts destroyed more than 90 per cent of the buildings connected with the Communists' biggest gold mine in North Korea in a raid Tuesday night. The air force made its estimate after studying aerial photographs and damage to the mine and ore processing buildings at Hoechang, 34 miles east of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. The attack was the first against the mine, which produced gold for purchasing war materiel.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail prices of several foods moved irregularly higher this week.

A few fresh vegetables advanced at little as drouth conditions trimmed supplies from some growing areas.

Lean pork cuts rose 2 to as much as 8 cents a pound, reflecting higher government ceilings and a tighter supply caused by partial livestock market quarantines to stop the spread of a hog disease.

And top grade eggs advanced 2 to 4 cents a dozen—a seasonal trend usual at this time of year when farmers are replacing their laying flocks with younger birds.

Fresh Produce Varies

The trend in fresh produce prices varied considerably from place to place. The changes were sharpest in the south and in New England where the drouth has hit hardest. Snap beans, spinach, tomatoes and potatoes appeared to be the items most affected pricewise in the majority of stores. But the long, hot dry spells also were causing quality deterioration of some items like onions, and hurrying the maturity of others like peaches.

Produce men said that although the week-to-week price advances of several vegetables didn't appear large, the increases over the past several weeks had brought prices above the year-ago levels. Peppers, lima beans, cabbage, broccoli, carrots, corn, cucumbers, onions and potatoes were in this category, they said.

Long-Range Effects

The drouths also were expected to have longer-range effects on the family food budget. Commercial buyers of crops for freezing were reported bidding up prices well above what canners could pay, for example. Farmers hard pressed for feed crops in some areas were said to be selling their cattle ahead of schedule, which would mean not only tighter meat supplies later but a sudden drop in the local milk supplies.

Only last week, meat dealers were saying they would hold off as long as possible in boosting their prices of lean pork cuts to the higher ceiling levels recently authorized by price stabilizers. They felt that pork prices already were meeting consumer resistance.

Pork Supplies Hit

However, pork supply channels were at least temporarily disrupted when stockyards in five cities were partially embargoed in moves to control a virus disease (vesicular exanthema) which affects only hogs—not other animals or humans. As a result, several big store chains and many independent retailers raised their prices or announced plans to do so by this weekend. Chops and loin roasts advanced as much as 8 cents in some places, spare ribs as much as 6 cents.

Stores in some sections scheduled weekend specials of lamb chops and other lamb items at reduced prices, but generally speaking prices of meats and poultry were otherwise about unchanged.

Medium-sized eggs were selling at 10 to 12 cents a dozen below the large sizes in many places, and pullet eggs were as much as 23 cents below the large eggs. And the smaller sizes were becoming much more plentiful. Dealers said that whenever the mediums get 10 cents or more a dozen below the price of large eggs, they're a more economical buy on a pound-for-pound basis. When pullet eggs are 20 or more cents below the large, they're a thriftier buy.

Week's Specials

There were the foods most frequently mentioned as specials for this week by major chains and independents: Lamb cuts, ribs of beef, beef pot roasts, frying chickens, turkeys, frankfurters and other cold cuts, peaches, pears, cantaloupes, watermelons, grapes, and sea foods.

Toronto, Aug. 7 (AP)—The 18th International Red Cross conference overrode Soviet objections and voted 69 to 12 last night for an impartial investigation of Communist charges of U. Eight on Boxer Die in Jet Blast

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—An explosion of a jet plane aboard the U. S. Carrier Boxer in Korean waters killed eight men and injured an unannounced number of others, the navy reported today.

Twelve jet planes were destroyed by raging fires that followed the explosion. Helicopters and lifeboats picked up 63 crewmen driven overboard by the flames.

A naval officer said the 27,000-ton carrier, which normally carries a crew of 2,900 officers and men, suffered the tragedy about 50 miles off the coast of Korea Tuesday night (Wednesday Korean Time).

No enemy action was involved.

Injured Toll Not Known

The officers who reported the fatalities said he did not know how many men were injured. He said damage to the ship was comparatively slight, and repairs will be made in the Korean Theatre of Operations.

Just what caused the jet plane to explode was not known, officials said. It is believed that an accumulation of gasses, built up after a landing, caused the blast. The plane at the time was on the hangar deck.

Fire Called 'Bad'

The fire which followed was described as "bad."

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The Boxer played a prominent role in World War 2. At the start of the Korean war it crossed the Pacific in eight days and seven hours with what was believed to be the largest number of planes ever carried on a carrier.

It also set a Pacific record of seven days and 18 hours on a return trip to San Francisco.

The carrier began a third tour of Korean duty April 1.

U. S., Two Other Nations Launch Military Program

Honolulu, Aug. 7 (AP)—Foreign ministers of the U. S., Australia and New Zealand today launched the first formal peacetime system of military cooperation among the three nations.

However, they adopted a "go slow" policy on bringing other non-Communist Pacific nations into the security organization. That would be premature, said a communique issued after they adjourned their three-day conference last night. But they promised that other countries would be consulted closely through regular diplomatic channels.

The foreign minister of one interested nation not present, Joaquin Elizalde of the Philippines, said in Manila his country and Japan may join the ANZUS powers soon in a five-power conference to coordinate Pacific defense against communism. He did not say who would take the initiative.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson told reporters the ANZUS meetings had been "very intimate, very informal," and "we are all very happy."

Richard G. Casey, Australian minister for external affairs, said the sessions were without argument or maneuvering for position. T. Clifton Webb, New Zealand's foreign minister, declared:

Appreciate U. S. Stand

"We are very appreciative to the United States and we have been taken completely into their confidence and thinking."

Key step taken to implement last year's three-power treaty signed in San Francisco was the creation of a joint military staff to meet periodically at Pearl Harbor, Melbourne and Wellington, N. Z.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, U. S. Pacific Fleet commander, was designated American representative to the military staff. Australia and New Zealand will name theirs later.

A spokesman said all recommendations of the ANZUS military staff must be approved by the nations themselves.

The military representatives will "consider and make recommendations to their respective chiefs of staff on measures which might be taken to increase mutual assistance and self help, looking toward the improvement of the defense of Australia and New Zealand as related to the overall strategic defense of the Pacific," the spokesman added. He said that liaison officers probably would be exchanged.

On the question of dealings with other Pacific nations, the communique stated this was a goal set forth in the treaty itself.

Veterans Urged To Apply for Pay

Korean veterans eligible for mustering-out pay under the newly enacted Korean G.I. Bill are urged by Howard Shurter, director of the Ulster county Veterans' Service Agency, and Donald G. Moore, state veteran counselor, to call at the office, 32 Main street, for applications and instructions for filing such claims.

Shurter pointed out that in order for Korean veterans to get their mustering-out pay they must submit their original separation papers with their application, and therefore strongly urge all veterans to register their discharge certificates and separation reports with their county clerk's office in order that they have available true copies to file for other benefits while the originals are being processed for mustering-out payments.

The new law provides for payment to veterans up to the ranks of captain and lieutenant senior grade who were discharged or released from active duty under honorable conditions on or after June 27, 1950, of $100 for those with less than 60 days' service; of $200 for those with 60 or more days of active service, but no foreign service; and of $300 for those with 60 or more days of active service who served outside the United States or in Alaska on or after June 27, 1950.

Moore pointed out that lump sum payments will be made to eligible veterans who have already been discharged or released from active service and to receive the payments the veterans must complete the application now available to them and submit the original of the Report of Separation from the Armed Forces of the United States.

Those eligible for mustering-out pay who are still in the armed forces will receive their payment in $100 monthly installments, the first of which will be paid on discharge or release from active duty.

Shurter pointed out that in order for Korean veterans to get their mustering-out pay they must submit their original separation papers with their application, and therefore strongly urge all veterans to register their discharge certificates and separation reports with their county clerk's office in order that they have available true copies to file for other benefits while the originals are being processed for mustering-out payments.

The new law provides for payment to veterans up to the ranks of captain and lieutenant senior grade who were discharged or released from active duty under honorable conditions on or after June 27, 1950, of $100 for those with less than 60 days' service; of $200 for those with 60 or more days of active service, but no foreign service; and of $300 for those with 60 or more days of active service who served outside the United States or in Alaska on or after June 27, 1950.

Moore pointed out that lump sum payments will be made to eligible veterans who have already been discharged or released from active service and to receive the payments the veterans must complete the application now available to them and submit the original of the Report of Separation from the Armed Forces of the United States.

Those eligible for mustering-out pay who are still in the armed forces will receive their payment in $100 monthly installments, the first of which will be paid on discharge or release from active duty.

The Keys to the City

The modern ceremonial custom of presenting keys to the city originated in the Middle Ages when cities were walled, and distinguished and trusted visitors were given keys to the gates so they could come and go as they chose.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

You are doubtless a bit weary of reading political "columns". The Ruminator has no intention of writing only on Eisenhower and Stevenson between now and election time.

However, there are two or three additional contrary thoughts I should like to leave with you, which we can check up on a few weeks hence.

As we know, an election campaign is an appeal to the members of the masses who are not one-way party voters. There are, of course, many millions who always "vote the straight ticket"—Republican or Democratic. Speeches and claims shift very few of these set votes.

Then there are the so-called Independents and those who vote for the man they like the best. It is these millions upon whom the emotions of the campaigns are focussed.

Accordingly, it will be important this year to note the ebb and flow of what I'll call "popularity" for want of a better term. On this score, it is my guess that General Eisenhower's popularity rating was at its peak at the time of the Republican nominating convention. There will be renewed interest in the General, of course, when he starts his speech-making, but contrary to the belief of countless Eisenhower supporters, I think we might well keep before us the thought that the enthusiasm for him may wane rather than grow as the summer and fall wear on.

I venture this contrary opinion simply upon the theory of mass psychology together with the general's obvious approach to his campaign.

There is not an ounce of demagoguery in General Eisenhower's make-up (using the dictionary definition of "insincere appeal to the masses"). Yet, demagoguery does stir up partisanship, emotional fervor, and the excitement which makes for a campaign that attracts enthusiastic interest. (Extraordinarily enough, there is probably a greater partisan interest within the two parties than there is between the two parties, as the Ruminator mentioned a week ago.)

Turning to Stevenson, the situation is quite different. His popularity thermometer is on the way up, because until the Democratic convention people as a whole knew little about him. They heard about a governor in the middle west who didn't seem to wish to be president and that's about all they knew about the man. It was refreshing to a lot of pepole to hear about a politician who didn't want to be president (or at least who said he didn't want to be), and this aroused a good deal of curiosity.

Therefore, there will be a growing interest in the Democratic nominee until he becomes well known. Stevenson is sure to steal a good part of the spotlight from Eisenhower over the early weeks of the campaign. Everybody will wonder about him, because of the few stories that have been published.

Now all this does not mean that the Republicans cannot win this year. But it does mean that some of the silly pre-convention slogans might well be forgotten. No one is going to win in a walk. Neither candidate is going to win with a grin—and they both have attractive smiles.

Both men have got to get the votes out. It is the Ruminator's further contrary opinion that the idea you hear tossed about that the Democrats can afford to "forget the South" and the Republicans should "forget the Old Guard and Taftites"—this idea is about the best way to promote a lost cause that I can think of.

At the moment Stevenson has the edge for two important reasons: (1) The Democrats are the majority party and are in power and "times are good"; (2) he is a skillful politician, as his record in winning the Illinois governorship and his cleverly handled "draft" at the Chicago convention reveal.

Finally, the election will be disappointing, however it turns out, to a mass of people because there will be no clear-cut vote registered on the great issue of international intervention and no decisive opinion registered on "liberalism versus conservatism."

In the meantime, while we are waiting for the campaign to commence, we contrary minded observers have to remember that there are five critical months ahead of us when there will be no firm head to the government. President Truman's authority and control of affairs are of course weakened. Every major issue that arises between now and January will be hampered by the question: What would the incoming President decide to do about this? Considering the critical nature of foreign affairs at this very moment, it would be prudent for us all to forget the campaigns temporarily and keep our attention focused abroad. The Ruminator will therefore overlook the campaigns for a while.

NEW WSB HEAD—Archibald Cox, Harvard University law professor from Wayland, Mass., has been appointed by President Truman as the chairman and one of the six public members of the new Wage Stabilization Board. He is shown in his Washington hotel room shortly after receiving the news.

Postmaster Is Stumped

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 7 (AP)—This address on a letter stumped Postmaster Frank C. Kettring—"Marsmen, Planet Mars, in care of Mars Postoffice." In the letter, two South Bend boys asked the Men of Mars whether flying saucers come from their planet. "If they do," the letter said, "please send one down and tell them to land in South Bend." The boys had even thought of foreign postage complications. A note on the envelope said: "Balance of postage to be paid by Marsmen."

INDEPENDENCE PAYS:

MORE FOR DOCTORS

Independent physicians top the list. Their incomes averaged $13,378 for 1951 while salaried doctors earned $9,522. The average medical man collected $12,518 which was $980 above 1950.

LESS FOR LAWYERS

Salaried lawyers made more money than independents, earning $10,197 in 1951. Unsalaried legal men made only $8,936. National average for lawyers was $9,375 which was $303 more than 1950.

ALWAYS FOR DENTISTS

Most dentists are independent and they collected $7,856 from their patients in 1951. Salaried dentists are too few to allow estimates. Average dentist made $450 more than in 1950.

For America's three best-paying professions—doctors, lawyers and dentists—independence pays more for some, less for others, as shown in the above news-chart. It shows the average 1951 income for the three professions according to the Office of Business Economics of the Department of Commerce. Physicians make more money when working for themselves, but lawyers, when working on salary, have higher incomes.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Follow Through May Make or Break You

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West made a good choice with his opening lead in today's hand, but failed to follow through. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he did too much following through.

West opened his singleton club and dummy was permitted to win with the nine. South went into a deep stew and finally led the nine of hearts from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. West gratefully won with the jack of hearts and shifted to a low spade. East won with the king of spades and naturally returned a club to give West a ruff.

It was at this point that West got carried away by enthusiasm or, perhaps by failing to think. West simply led another spade to East's ace.

East hopefully returned another club, but West could do no more ruffing. South could enter dummy with the ace of diamonds to take a second heart finesse, and the rest of the tricks were his.

South was set one trick, to be sure, but he counted himself lucky. Proper defense would have set him two tricks, for a penalty of 500 points instead of only 200 points. Instead of leading a second spade, West should have switched to the king of diamonds.

It was obvious to West that declarer had a trump finesse to take. It was also obvious, since East had played the king of spades on the first round of that suit, that South had the queen of spades. Declarer could lead either a spade or a heart after reaching dummy with the ace of diamonds—but he could not do both.

If West had led the king of diamonds instead of another spade, South would have been forced to give up the ace of spades and one other trick, for a loss of 500 points.

Macy and Company stores in the metropolitan area were presented yesterday by representatives of labor and management, in an arbitration meeting at the offices of the American Arbitration Association.

After the disputants' summations were presented, Dr. Emanuel Stein, arbitrator, closed the arbitration, which began two weeks ago, and ordered that briefs be submitted to him no later than August 18.

An A. A. A. spokesmen said he expected Stein's findings to be announced three or four days after the briefs are filed.

John F. O'Donnell, counsel for Local 1-S, United Department Store Workers, CIO, has been requesting a $10 weekly pay increase for the Macy employes.

The company, on the other hand, has claimed that it is the "highest-paying organized department store in the city."

The arbitration was held under a reopener in the contract which the union and Macy's signed in 1949. The pact is due to expire next February.

Suez Oil Shipments Drop

Suez (AP)—Northbound oil shipments throught the Suez Canal in 1951 fell off 10 per cent. Last year 42,873,000 tons of oil passed through the vital waterway. In 1950 the total was 47,525,000 tons. This drop was largely caused by the new trans-Arabian pipeline which moved 14 million tons nearly a thousand miles across the desert from Saudi-Arabia to Sidon on the Mediterranean.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Follow Through May Make or Break You

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

West made a good choice with his opening lead in today's hand, but failed to follow through. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he did too much following through.

West opened his singleton club and dummy was permitted to win with the nine. South went into a deep stew and finally led the nine of hearts from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. West gratefully won with the jack of hearts and shifted to a low spade. East won with the king of spades and naturally returned a club to give West a ruff.

It was at this point that West got carried away by enthusiasm or, perhaps by failing to think. West simply led another spade to East's ace.

East hopefully returned another club, but West could do no more ruffing. South could enter dummy with the ace of diamonds to take a second heart finesse, and the rest of the tricks were his.

South was set one trick, to be sure, but he counted himself lucky. Proper defense would have set him two tricks, for a penalty of 500 points instead of only 200 points. Instead of leading a second spade, West should have switched to the king of diamonds.

It was obvious to West that declarer had a trump finesse to take. It was also obvious, since East had played the king of spades on the first round of that suit, that South had the queen of spades. Declarer could lead either a spade or a heart after reaching dummy with the ace of diamonds—but he could not do both.

If West had led the king of diamonds instead of another spade, South would have been forced to give up the ace of spades and one other trick, for a loss of 500 points.

No Basis Is Found For Stockholm Story

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 7 (AP) — A Stockholm newspaper that reported nine Hungarian Olympic athletes had refused to return to their Communist homeland pulled the story out of editions today after Helsinki sources failed to confirm it.

The newspaper Dagens Nyheter carried the report—from the paper's correspondent in the Finnish capital—in last night's editions under a Helsinki dateline. But repeated checks by the paper and by Associated Press correspondents could find no basis for the story.

The report had claimed that the nine members of Hungary's crack Olympic squad took refuge in western embassies in the Finnish capital after dropping out of sight one by one over the weekend.

Deadline Is Set

Toronto, Aug. 7 (AP)—Opponents of a proposal to develop the power potential of the St. Lawrence river have until Aug. 18 to file their objections with the International Joint Commission. The deadline was set yesterday by the commission, which is considering an application by Canada and the United States to dam the river and harness the international rapids.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Concert Delights At Maverick Hall

Woodstock, Aug. 7—An electric atmosphere pervaded the Maverick Concert Hall last Sunday from the first notes of the Brahms Sonata for Violin and Piano, G Major, through the repeat performance of the Prokofieff Sonata in D, Opus 94, for violin and piano.

In the Brahms the flawless technique of the artists, William Kroll, violin, and Joseph Wolman, pianist, completely transcended any difficulty present in the score. With these two artists performing Brahms, en rapport with the audience, it again became apparent how ideal the Maverick, surrounded by the cool green of the woods, is the true appreciation of fine music.

The Mozart Piano Quartet E Flat Major, in which Kroll and Wolman were joined by Barbara Kroll, violist, and Cynthia Eddy, cellist, brought the audience back from the soaring flights of the Brahms once more to the concert hall, with the light delicate tracery of the music. Mozart treated the piano like a stringed instrument, with no mercy for the performer. Wolman, however, outdid himself.

As proof that a modern work can bear repetition, the repeat performance of the Prokofieff was more enjoyable in many respects than the first, especially in the Presto.

During the intermission Pierre Henrotte announced that William Kroll, musical director of the Maverick, who is also the head of the chamber music department at the Berkshire Music Center, will be in Tanglewood next Sunday for the final concert of the season. In his absence Miss Dorothy Minty, of New York, will play at the Maverick. A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, she is an outstanding violinist, who has been heard here in previous concerts. The other artists will be Joseph Wolman, Cynthia Eddy, and Frank Mele, violist. The program will open with the Schumann Violin and Piano Sonata in A Minor to be followed by the Faure Piano Quartet in C Minor. The concert will begin at 4 p. m.

Pond Exhibition Open Wednesdays

Woodstock, Aug. 7—Owing to many requests, the exhibit of books, pictures, autographs and letters, which has been packed away for 50 years, of the famous Major J. B. Pond, will again be on display every Wednesday in August, from 3 to 6 p. m. The exhibition is on view at the Log House, Flat Rocks, Bearsville on the Wittenberg Road, adjoining the Pond home.

Included in the exhibit are pictures of, and books and letters by, Mark Twain, Walt Whitman, Sir Henry M. Stanley, Winston Churchill, Thomas Nast, James Whitcomb Riley, Rudyard Kipling, Palmer Cox and many others.

James B. Pond, who is presenting the exhibition, is the son of the famous Major Pond who founded the internationally known Pond Lecture Bureau. Upon his father's death in 1903, he became owner of the bureau and many people do not know where one left off and the other began. Born in the atmosphere of celebrities, at an early age he began his own collection. One of his cherished possessions is a book of poems by James Whitcomb Riley, autogrphed to "Little Jim, Jr.," with a poem. A conversation piece in his father's collection is the composite photograph of Mark Twain's famous trip around the world, in which the artist has faked a shot of Twain in a rickety wagon, drawn by a sagging mare—the conveyance in which he is supposed to have traveled. Shown with the photo is Twain's witty reply to the gag. Major Pond was Twain's lecture manager and life-long friend.

There is also an autographed photo of Walt Whitman and a signed copy of Leaves of Grass; there is a Japanese temple bell, a gift presented to Major Pond by Sir Edwin Arnold, author of the Light of Aisa.

In 1934, after having climaxed his career with a record-breaking tour for Admiral Byrd who had just come back from his first trip to Little America, Pond had for physical reasons to retire from management of the bureau. Since then he has edited and published the trade paper of the American Platform Program. Through it he still keeps contacts with the world's great, and the world's eccentrics. His noted colored films, Jamaica, Jewel of the Caribbees, Tropic Floral Wonderlands, and others have frequently been shown at Woodstock gatherings.

Pond is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, past president of both the Adventurers Club and the Circumnavigators Club; member of the Adventurers Club, Chicago; Dutch Treat Club, New York; Town Hall Club, New York, and a life member of the National Arts Club and the New York Zoological Society.

It has been announced that the following firemen, from both companies, completed on July 31 the first firemen's training course given in Wittenberg by James Brett, deputy fire chief of Kingston; Everand Short, Wittenberg; Nelson Shultis, Adam Schreiver, Harley Shultis, Kenneth Vredenburg, Charles Bailey, all of Wittenberg; Henry Bertsch, Bearsville; and Clifford Elliot, Woodstock.

Anyone who would be interested in either donating or selling such equipment to the school, is requested to call Mrs. Rudolf Wetterau, Woodstock 2023.

Beck Exhibition Now Open at Copper Shop

Woodstock, Aug. 7—An outdoor showing, last Saturday afternoon by Rosemary Beck initiated the current exhibition now on view at the Copper Shop on the Lower Ohayo Mountain Road.

An extraordinarily facile artist in the abstract realm, Miss Beck uses a variety of grounds in order to obtain the unique textures in her paintings—newsprint, rice paper, tracing paper, wherein even the glued surfaces are incorporated into the design. In design No. 4, she has superimposed the subtle black outlines of the pattern with a variety of greys, both warm and cool, while No. 5 contrasts jewel tones with the neutral rice paper.

Within the last six years Miss Beck has exhibited at the Kootz and Peridot Galleries in New York and, locally, in group and one man shows with the Woodstock Artists Association and the New Group. She studied art history at Oberlin College and at the Institute of Fine Arts and Columbia University in New York. Since then she has worked for the now extinct Dance and Theatre Department of the Museum of Modern Art, studied briefly at the Art Students' League and with Kurt Seligman and since 1949 with Robert Motherwell. In her own words she belongs to the "schools of cracked pavements, weathered building facades, East 8th street, Indifferente Materielle, My Dark Angel, etc."

She has lived in Woodstock since 1947, is married to Robert Phelps, writer, and has one son, Roger. She was awarded a grant by the Woodstock Foundation in 1950.

No Basis Is Found For Stockholm Story

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 7 (AP) — A Stockholm newspaper that reported nine Hungarian Olympic athletes had refused to return to their Communist homeland pulled the story out of editions today after Helsinki sources failed to confirm it.

The newspaper Dagens Nyheter carried the report—from the paper's correspondent in the Finnish capital—in last night's editions under a Helsinki dateline. But repeated checks by the paper and by Associated Press correspondents could find no basis for the story.

The report had claimed that the nine members of Hungary's crack Olympic squad took refuge in western embassies in the Finnish capital after dropping out of sight one by one over the weekend.

Deadline Is Set

Toronto, Aug. 7 (AP)—Opponents of a proposal to develop the power potential of the St. Lawrence river have until Aug. 18 to file their objections with the International Joint Commission. The deadline was set yesterday by the commission, which is considering an application by Canada and the United States to dam the river and harness the international rapids.

Concert Delights At Maverick Hall

Woodstock, Aug. 7—An electric atmosphere pervaded the Maverick Concert Hall last Sunday from the first notes of the Brahms Sonata for Violin and Piano, G Major, through the repeat performance of the Prokofieff Sonata in D, Opus 94, for violin and piano.

In the Brahms the flawless technique of the artists, William Kroll, violin, and Joseph Wolman, pianist, completely transcended any difficulty present in the score. With these two artists performing Brahms, en rapport with the audience, it again became apparent how ideal the Maverick, surrounded by the cool green of the woods, is the true appreciation of fine music.

The Mozart Piano Quartet E Flat Major, in which Kroll and Wolman were joined by Barbara Kroll, violist, and Cynthia Eddy, cellist, brought the audience back from the soaring flights of the Brahms once more to the concert hall, with the light delicate tracery of the music. Mozart treated the piano like a stringed instrument, with no mercy for the performer. Wolman, however, outdid himself.

As proof that a modern work can bear repetition, the repeat performance of the Prokofieff was more enjoyable in many respects than the first, especially in the Presto.

During the intermission Pierre Henrotte announced that William Kroll, musical director of the Maverick, who is also the head of the chamber music department at the Berkshire Music Center, will be in Tanglewood next Sunday for the final concert of the season. In his absence Miss Dorothy Minty, of New York, will play at the Maverick. A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, she is an outstanding violinist, who has been heard here in previous concerts. The other artists will be Joseph Wolman, Cynthia Eddy, and Frank Mele, violist. The program will open with the Schumann Violin and Piano Sonata in A Minor to be followed by the Faure Piano Quartet in C Minor. The concert will begin at 4 p. m.

Pond Exhibition Open Wednesdays

Woodstock, Aug. 7—Owing to many requests, the exhibit of books, pictures, autographs and letters, which has been packed away for 50 years, of the famous Major J. B. Pond, will again be on display every Wednesday in August, from 3 to 6 p. m. The exhibition is on view at the Log House, Flat Rocks, Bearsville on the Wittenberg Road, adjoining the Pond home.

Included in the exhibit are pictures of, and books and letters by, Mark Twain, Walt Whitman, Sir Henry M. Stanley, Winston Churchill, Thomas Nast, James Whitcomb Riley, Rudyard Kipling, Palmer Cox and many others.

James B. Pond, who is presenting the exhibition, is the son of the famous Major Pond who founded the internationally known Pond Lecture Bureau. Upon his father's death in 1903, he became owner of the bureau and many people do not know where one left off and the other began. Born in the atmosphere of celebrities, at an early age he began his own collection. One of his cherished possessions is a book of poems by James Whitcomb Riley, autogrphed to "Little Jim, Jr.," with a poem. A conversation piece in his father's collection is the composite photograph of Mark Twain's famous trip around the world, in which the artist has faked a shot of Twain in a rickety wagon, drawn by a sagging mare—the conveyance in which he is supposed to have traveled. Shown with the photo is Twain's witty reply to the gag. Major Pond was Twain's lecture manager and life-long friend.

There is also an autographed photo of Walt Whitman and a signed copy of Leaves of Grass; there is a Japanese temple bell, a gift presented to Major Pond by Sir Edwin Arnold, author of the Light of Aisa.

In 1934, after having climaxed his career with a record-breaking tour for Admiral Byrd who had just come back from his first trip to Little America, Pond had for physical reasons to retire from management of the bureau. Since then he has edited and published the trade paper of the American Platform Program. Through it he still keeps contacts with the world's great, and the world's eccentrics. His noted colored films, Jamaica, Jewel of the Caribbees, Tropic Floral Wonderlands, and others have frequently been shown at Woodstock gatherings.

Pond is a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, past president of both the Adventurers Club and the Circumnavigators Club; member of the Adventurers Club, Chicago; Dutch Treat Club, New York; Town Hall Club, New York, and a life member of the National Arts Club and the New York Zoological Society.

Firemen Hold Joint Meeting Next Monday

Woodstock, Aug. 7—There will be a special joint meeting of Woodstock Companies No. 1 and 2 Monday night at 8 p. m., at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club to make plans for the Labor Day clambake.

It has been announced that the following firemen, from both companies, completed on July 31 the first firemen's training course given in Wittenberg by James Brett, deputy fire chief of Kingston; Everand Short, Wittenberg; Nelson Shultis, Adam Schreiver, Harley Shultis, Kenneth Vredenburg, Charles Bailey, all of Wittenberg; Henry Bertsch, Bearsville; and Clifford Elliot, Woodstock.

Tinker Street Nursery Seeks Play Equipment

Woodstock, Aug. 7—The Tinker Street Cooperative Nursery School, which will re-open in September, would like to acquire a second slide and jungle gym. Anyone who would be interested in either donating or selling such equipment to the school, is requested to call Mrs. Rudolf Wetterau, Woodstock 2023.

Beck Exhibition Now Open at Copper Shop

Woodstock, Aug. 7—An outdoor showing, last Saturday afternoon by Rosemary Beck initiated the current exhibition now on view at the Copper Shop on the Lower Ohayo Mountain Road.

An extraordinarily facile artist in the abstract realm, Miss Beck uses a variety of grounds in order to obtain the unique textures in her paintings—newsprint, rice paper, tracing paper, wherein even the glued surfaces are incorporated into the design. In design No. 4, she has superimposed the subtle black outlines of the pattern with a variety of greys, both warm and cool, while No. 5 contrasts jewel tones with the neutral rice paper.

Within the last six years Miss Beck has exhibited at the Kootz and Peridot Galleries in New York and, locally, in group and one man shows with the Woodstock Artists Association and the New Group. She studied art history at Oberlin College and at the Institute of Fine Arts and Columbia University in New York. Since then she has worked for the now extinct Dance and Theatre Department of the Museum of Modern Art, studied briefly at the Art Students' League and with Kurt Seligman and since 1949 with Robert Motherwell. In her own words she belongs to the "schools of cracked pavements, weathered building facades, East 8th street, Indifferente Materielle, My Dark Angel, etc."

She has lived in Woodstock since 1947, is married to Robert Phelps, writer, and has one son, Roger. She was awarded a grant by the Woodstock Foundation in 1950.

Increase Is Won

Washington, Aug. 6 (AP) — Aluminum producers today won a ceiling price increase of one cent per pound on raw aluminum and five per cent on ingot and fabricated products. The Office of Price Stabilization said Price Control Chief Ellis Arnall had signed the order granting the boost. The increase is about half of that asked by the aluminum industry which now is turning out about one million tons of aluminum a year.

EAT WELL for Less

Deep-Dish Apple Pie a Specialty

NEW ENGLAND INNS feature fresh salmon salad—cold salmon on a bed of lemon madrilene cubes and tartar or mayonnaise sauce.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Williamstown, Mass.—Here in this beautiful college town, where the Green Mountains of Vermont and the Berkshires of Massachusetts meet, our education in New England eating continues. Panfried native brook trout, chicken pie, rich and creamy (with no vegetables, fortunately), are part of the daily curriculum.

The Williams Inn, on the rolling, tree-shaded campus is sprawling, relaxing, and hospitable. It offers an outstanding post-graduate course in happy eating. But we have one complaint—although they served lobster at all other meals, they didn't serve it for breakfast.

Hot Yankee sweet rolls—and the Yankees sure can bake—were the big breakfast news; plus griddle cakes with that unbeatable Vermont maple syrup.

Here's an idea for Sunday supper or hot-night dinner we learned at the Williams Inn—cold breast of duck served with a large lettuce basket on the same plate, filled with fresh berries, fresh pineapple sticks, cubed apples and celery. It's beautiful to look at—perfect eating, too.

Clifford Ingham, the chef, and I sat on the flower-bordered lawn discussing the honest pleasure man can get from good food. I wanted his chicken pie recipe, and here it is:

Use a fat, five-pound fowl and cook it tender. You'll have enough meat for 4 or 5 individual servings. Use butter or chicken fat. Melt the fat to begin the roux (white sauce). Thin the sauce with very, very strong chicken stock. Flavor with onion (but strain the onion out later), salt and pepper and nothing else.

Arrange large pieces of chicken in individual baking dishes, cover with the sauce and top with good old-fashioned New England pie crust. It's as simple as all that—nothing fancy, no potatoes, no carrots or peas, no tricks—just Yankee chicken pie to perfection.

New Eugland deep-dish apple pie with rich vanilla ice cream on top—Mr. Ingham and I discussed this gift to mankind while bells from the college tower marked off the hours. Here's his recipe—simple, perfect, as authentic as the Green Mountains beyond the inn.

Deep-Dish Apple Pie

Sliced apples (fresh or frozen), 1¼ cups granulated sugar, juice ½ lemon, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, pinch salt, 1 tablespoon butter.

Fill deep-dish baking pan with apples, generously; quantity depends on size of pan. Add sugar and lemon juice. Sprinkle with cinnamon, nutmeg and salt and dot with chips of butter. Cover with flaky pastry, making sure pastry is well over edge of pan. Brush with melted butter and prick with fork. Bake approximately one hour in moderate oven.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Melon, soft-cooked eggs, Yankee sweet rolls, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Williams Inn style chicken pie, garden salad bowl, rolls, butter or margarine, blackberries, tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled salmon steak, with lemon butter, parsley potatoes, buttered green beans with chopped dill, enriched bread, butter or magarine, sliced tomatoes, deep-dish apple pie with ice cream, coffee, milk.

New Rules Decreed

Castel Gandolfo, Aug. 6 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today decreed new rules for the church spiritual care of pilgrims, exiles and new refugees to meet changing world conditions. The rules were contained in an Apostolic Constitution dated Aug. 1, and released by the Vatican today. In two parts, the new constitutions deals with "the motherly solicitude of the church on behalf of emigrants," and details the norms for their spiritual care. The new Apostolic Constitution gives greater authority to chaplains aboard ships. Except in regard to the Sacrament of Matrimony, chaplains now have the same status as pastors, said the Vatican summary. In addition, where ships have permanent chapels, the chaplains will have the same status as pastors of churches.

Deep-Dish Apple Pie a Specialty

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Williamstown, Mass.—Here in this beautiful college town, where the Green Mountains of Vermont and the Berkshires of Massachusetts meet, our education in New England eating continues. Panfried native brook trout, chicken pie, rich and creamy (with no vegetables, fortunately), are part of the daily curriculum.

The Williams Inn, on the rolling, tree-shaded campus is sprawling, relaxing, and hospitable. It offers an outstanding post-graduate course in happy eating. But we have one complaint—although they served lobster at all other meals, they didn't serve it for breakfast.

Hot Yankee sweet rolls—and the Yankees sure can bake—were the big breakfast news; plus griddle cakes with that unbeatable Vermont maple syrup.

Here's an idea for Sunday supper or hot-night dinner we learned at the Williams Inn—cold breast of duck served with a large lettuce basket on the same plate, filled with fresh berries, fresh pineapple sticks, cubed apples and celery. It's beautiful to look at—perfect eating, too.

Clifford Ingham, the chef, and I sat on the flower-bordered lawn discussing the honest pleasure man can get from good food. I wanted his chicken pie recipe, and here it is:

Use a fat, five-pound fowl and cook it tender. You'll have enough meat for 4 or 5 individual servings. Use butter or chicken fat. Melt the fat to begin the roux (white sauce). Thin the sauce with very, very strong chicken stock. Flavor with onion (but strain the onion out later), salt and pepper and nothing else.

Arrange large pieces of chicken in individual baking dishes, cover with the sauce and top with good old-fashioned New England pie crust. It's as simple as all that—nothing fancy, no potatoes, no carrots or peas, no tricks—just Yankee chicken pie to perfection.

New Eugland deep-dish apple pie with rich vanilla ice cream on top—Mr. Ingham and I discussed this gift to mankind while bells from the college tower marked off the hours. Here's his recipe—simple, perfect, as authentic as the Green Mountains beyond the inn.

Deep-Dish Apple Pie

Sliced apples (fresh or frozen), 1¼ cups granulated sugar, juice ½ lemon, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, pinch salt, 1 tablespoon butter.

Fill deep-dish baking pan with apples, generously; quantity depends on size of pan. Add sugar and lemon juice. Sprinkle with cinnamon, nutmeg and salt and dot with chips of butter. Cover with flaky pastry, making sure pastry is well over edge of pan. Brush with melted butter and prick with fork. Bake approximately one hour in moderate oven.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Melon, soft-cooked eggs, Yankee sweet rolls, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Williams Inn style chicken pie, garden salad bowl, rolls, butter or margarine, blackberries, tea, milk.

A Spot of Tea for Frank

Breda O'Sullivan, Irish milkmaid who picked up a bottle on the seashore at Dingle, Ireland, six years ago and found the name of ex-GI Frank Hayostak, Johnstown, Pa., inside, pours a cup of tea for him at her County Kerry home. Hayostak, described by Breda up to now as "only a man in a bottle," flew to Ireland to meet Breda after nearly six years of correspondence. The meeting of the two brought holidayers from Irish homes as far away as Killarney and Bally Bunion. "She's very nice" was Hayostak's word to reporters after the two climbed out of a pony cart. "We haven't discussed marriage—yet," he added. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

flew to Ireland Tuesday. He plans to stay until Aug. 21.

While returning home on a troopship seven years ago, Hayostak put his name in a bottle and tossed it over the side.

He said: "I think the ship must have been 1,000 miles at sea when I did it."

Miss O'Sullivan found the bottle on the beach here and she and the former soldier began a lengthy correspondence.

That quiet beach seemed a very special place to them today.

Sub Interests Oldtimer

Long Beach, Calif. (AP)—An old "pig boat" man, who served on the first U. S. submarine, is angling for a ride as passenger when the first atom-powered sub is tested. He is Edward J. Krec, 64, who says he was a crewman aboard the USS Holland in 1907. In those days, says Krec, there was no escape hatch, periscope or compartmented hull— only a torpedo and and a dynamite gun. Krec says an old shipmate, Capt. H. G. Rickover, USN, is in charge of constructing the atom submarine.

Health for All

ACNE

Teen-agers are sometimes the victims of many aggravations, some real, others fancied.

One of the trials of the teens is the "adolescent affliction" known as acne. Acne is a chronic skin ailment, characterized by the appearance of small pimples and sometimes blackheads particularly about the face and at times on the chest and back. Although it attacks most frequently during adolescent years, older people and young children can also suffer from it.

Despite years of research on the subject, the exact cause of acne is still not known. Doctors believe that acne in adolescents is primarily linked with the physiological change and development taking place during those years.

We know more about factors which aggravate the condition. People suffering with acne should avoid drugs like iodides and bromides, exposures to external irritants like oils and tars, and certain foods such as chocolate, greasy and fried dishes, nuts, some types of fish, pork, and rich soda fountain concoctions.

In general, acne, is a chronic inflammation of the oil glands and hair follicles of the skin. Usually, the condition starts when the sebaceous, or oil glands, are clogged with dirt or dead skin cells. What we know as "blackheads" are the surface ends of these clogged pores, darkened by exposure. Pimples associated with acne result when the plugged glands become inflamed and infected.

Hence, cleanliness is of paramount importance in dealing with acne. The skin, particularly the affected area, should be kept clean with soap and warm water.

Scrupulous cleanliness will remove blackheads and clogged matter and will also discourage the formation of pimples by removing bacteria which might otherwise have a chance to set up infection.

While the cause, treatment, and cure of acne are still under study, the doctor or a dermatologist can give the sufferer relief and sometimes shorten the life of the skin ailment.

The idea that acne is a necessary part of adolescence and that the teen-ager will "grow out of it" is old fashioned and sometimes dangerous. Acne can and does leave scars on an individual's personality as well as his skin. It is foolish to suffer heartache and embarrassment from a stubborn case of acne when modern medical science can relieve or correct most skin ailments, including acne.

While neither the doctor nor skin specialist can guarantee to cure overnight a case of acne, proper medical treatment will bring about improvement or correction of the condition in a reasonable length of time.

Two New Polio Cases

Two new polio cases were reported to the Ulster County Health Department today, bringing the total for this week to four and the total in the county this year to 13. GI Receives Praise

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 7 (AP) —A GI jeep driver drew praise from German authorities today for forcing a runaway street car to a halt on a downhill street in Frankfurt. Pfc. Theodor Chicon, 24, of Chicago, Ill., saw the street car was in trouble and quickly drove in front of it. Using his jeep as a brake, he gradually slowed and stopped the car.

A Spot of Tea for Frank

Breda O'Sullivan, Irish milkmaid who picked up a bottle on the seashore at Dingle, Ireland, six years ago and found the name of ex-GI Frank Hayostak, Johnstown, Pa., inside, pours a cup of tea for him at her County Kerry home. Hayostak, described by Breda up to now as "only a man in a bottle," flew to Ireland to meet Breda after nearly six years of correspondence. The meeting of the two brought holidayers from Irish homes as far away as Killarney and Bally Bunion. "She's very nice" was Hayostak's word to reporters after the two climbed out of a pony cart. "We haven't discussed marriage—yet," he added. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Romance Seems

flew to Ireland Tuesday. He plans to stay until Aug. 21.

While returning home on a troopship seven years ago, Hayostak put his name in a bottle and tossed it over the side.

He said: "I think the ship must have been 1,000 miles at sea when I did it."

Miss O'Sullivan found the bottle on the beach here and she and the former soldier began a lengthy correspondence.

That quiet beach seemed a very special place to them today.

Sub Interests Oldtimer

Long Beach, Calif. (AP)—An old "pig boat" man, who served on the first U. S. submarine, is angling for a ride as passenger when the first atom-powered sub is tested. He is Edward J. Krec, 64, who says he was a crewman aboard the USS Holland in 1907. In those days, says Krec, there was no escape hatch, periscope or compartmented hull— only a torpedo and and a dynamite gun. Krec says an old shipmate, Capt. H. G. Rickover, USN, is in charge of constructing the atom submarine.

Health for All

ACNE

Teen-agers are sometimes the victims of many aggravations, some real, others fancied.

One of the trials of the teens is the "adolescent affliction" known as acne. Acne is a chronic skin ailment, characterized by the appearance of small pimples and sometimes blackheads particularly about the face and at times on the chest and back. Although it attacks most frequently during adolescent years, older people and young children can also suffer from it.

Despite years of research on the subject, the exact cause of acne is still not known. Doctors believe that acne in adolescents is primarily linked with the physiological change and development taking place during those years.

We know more about factors which aggravate the condition. People suffering with acne should avoid drugs like iodides and bromides, exposures to external irritants like oils and tars, and certain foods such as chocolate, greasy and fried dishes, nuts, some types of fish, pork, and rich soda fountain concoctions.

In general, acne, is a chronic inflammation of the oil glands and hair follicles of the skin. Usually, the condition starts when the sebaceous, or oil glands, are clogged with dirt or dead skin cells. What we know as "blackheads" are the surface ends of these clogged pores, darkened by exposure. Pimples associated with acne result when the plugged glands become inflamed and infected.

Hence, cleanliness is of paramount importance in dealing with acne. The skin, particularly the affected area, should be kept clean with soap and warm water.

Scrupulous cleanliness will remove blackheads and clogged matter and will also discourage the formation of pimples by removing bacteria which might otherwise have a chance to set up infection.

While the cause, treatment, and cure of acne are still under study, the doctor or a dermatologist can give the sufferer relief and sometimes shorten the life of the skin ailment.

The idea that acne is a necessary part of adolescence and that the teen-ager will "grow out of it" is old fashioned and sometimes dangerous. Acne can and does leave scars on an individual's personality as well as his skin. It is foolish to suffer heartache and embarrassment from a stubborn case of acne when modern medical science can relieve or correct most skin ailments, including acne.

While neither the doctor nor skin specialist can guarantee to cure overnight a case of acne, proper medical treatment will bring about improvement or correction of the condition in a reasonable length of time.

Becomes Bride in Double Ring Ceremony

MRS. ERLON LEON PRAY

Margaret Whalen Weds Erlon Leon Pray In St. Joseph's

Miss Margaret Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whalen, Sr., 26 Boulevard, became the bride of Erlon Leon Pray, son of Chester Pray and the late Mrs. Pray, Madison, Me., at 2 p. m. on Sunday, Aug. 3, in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 150 guests was held at The Alpine.

Musical selections were played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist, who also accompanied Marguerite B. Flaherty, vocalist, in the Ave Maria and Mother At Your Feet We're Kneeling. Gladioli and ferns were used to decorate the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of slipper satin, Victorian styled, with a fitted lace bodice, long pointed sleeves and a long skirt terminating in a circular train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of mother-of-pearl and orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book and white orchids.

Miss Mary Whalen was her sister's maid of honor. With her strapless gown and matching stole of carnation pink net over taffeta, she wore a halo bonnet and carried an arm bouquet of orchid gladioli.

Miss Betty Jane Whalen was her sister's bridesmaid. Her pale green net and lace off-the-shoulder gown was fashioned with an accordion plaited skirt. She wore a matching halo bonnet and carried yellow gladioli.

Master Sergeant Gerald F. Moroney of Fort Dix, N. J., was best man. Richard Whalen Jr. and Louis Whalen, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

Mrs. Pray was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed at the Hercules Powder Company in Port Ewen.

Mr. Pray, a veteran of World War 2 and the Korean campaign, is employed at Electrol Incorporated

Fancy Rabbit Names in Fur End, So Does Genet for Pussy

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—Planning to buy your wife an Arctic seal coat? Or a mendoza beaver? Or a galland squirrel?

Better grab your checkbook and start running, then. For after midnight tomorrow these fancy names will pass into history and all three furs must be sold under their right name: Rabbit.

Many another ad writer's pipedream—"river sable" for muskrat, for example, and "genet" for plain pussy cat—likewise will be outlawed when the new fur-labeling act, signed by President Truman a year ago, finally goes into effect.

This law says all fur coats and other fur garments must be advertised and sold under "the true English name of the animal from which the fur was taken."

Names Are Prepared

And the Federal Trade Commission, which will do most of the enforcing of the law, has prepared a list of 100 or so "true English names"—from alpaca to zebra—which will let the customer know just what fur he or she is buying.

Among the thought-up names thus ruled out: "black marten" for skunk, "blue Japanese wolf" for dyed goat, "Manchurian wolf" for Chinese dog.

Through this law, says Harvey H. Hannah, chief of FTC's wool and fur labeling division, "Congress has set out to remove the veil of confusion, uncertainty and obscurity which has for the past decade clouded the minds of many potential fur buyers."

Congress made it tough on any dealer who refuses to call a skunk a skunk, too. The penalties for violators run up to a $5,000 fine or a year in jail or both.

Besides doing away with such elegant subterfuges as "Baltic lion" for rabbit and "mand-o-coon" for dyed lamb, the law requires sellers to state (1) whether the fur is used, bleached or dyed, and (2) where the fur came from, if it's imported.

Miss Shirley Winters Becomes Bride of William G. Paulding

The marriage of Miss Shirley May Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winters, 102 West Bridge street, Saugerties, and William Gordon Paulding, son of Mrs. William Paulding, 55 Wrentham street, this city, took place at 2 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 2, in Trinity Church, Saugerties. The Rev. Peter W. Hill, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 60 guests was held at Pleasant Valley Inn, Saugerties.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white floor length strapless gown of Chantilly lace styled with a redingote over nylon. Her fingertip veil was attached to a cap of Chantilly lace, rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a single red rose in the center.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Percy Dederick, organist.

Mrs. Carmella Tompkins was the honor attendant. She was attired in a gown of blue marquisette fashioned over yellow taffeta, a short cape, blue picture hat and mitts. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

James R. Gordon of New York was best man. Walter Simmons and Frank Canger of Saugerties served as ushers.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York, the couple will reside at West Bridge street, Saugerties. For traveling, the bride chose a beige suit, brown accessories and a rose corsage.

Mrs. Paulding was graduated from the Saugerties High School in June of this year.

Mr. Paulding attended Samuel Gompers High School, New York, and is employed at Sprague Electric Company, this city. He served for two years with the Transportation Corps, U. S. Army, in the Berlin Airlift.

Becomes Bride in Double Ring Ceremony

MRS. ERLON LEON PRAY

Margaret Whalen Weds Erlon Leon Pray In St. Joseph's

Miss Margaret Whalen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whalen, Sr., 26 Boulevard, became the bride of Erlon Leon Pray, son of Chester Pray and the late Mrs. Pray, Madison, Me., at 2 p. m. on Sunday, Aug. 3, in St. Joseph's Church. The Rev. John D. Simmons officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 150 guests was held at The Alpine.

Musical selections were played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist, who also accompanied Marguerite B. Flaherty, vocalist, in the Ave Maria and Mother At Your Feet We're Kneeling. Gladioli and ferns were used to decorate the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of slipper satin, Victorian styled, with a fitted lace bodice, long pointed sleeves and a long skirt terminating in a circular train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of mother-of-pearl and orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book and white orchids.

Miss Mary Whalen was her sister's maid of honor. With her strapless gown and matching stole of carnation pink net over taffeta, she wore a halo bonnet and carried an arm bouquet of orchid gladioli.

Miss Betty Jane Whalen was her sister's bridesmaid. Her pale green net and lace off-the-shoulder gown was fashioned with an accordion plaited skirt. She wore a matching halo bonnet and carried yellow gladioli.

Master Sergeant Gerald F. Moroney of Fort Dix, N. J., was best man. Richard Whalen Jr. and Louis Whalen, brothers of the bride, served as ushers.

Mrs. Pray was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed at the Hercules Powder Company in Port Ewen.

Mr. Pray, a veteran of World War 2 and the Korean campaign, is employed at Electrol Incorporated

Conducts Chorus

ROBERT STEPHAN HINES

Robert Stephan Hines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hines of 93 Pine Grove avenue, recently visited his home before leaving for Detroit, Mich., to assume his duties as conductor of the General Motors chorus.

In May of this year, Mr. Hines was graduated in choral conducting from the Julliard School of Music in New York city where he was a scholarship student and a member of the dean's list.

While at Juilliard, he married Germaine Lahiff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lahiff of Amherst, Ohio. Mrs. Hines was graduated from Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio; Columbia University, New York, and was recently appointed to the faculty of St. John's University in Long Island.

Fancy Rabbit Names in Fur End, So Does Genet for Pussy

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—Planning to buy your wife an Arctic seal coat? Or a mendoza beaver? Or a galland squirrel?

Better grab your checkbook and start running, then. For after midnight tomorrow these fancy names will pass into history and all three furs must be sold under their right name: Rabbit.

Many another ad writer's pipedream—"river sable" for muskrat, for example, and "genet" for plain pussy cat—likewise will be outlawed when the new fur-labeling act, signed by President Truman a year ago, finally goes into effect.

This law says all fur coats and other fur garments must be advertised and sold under "the true English name of the animal from which the fur was taken."

Names Are Prepared

And the Federal Trade Commission, which will do most of the enforcing of the law, has prepared a list of 100 or so "true English names"—from alpaca to zebra—which will let the customer know just what fur he or she is buying.

Among the thought-up names thus ruled out: "black marten" for skunk, "blue Japanese wolf" for dyed goat, "Manchurian wolf" for Chinese dog.

Through this law, says Harvey H. Hannah, chief of FTC's wool and fur labeling division, "Congress has set out to remove the veil of confusion, uncertainty and obscurity which has for the past decade clouded the minds of many potential fur buyers."

Congress made it tough on any dealer who refuses to call a skunk a skunk, too. The penalties for violators run up to a $5,000 fine or a year in jail or both.

Besides doing away with such elegant subterfuges as "Baltic lion" for rabbit and "mand-o-coon" for dyed lamb, the law requires sellers to state (1) whether the fur is used, bleached or dyed, and (2) where the fur came from, if it's imported.

Miss Shirley Winters Becomes Bride of William G. Paulding

The marriage of Miss Shirley May Winters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Winters, 102 West Bridge street, Saugerties, and William Gordon Paulding, son of Mrs. William Paulding, 55 Wrentham street, this city, took place at 2 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 2, in Trinity Church, Saugerties. The Rev. Peter W. Hill, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 60 guests was held at Pleasant Valley Inn, Saugerties.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white, floor length strapless gown of Chantilly lace styled with a redingote over nylon. Her fingertip veil was attached to a cap of Chantilly lace, rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a single red rose in the center.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Percy Dederick, organist.

Mrs. Carmella Tompkins was the honor attendant. She was attired in a gown of blue marquisette fashioned over yellow taffeta, a short cape, blue picture hat and mitts. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

James R. Gordon of New York was best man. Walter Simmons and Frank Canger of Saugerties served as ushers.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York, the couple will reside at West Bridge street, Saugerties. For traveling, the bride chose a beige suit, brown accessories and a rose corsage.

Mrs. Paulding was graduated from the Saugerties High School in June of this year.

Mr. Paulding attended Samuel Gompers High School, New York, and is employed at Sprague Electric Company, this city. He served for two years with the Transportation Corps, U. S. Army, in the Berlin Airlift.

Housing Shortage Acute

Tokyo, (AP)—Metropolitan Tokyo is virtually bursting at the seams, with more than 300,000 additional Japanese pouring into the city from the provinces each year. The Tokyo city office reports 530,000 families urgently need housing. These families are trying to share one-room shacks with other families. In the workers' residential districts most of the houses were built hastily on bombed-out ruins. They are less well-built than the log cabins on the American frontier 100 years ago.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

"WHO'S CALLING?"

A man writes: "My wife and I are living in my father's house and we share the same telephone. Whenever my father answers the telephone he always asks who is calling. My wife resents this very much and thinks it's an infringement on her privacy. Will you please give me your opinion as this is causing a great deal of unpleasantness in our house?"

I am rather puzzled to know how she is to decide whether to go to the telephone or not without knowing who is calling. On the other hand, I do not think that if the person calling asks for Betty, most of us would simply call out, "Betty! Telephone for you!"

A Wedding Is not a Recital

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance has a beautiful tenor voice. Is there any reason why he could not sing at our wedding? I would rather have him sing than anyone else and I think it would add quite a sentimental note to the wedding.

Answer: If unseen, he might perhaps sing while guests are assembling, but he certainly could not sing during the ceremony.

When Introduced

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a point of etiquette for me that has been troubling me somewhat of late? As secretary, should I rise and shake hands with people to whom I am introduced by my employer?

Answer: You rise and smile and bow slightly. You always take the hand held out to you, but otherwise you do not offer yours, nor do you usually say anything further than "How d'you do!" You then sit down and, of course, answer if spoken to.

Silver Bell

Dear Mrs. Post: When is a dinner bell properly used? I was given a lovely sterling silver bell and as I have no maid wondered whether I might use it to announce dinner when I have company.

Answer: A bell rung by anyone would be all wrong unless by company you mean "house guests." To call them (or your family alone) would be proper. Otherwise, when you have people in for a meal you yourself say, "Will you come in to dinner."

What are some suggestions for a surprise party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-13, "Showers" includes details for surprise parties. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Summer Mud Stains

Let summer mud stains on clothing dry thoroughly before you try to remove them. Then brush the stain well before sponging with clear water. If soap and water will not harm the material it may be used. Sponging with alcohol will usually help to remove the last traces of the stain. On colored materials and aceate rayon dilute the alcohol—1 cup denatured alcohol to 2 cups water.

Housing Shortage Acute

Tokyo, (AP)—Metropolitan Tokyo is virtually bursting at the seams, with more than 300,000 additional Japanese pouring into the city from the provinces each year. The Tokyo city office reports 530,000 families urgently need housing. These families are trying to share one-room shacks with other families. In the workers' residential districts most of the houses were built hastily on bombed-out ruins. They are less well-built than the log cabins on the American frontier 100 years ago.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

"WHO'S CALLING?"

A man writes: "My wife and I are living in my father's house and we share the same telephone. Whenever my father answers the telephone he always asks who is calling. My wife resents this very much and thinks it's an infringement on her privacy. Will you please give me your opinion as this is causing a great deal of unpleasantness in our house?"

I am rather puzzled to know how she is to decide whether to go to the telephone or not without knowing who is calling. On the other hand, I do not think that if the person calling asks for Betty, most of us would simply call out, "Betty! Telephone for you!"

A Wedding Is not a Recital

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance has a beautiful tenor voice. Is there any reason why he could not sing at our wedding? I would rather have him sing than anyone else and I think it would add quite a sentimental note to the wedding.

Answer: If unseen, he might perhaps sing while guests are assembling, but he certainly could not sing during the ceremony.

When Introduced

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please settle a point of etiquette for me that has been troubling me somewhat of late? As secretary, should I rise and shake hands with people to whom I am introduced by my employer?

Answer: You rise and smile and bow slightly. You always take the hand held out to you, but otherwise you do not offer yours, nor do you usually say anything further than "How d'you do!" You then sit down and, of course, answer if spoken to.

Silver Bell

Dear Mrs. Post: When is a dinner bell properly used? I was given a lovely sterling silver bell and as I have no maid wondered whether I might use it to announce dinner when I have company.

Answer: A bell rung by anyone would be all wrong unless by company you mean "house guests." To call them (or your family alone) would be proper. Otherwise, when you have people in for a meal you yourself say, "Will you come in to dinner."

Summer Mud Stains

Let summer mud stains on clothing dry thoroughly before you try to remove them. Then brush the stain well before sponging with clear water. If soap and water will not harm the material it may be used. Sponging with alcohol will usually help to remove the last traces of the stain. On colored materials and aceate rayon dilute the alcohol—1 cup denatured alcohol to 2 cups water.

District 3 Little League Tournament Play to Resume Here Tonight

Hopewell Junction And Poughkeepsie Ready for Contest

KAA to Meet Winner On Friday Night

KAA Tourney Results
First Round Games

Poughkeepsie Americans 13, Harlem Valley 9.

Millerton 3, Saugerties 0.

Queen City 5, Highland 0.

Kingston 4, Poughkeepsie Nationals 2.

Home Town, Poughkeepsie 6, Hyde Park 1.

Semi-Finals

Hopewell Junction 6, Poughkeepsie Americans 0.

Kingston 4, Queen City 2.

Rain washed out last night's action in the Little League District 3 tournament at the 156th Field Artillery diamond but the weatherman has promised a break for tonight's skirmish.

Tonight's tilt, scheduled for 5:45 o'clock, will bring together Hopewell Junction and the Poughkeepsie Americans.

Meanwhile, LL fans, and there are a lot of them around, continue to re-hash Kingston's second victory in the District 3 tournament Tuesday night when the locals scored a 4 to 2 squeaker victory over the Queen City All Stars of Poughkeepsie.

As a matter of fact, it was Kingston's second win by the same score in tournament action. Earlier, the KAA All Stars registered a 4 to 2 triumph over the Poughkeepsie Nationals.

Either Hopewell Junction or the Poughkeepsie Americans, who collide tonight, will engage the KAA Little League Stars Friday night at the armory diamond.

Glenn Newell is the likely starter for the local club.

Locals Look Formidable

Friday night's winner will enter the finals which are scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the local LL Stadium. The Friday night winner will meet the Poughkeepsie Americans, another Bridge City club entered under the same banner. The Bridge City team is managed by Ed Cotton.

On the strength of their showing to date, the KAA All Stars appear very formidable for Friday night's vital encounter.

Blessed with good pitching offered by young Glenn Newell and Danny Steltz, plus a good hitting attack, the locals are primed for their big test Friday night.

Of course, when you speak about the pitching prospects of the locals one can't overlook the nifty relief performance of Tom Van Etten in Tuesday night's thriller.

Van Etten Sharp

Van Etten, who opened the game at second base, came on to relieve Steltz with runners on first and second, none out and a 3-0 count on the Poughkeepsie batter. Van Etten pitched out of trouble and continued to handcuff the Bridge City opposition in the sixth inning.

Hobart Armstrong, the KAA centerfielder, unloaded the first homer of the tournament in Tuesday's game, a long shot over the right centerfield wall. The round-tripper climaxed Kingston's three-run rally in the fourth inning to keep the club's tournament hopes alive.

Paltz Trap Shoot Scheduled Sunday

The New Paltz Rod and Gun Club will hold a trapshoot Sunday, August 10.

Traps will be opened at 1:30 p. m.

All area shooters are invited to take part.

The Paltz shoots have been popular affairs in recent years and Gun Club officials expect another record attendance.

Saugerties Nips Lanesville in 9th

Saugerties scored a run in the top of the ninth and then balked Lanesville in a tense, last half inning to register a 1-0 victory over the home club Sunday on the Lanesville diamond.

Nicklavich's double to left and Knauert's scratch back of the mound accounted for the Saugerties marker.

Lanesville staged a last ditch rally in its half of the ninth, loading the bases with none out. And yet failed to score.

Herdman doubled to right center; Clark scratched an infield single and Ray Smith walked on a 3-2 pitch to jam the sacks.

Quinn missed a high fast pitch on an attempted squeeze play and Herdman was hung up off third base. Quinn then forced Clark at third and Lee grounded to first for the final out.

Swart Fans 13

Swart, the Saugerties flinger, permitted only three hits—two of them by Herdman—and struck out nine to best Bud Smith in a great pitching duel. Smith was even greater in the strikeout department, with 13, but yielded eight hits.

Nicklavich, who scored the winning run, poled a single and double.

Lanesville is host to the Albany Elks Sunday and expects to encounter Jack Paterson, ex-Can Am League hurler who defeated them, 3-2, with a two-hitter in the first meeting of the clubs early this season.

Satchmo Fans Nine, Gives Only 2 Walks

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Wr

Old Satchmo still has it.

Even if he is "43 and going on 49," as some folks say, Satchel Paige of the St. Louis Browns still has the stuff to bewilder big league hitters. Let there be no doubt about it.

If Paige had spent his career in the majors, instead of knocking around the exhibition circuit in the Negro leagues, he would have been a sure thing for the Cooperstown Hall of Fame.

Satchmo chose to desert the bull pen last night for a starting role—the second time he'd tried it this year. Even youngsters wilt in the late innings but not Paige. Locked in a 0-0 duel with Detroit's Virgil Trucks, he pitched nine shutout innings. After Trucks gave way to a pinch hitter in the 10th and Hal White took over, Paige still was in there throwing goose eggs at the Tigers in the 10th, 11th and 12th.

Nieman's Hit Decides

Bob Nieman's bases-loaded single with two out in the 12th finally got him home with a 1-0 win, his eighth of the year. The box score showed only seven hits for the Tigers—six of them singles. Satchel walked only two and struck out nine in his brilliant effort.

In the 10th the Tigers loaded the bases with nobody out. Paige made pinch hitter Johnny Pesky and Johnny Groth ground into force plays at the plate. Then he struck out Neil Berry on three straight called strikes.

Walt Masterson pitched the Washington Senators to a 6-4 victory over New York, striking out 11 Yanks.

The bespectacled righthander whiffed Mickey Mantle four straight times and Hank Bauer, Yogi Berra and Harry Schaeffer twice each. He allowed only one hit in the last five innings after being blasted for three runs in the fourth.

Ostrowski Blows Lead

Schaeffer was in trouble all night due to wildness so Casey Stengel lifted him for a hitter in the sixth. Joe Ostrowski, his replacement, quickly blew a 4-3 lead. A double by Eddie Yost, a walk to Jim Busby and a double by Jackie Jensen tied the score and brought in Johnny Schmitz. Phil Rizzuto's wild throw trying for a double play let two runs score and gave Washington the game.

The loss shrunk the Yanks' lead to three games because Cleveland won its day game from Chicago, 7-1 for Early Wynn's 13th victory. Larry Doby, who hit his 24th homer off Bill Kennedy in the first, ruined Wynn's shutout when he fumbled Eddie Robinson's single, permitting Minnie Minoso to score the lone White Sox run in the ninth.

Rain washed out the Boston at Philadelphia night game in the American. And the Philadelphia at Boston twi-night doubleheader in the National.

Cards Keep Climbing

Brooklyn and New York, still weary from their midnight struggle of Tuesday night, got in one inning at the Polo Grounds before rain forced a postponement. The Dodgers were leading at the time 1-0 on Billy Cox's home run off Max Lanier.

Eddie Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals, making up ground in leaps and bounds, pulled within nine games of Brooklyn by knocking off Pittsburgh twice, 7-2 in 10 innings, and 3-2. The Cards have won 10 of their last 13 games.

Turk Lown pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 5-3 win over Cincinnati after replacing Paul Minner in the first inning.

Hopewell Junction And Poughkeepsie Ready for Contest

KAA to Meet Winner On Friday Night

KAA Tourney Results
First Round Games

Poughkeepsie Americans 13, Harlem Valley 9.
Millerton 3, Saugerties 0.
Queen City 5, Highland 0.
Kingston 4, Poughkeepsie Nationals 2.
Home Town, Poughkeepsie 6, Hyde Park 1.

Semi-Finals

Hopewell Junction 6, Poughkeepsie Americans 0.
Kingston 4, Queen City 2.

Rain washed out last night's action in the Little League District 3 tournament at the 156th Field Artillery diamond but the weatherman has promised a break for tonight's skirmish.

Tonight's tilt, scheduled for 5:45 o'clock, will bring together Hopewell Junction and the Poughkeepsie Americans.

Meanwhile, LL fans, and there are a lot of them around, continue to re-hash Kingston's second victory in the District 3 tournament Tuesday night when the locals scored a 4 to 2 squeaker victory over the Queen City All Stars of Poughkeepsie.

As a matter of fact, it was Kingston's second win by the same score in tournament action. Earlier, the KAA All Stars registered a 4 to 2 triumph over the Poughkeepsie Nationals.

Either Hopewell Junction or the Poughkeepsie Americans, who collide tonight, will engage the KAA Little League Stars Friday night at the armory diamond.

Glenn Newell is the likely starter for the local club.

Locals Look Formidable

Friday night's winner will enter the finals which are scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the local LL Stadium. The Friday night winner will meet the Poughkeepsie Americans, another Bridge City club entered under the same banner. The Bridge City team is managed by Ed Cotton.

On the strength of their showing to date, the KAA All Stars appear very formidable for Friday night's vital encounter.

Blessed with good pitching offered by young Glenn Newell and Danny Steltz, plus a good hitting attack, the locals are primed for their big test Friday night.

Of course, when you speak about the pitching prospects of the locals one can't overlook the nifty relief performance of Tom Van Etten in Tuesday night's thriller.

Van Etten Sharp

Van Etten, who opened the game at second base, came on to relieve Steltz with runners on first and second, none out and a 3-0 count on the Poughkeepsie batter. Van Etten pitched out of trouble and continued to handcuff the Bridge City opposition in the sixth inning.

Hobart Armstrong, the KAA centerfielder, unloaded the first homer of the tournament in Tuesday's game, a long shot over the right centerfield wall. The roundtripper climaxed Kingston's three-run rally in the fourth inning to keep the club's tournament hopes alive.

Pittsburgh — The Pirates brought up Ron Necciai, who struck out 27 batters earlier in the season with Bristol (Tenn.).

Paltz Trap Shoot Scheduled Sunday

The New Paltz Rod and Gun Club will hold a trapshoot Sunday, August 10.

Traps will be opened at 1:30 p. m.

All area shooters are invited to take part.

Saugerties Nips Lanesville in 9th

Saugerties scored a run in the top of the ninth and then balked Lanesville in a tense, last half inning to register a 1-0 victory over the home club Sunday on the Lanesville diamond.

Nicklavich's double to left and Knauert's scratch back of the mound accounted for the Saugerties marker.

Lanesville staged a last ditch rally in its half of the ninth, loading the bases with none out. And yet failed to score.

Herdman doubled to right center; Clark scratched an infield single and Ray Smith walked on a 3-2 pitch to jam the sacks.

Quinn missed a high fast pitch on an attempted squeeze play and Herdman was hung up off third base. Quinn then forced Clark at third and Lee grounded to first for the final out.

Swart Fans 13

Swart, the Saugerties flinger, permitted only three hits—two of them by Herdman—and struck out nine to best Bud Smith in a great pitching duel. Smith was even greater in the strikeout department, with 13, but yielded eight hits.

Nicklavich, who scored the winning run, poled a single and double.

Lanesville is host to the Albany Elks Sunday and expects to encounter Jack Paterson, ex-Can Am League hurler who defeated them, 3-2, with a two-hitter in the first meeting of the clubs early this season.

Satchmo Fans Nine, Gives Only 2 Walks

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Wr

Old Satchmo still has it.

Even if he is "43 and going on 49," as some folks say, Satchel Paige of the St. Louis Browns still has the stuff to bewilder big league hitters. Let there be no doubt about it.

If Paige had spent his career in the majors, instead of knocking around the exhibition circuit in the Negro leagues, he would have been a sure thing for the Coopers-town Hall of Fame.

Satchmo chose to desert the bull pen last night for a starting role—the second time he'd tried it this year. Even youngsters wilt in the late innings but not Paige. Locked in a 0-0 duel with Detroit's Virgil Trucks, he pitched nine shutout innings. After Trucks gave way to a pinch hitter in the 10th and Hal White took over, Paige still was in there throwing goose eggs at the Tigers in the 10th, 11th and 12th.

Nieman's Hit Decides

Bob Nieman's bases-loaded single with two out in the 12th finally got him home with a 1-0 win, his eighth of the year. The box score showed only seven hits for the Tigers—six of them singles. Satchel walked only two and struck out nine in his brilliant effort.

In the 10th the Tigers loaded the bases with nobody out. Paige made pinch hitter Johnny Pesky and Johnny Groth ground into force plays at the plate. Then he struck out Neil Berry on three straight called strikes.

Walt Masterson pitched the Washington Senators to a 6-4 victory over New York, striking out 11 Yanks.

The bespectacled righthander whiffed Mickey Mantle four straight times and Hank Bauer, Yogi Berra and Harry Schaeffer twice each. He allowed only one hit in the last five innings after being blasted for three runs in the fourth.

Ostrowski Blows Lead

Schaeffer was in trouble all night due to wildness so Casey Stengel lifted him for a hitter in the sixth. Joe Ostrowski, his replacement, quickly blew a 4-3 lead. A double by Eddie Yost, a walk to Jim Busby and a double by Jackie Jensen tied the score and brought in Johnny Schmitz. Phil Rizzuto's wild throw trying for a double play let two runs score and gave Washington the game.

The loss shrunk the Yanks' lead to three games because Cleveland won its day game from Chicago, 7-1 for Early Wynn's 13th victory. Larry Doby, who hit his 24th homer off Bill Kennedy in the first, ruined Wynn's shutout when he fumbled Eddie Robinson's single, permitting Minnie Minoso to score the lone White Sox run in the ninth.

Rain washed out the Boston at Philadelphia night game in the American. And the Philadelphia at Boston twi-night doubleheader in the National.

Cards Keep Climbing

Brooklyn and New York, still weary from their midnight struggle of Tuesday night, got in one inning at the Polo Grounds before rain forced a postponement. The Dodgers were leading at the time 1-0 on Billy Cox's home run off Max Lanier.

Eddie Stanky's St. Louis Cardinals, making up ground in leaps and bounds, pulled within nine games of Brooklyn by knocking off Pittsburgh twice, 7-2 in 10 innings, and 3-2. The Cards have won 10 of their last 13 games.

Turk Lown pitched the Chicago Cubs to a 5-3 win over Cincinnati after replacing Paul Minner in the first inning.

16 Horses Ready For Goshen Race

Goshen, N. Y.. Aug. 7 (AP)—Sixteen finely tuned horses brought their argument for the three-year-old trotting championship down to Bill Cane's triangular-shaped Good Time Park track today—weather permitting.

Rain interrupted their plans to settle the argument yesterday turning the racing strip into sticky, holding mud. It still was coming down early today, and plenty of sunshine was needed to forestall another postponement.

Several thousand fans already were milling around the track when Cane decided there had been too much rain to permit the valuable equines to take the track in quest of the purse of $87,637.55—second richest in the history of the 26-year-old stake.

It was the second straight year that rain had forced postponement of the trotting horse derby. And not since 1927 has there been more than one day delay. That year it rained all week at Syracuse and the stake finally was raced off at Lexington.

The racing strip was soaked by something resembling a cloudburst early Tuesday morning and then, just when it appeared that the track could be put into fair condition, the clouds opened up again.

But the weather didn't make any change in the odds. Duke of Lullwater from the barns of W. T. Candler of Decatur, Ga., and driven by 32-year-old Johnny Simpson remained the 3 to 1 choice, to take the best of three heats starting at 2 p. m. (EST).

The Duke held the top spot in the advance odds even though the two setbacks he received last year while winning the two-year-old title were over this same track. And it was in Goshen, only at the nearby half mile oval, that he he was whipped twice this year.

SCORE BY A FLYING SAUCER?

Umpire Frank Secory must have seen Reds' Hank Edwards sliding across plate because he called him safe, but to the camera and fans in the stands all that was visible besides Chicago catcher Toby Atwell and the ball was a great cloud of dust. Ball nears ground after falling from Atwell's glove. Cubs won, 5-3, in game at Cincinnati. (AP Wirephoto)

Layne Favorite Over Ez Charles

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 7 (AP)—Rex Layne, Utah's hope for the world's heavyweight championship, ruled a 6-5 favorite today to whip Ezzard Charles in their 10-round fight tomorrow night in Municipal Stadium.

Promoter Kenny Mayne said the fight will be Utah's own version of the championship. He will present a championship belt to the winner on the ground that Charles is "the uncrowned champion of the world."

Many boxing writers thought Charles beat champion Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia in June.

A possible shot at the winner of the Rocky Marciano-Walcott title go in September may be the prize for Friday night's winner.

Best guess on the gate is an attendance of 25,000 and a gate of possibly $200,000. Mayne's cash box already is stuffed with $100,000 in advance ticket sales.

The Layne-Charles main event is expected to get underway about 11:45 p. m. (EST). There will be no radio and no television. In case of rain, the fight will be postponed until Saturday night.

Jack Dempsey, the former Manassa, Colo., mauler who fought here and in Salt Lake City before World War 1, will be the referee and sole judge.

HOW HAVE THE MIGHTY FALLEN—Atlantico, the once-proud white stallion Benito Mussolini rode in scores of Fascist parades and reviews, now humbly pulls a sightseeing carriage around Rome. Immediately after the war, the 20-year-old horse was bought by a movie company and used in several films. Then it was sold to a cab service and until a few months ago hauled sightseers through the capital. Now, with little demand for horse cabs, the owners of Il Duce's old steed accept any pay load, such as the load of hay he's pulling above.

Trials Are Postponed

New York, Aug. 7 (AP) — The trials of gamblers Frank Erickson and Joe Adonis on charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate were postponed yesterday until Sept. 3. The new date was set by Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey. Erickson and Adonis were indicted last year with Frank Costello on charges of refusing to answer certain questions before the Senate Crime Committee hearings here. Costello was convicted and sentenced to 18 months in prison and fined $2,000. He is free in $5,000 bail pending appeal.

Subways Turn Back Beicherts by 8 to 7

Last Inning Rally Wins Playoff Game

Trailing by 7 to 6 going into the last inning, Subway Grill came from behind with a two-run rally to nose out Beicherts by 8 to 7 in a playoff game for second place in the City Softball League this week at Block Park.

Al Hunt, who relieved Walt Bigler for the winners in the sixth inning, was credited with the victory and his squeeze play spelled the difference in the seventh inning uprising as well.

The Subways blew a 6-1 lead built up in the first four frames, two in the first and four more in the fourth.

Beicherts bounced back with a single tally in the third, two in the fourth and three in the fifth. Another run in the sixth gave them a shirt-lived 7-6 lead.

Bigler, who started for the Grillers, crashed a homer and a single. Dan Basch of Beicherts also poled a homer.

The fielding gem of the game was Fred Orr's sensational catch of a drive in the outfield.

Joe Enright went the route for the losers and was touched up for 11 blows. Bigler and Hunt gave up 10 hits between them.

Question: Who was the last major league ball player to manufacture an unassisted triple play?

Answer: Johnny Neun, playing first base for Detroit, pulled the trick against Cleveland, May 31, 1927.

Q. A batter is on a consecutive hitting streak, and on his first time at bat in the next game he pops up. The game, however, is rained out before the contest becomes official. Does that time at bat interrupt his hitting streak?

A. No, since the game is unofficial everything connected with it is struck off the records. Thus his streak is still alive going into the next game.

Q. How many members of Brooklyn's 1941 pennant-winning team are still playing with the Dodgers?

A. Only one, Pee Wee Reese.

Q. What is the longest losing streak on big league records?

A. Cleveland, then a National League entrant, dropped 24 straight in 1899.

Van Wert Pitching And Hitting Star

The Esopus Little League Giants are in a second place tie with the Yankees this morning thanks to a top-notch pitching and hitting performance by young Carl Van Wert.

Van Wert, who has shown much promise in the Esopus LL this season hurled a two-hitter for the Giants to turn back the Yankees by 4 to 2.

Not satisfied with his strong pitching effort, Van Wert contributed to his own cause by lashing out a homer.

The youngster didn't allow a run until the sixth but by that time he had a comfortable 4-0 lead. The Yankees touched him for another single tally in the bottom half of the last frame.

While limiting the losers to two hits, both singles by O'Donnell and Fitzgerald, Van Wert rolled up 12 strikeouts, one less than his pitching opponent, Albert McIntoch.

Leading the Giants' artillery were Thomas, Watson and Barnes who each collected a pair of hits.

91 Will Compete In 'World Golf'

Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—Golf's biggest gold rush is on today.

With $90,000 at stake, 80 men pros and 11 play-for-pay gals start swinging in the "world championship of golf" at Tam O'Shanter course for the unprecedented prizes.

Promoter George S. May's "world" meet also has amateur competition for men and women in a sort of four-ringed circus, but the pro showdown for a $25,000 men's first prize and $5,000 feminine top grab held the spotlight.

The previous high payoff for any pro event was the $12,500 May gave Ben Hogan for winning last year's "world." Now the purse has been doubled with the second prize pegged at $12,500 and the third at $5,000. In all $75,000 will be paid through 41 places.

Samuel Jackson Snead is the man to whip for the $25,000 pot.

Snead strolled off with the All-American last week with a 17-under-par 271, eight strokes ahead of the field, thus padding his bank account by $3,420.

Snead has the feel of Tam's par 36-36—72, 6,915-yard layout, judging by his 67-65-74-65 All-American showing.

Satterfield Victor, Rematch Is Possible

Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—A rematch booked for Philadelphia was brewing today after Chicago's Bob Satterfield, a 7-2 underdog, defeated Harold Johnson in a battle of power-punching light heavyweights.

Johnson, 23, a Philadelphia Negro and No. 3 light-heavy contender, said after last night's televised scrap at Chicago Stadium that he would welcome another chance at the unpredictable Satterfield.

Satterfield, a mustachioed Negro from Chicago's southside, needed the win last night to get back into good standing in the 175 pound division after losing his last three starts.

It was a 10 round split decision with Referee Tommy Gilmore voting 51-49 for Satterfield, Judge Edward Hintz 54-46 for the same fighter and Judge John Bray voting 52-48 for Johnson.

Subways Turn Back Beicherts by 8 to 7

Last Inning Rally Wins Playoff Game

Trailing by 7 to 6 going into the last inning, Subway Grill came from behind with a two-run rally to nose out Beicherts by 8 to 7 in a playoff game for second place in the City Softball League this week at Block Park.

Al Hunt, who relieved Walt Bigler for the winners in the sixth inning, was credited with the victory and his squeeze play spelled the difference in the seventh inning uprising as well.

The Subways blew a 6-1 lead built up in the first four frames, two in the first and four more in the fourth.

Beicherts bounced back with a single tally in the third, two in the fourth and three in the fifth. Another run in the sixth gave them a shirt-lived 7-6 lead.

Bigler, who started for the Grillers, crashed a homer and a single. Dan Basch of Beicherts also poled a homer.

The fielding gem of the game was Fred Orr's sensational catch of a drive in the outfield.

Joe Enright went the route for the losers and was touched up for 11 blows. Bigler and Hunt gave up 10 hits between them.

Esopus Giants Trip Yankees by 4 to 2

Van Wert Pitching And Hitting Star

The Esopus Little League Giants are in a second place tie with the Yankees this morning thanks to a top-notch pitching and hitting performance by young Carl Van Wert.

Van Wert, who has shown much promise in the Esopus LL this season hurled a two-hitter for the Giants to turn back the Yankees by 4 to 2.

Not satisfied with his strong pitching effort, Van Wert contributed to his own cause by lashing out a homer.

The youngster didn't allow a run until the sixth but by that time he had a comfortable 4-0 lead. The Yankees touched him for another single tally in the bottom half of the last frame.

While limiting the losers to two hits, both singles by O'Donnell and Fitzgerald, Van Wert rolled up 12 strikeouts, one less than his pitching opponent, Albert McIntoch.

Leading the Giants' artillery were Thomas, Watson and Barnes who each collected a pair of hits.

Question: Who was the last major league ball player to manufacture an unassisted triple play?

Answer: Johnny Neun, playing first base for Detroit, pulled the trick against Cleveland, May 31, 1927.

Q. A batter is on a consecutive hitting streak, and on his first time at bat in the next game he pops up. The game, however, is rained out before the contest becomes official. Does that time at bat interrupt his hitting streak?

A. No, since the game is unofficial everything connected with it is struck off the records. Thus his streak is still alive going into the next game.

Q. How many members of Brooklyn's 1941 pennant-winning team are still playing with the Dodgers?

A. Only one, Pee Wee Reese.

Q. What is the longest losing streak on big league records?

A. Cleveland, then a National League entrant, dropped 24 straight in 1899.

Chicago — Tio Ciro ($6.00) won the $29,300 Meadowland Handicap at Washington Park.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—Great Captain ($12.70) captured the Sacandaga purse at Saratoga.

Oceanport, N. J.—General Staff ($4.80) took the $15,000-added Salvator mile at Monmouth Park.

Layne Favorite Over Ez Charles

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 7 (AP)—Rex Layne, Utah's hope for the world's heavyweight championship, ruled a 6-5 favorite today to whip Ezzard Charles in their 10-round fight tomorrow night in Municipal Stadium.

Promoter Kenny Mayne said the fight will be Utah's own version of the championship. He will present a championship belt to the winner on the ground that Charles is "the uncrowned champion of the world."

Many boxing writers thought Charles beat champion Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia in June.

A possible shot at the winner of the Rocky Marciano-Walcott title go in September may be the prize for Friday night's winner.

Best guess on the gate is an attendance of 25,000 and a gate of possibly $200,000. Mayne's cash box already is stuffed with $100,000 in advance ticket sales.

The Layne-Charles main event is expected to get underway about 11:45 p. m. (EST). There will be no radio and no television. In case of rain, the fight will be postponed until Saturday night.

Jack Dempsey, the former Manassa, Colo., mauler who fought here and in Salt Lake City before World War 1, will be the referee and sole judge.

91 Will Compete In 'World Golf'

Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—Golf's biggest gold rush is on today.

With $90,000 at stake, 80 men pros and 11 play-for-pay gals start swinging in the "world championship of golf" at Tam O'Shanter course for the unprecedented prizes.

Promoter George S. May's "world" meet also has amateur competition for men and women in a sort of four-ringed circus, but the pro showdown for a $25,000 men's first prize and $5,000 feminine top grab held the spotlight.

The previous high payoff for any pro event was the $12,500 May gave Ben Hogan for winning last year's "world." Now the purse has been doubled with the second prize pegged at $12,500 and the third at $5,000. In all $75,000 will be paid through 41 places.

Hogan, apparently miffed over May's refusal to toss in some appearance money, won't defend his title. Even though Bantam Ben is a little rusty, tourneywise, that was too good news for the world field.

Samuel Jackson Snead is the man to whip for the $25,000 pot.

Snead strolled off with the All-American last week with a 17-under-par 271, eight strokes ahead of the field, thus padding his bank account by $3,420.

Snead has the feel of Tam's par 36-36—72, 6,915-yard layout, judging by his 67-65-74-65 All-American showing.

Satterfield Victor, Rematch Is Possible

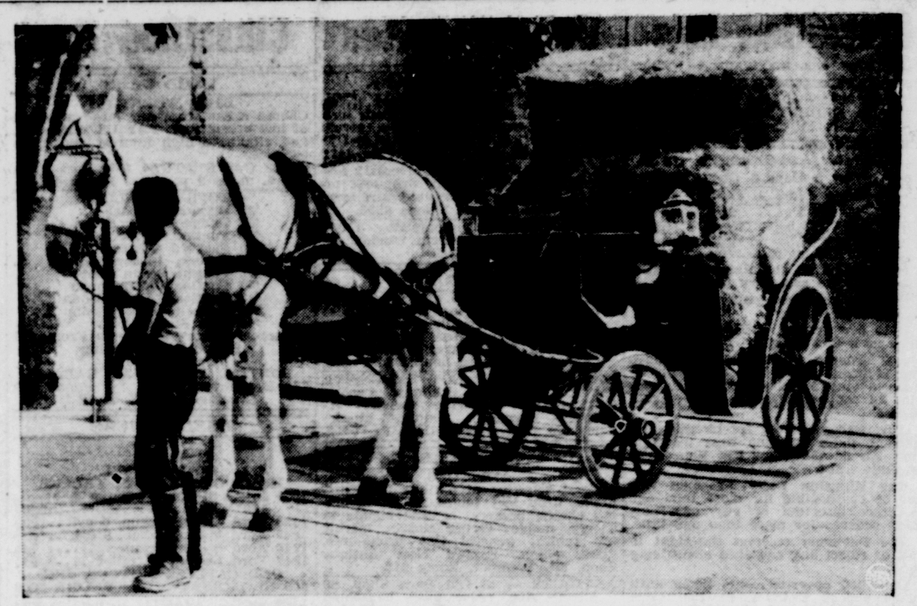
Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—A rematch booked for Philadelphia was brewing today after Chicago's Bob Satterfield, a 7-2 underdog, defeated Harold Johnson in a battle of power-punching light heavyweights.

Johnson, 23, a Philadelphia Negro and No. 3 light-heavy contender, said after last night's televised scrap at Chicago Stadium that he would welcome another chance at the unpredictable Satterfield.

Satterfield, a mustachioed Negro from Chicago's southside, needed the win last night to get back into good standing in the 175 pound division after losing his last three starts.

It was a 10 round split decision with Referee Tommy Gilmore voting 51-49 for Satterfield, Judge Edward Hintz 54-46 for the same fighter and Judge John Bray voting 52-48 for Johnson.

THREE BELLES—And all's well with Britain's navy as three sailorettes from the Girls' Naval Training College at Portsmouth "man" the rigging of H.M.S. Foudroyant. Built in 1817, the Foudroyant is the oldest of the British navy's sailing ships, still afloat.



HOW HAVE THE MIGHTY FALLEN—Atlantico, the once-proud white stallion Benito Mussolini rode in scores of Fascist parades and reviews, now humbly pulls a sightseeing carriage around Rome. Immediately after the war, the 20-year-old horse was bought by a movie company and used in several films. Then it was sold to a cab service and until a few months ago hauled sightseers through the capital. Now, with little demand for horse cabs, the owners of Il Duce's old steed accept any pay load, such as the load of hay he's pulling above.

Trials Are Postponed

New York, Aug. 7 (AP) — The trials of gamblers Frank Erickson and Joe Adonis on charges of contempt of the U. S. Senate were postponed yesterday until Sept. 3. The new date was set by Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey. Erickson and Adonis were indicted last year with Frank Costello on charges of refusing to answer certain questions before the Senate Crime Committee hearings here. Costello was convicted and sentenced to 18 months in prison and fined $2,000. He is free in $5,000 bail pending appeal.

Contact Is Established

Saigon, Indochina, Aug. 7 (AP)—Britain's top official in Southeast Asia said today the French and British general staffs have established close contact "in view of a possible eventual intervention by (Communist) China into the war in Indochina." The official, Commissioner General Malcolm MacDonald, added, however, that nothing can be revealed of the plans. He forecast that French troops and Vietnam allies would be able to defeat the Communist-held Vietminh alone after long and difficult fighting.

Against Bare Legs

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Women in bare legs have been giving too much competition to the natural beauty of the city's parks, according to the park board. So police have been ordered to hustle women in shorts out of such public places. "The only limbs we want to see in our parks are those growing on trees," said Paul L. Snyder, chairman of the board.

'Stunned'

Showman Billy Rose tells newsmen at conference in New York that he was "stunned and bewildered" that contents of an affidavit purporting to deal with his wife's conduct had been made public. Rose said Mrs. Bernie's effort to have him arrested made him decide "to pull out all the stops" in fighting the current separation suit brought against him by his wife, Eleanor Holm Rose. Mrs. Bernie, widow of the bandleader, filed a misdemeanor criminal libel charge against Rose in Beverly Hills, Calif., the day before. She charges Rose showed several persons an affidavit accusing Mrs. Bernie and Rose's estranged wife of improper conduct.

Mossadegh Plans

of the British-run Anglo-Iranian Oil Company last year. Oil production halted without British technicians, and foreign markets were cut off by a British shipping boycott. Previously, oil royalties had been the government's main source of revenue.

The new taxes would be a blow to the wealthy families who control most of the country's land and have heavy representation in parliament. But the violent Nationalist demonstrations which toppled the short-lived regime of Ahmed Qavam last month have made Mossadegh virtually supreme.

Power Is Expected

On Saturday the Iranian Senate is expected to stamp its final approval on a bill giving the Premier near-dictatorial power to rule by decree for six months. The parliament's lower House (Majlis) already has approved the measure.

Mossadegh apparently is holding off the announcement of the new taxes until the full powers are granted him.

A nod of approval was reported yesterday from the palace. The newspaper Keyhan said Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi told a parliamentary delegation he feels that Mossadegh's proposals "offer the best opportunity to take immediate action for the benefit of the people."

Rose Says . . .

broke into the limelight anew—that he was "stunned and bewildered" that contents of the affidavit about the purported conduct of his wife became public.

Rose said Mrs. Bernie's charge in California—under which he might be arrested if he went to that state—had convinced him that he should "pull out all stops" in fighting his wife's separation suit.

The showman said he had made "every effort" to see that the contents of Mrs. Jones' affidavit—naming Mrs. Bernie, Mrs. Rose and others—"never got into public print." Mrs. Bernie charged she was criminally libeled when Rose allegedly informed several persons about the contents of the affidavit.

Rose told newsmen he had "every intention" of going to California to face Mrs. Bernie's charge as soon as the litigation here was settled. He said he and his attorneys had decided several weeks ago not to use the affidavit in "open court."

The showman said he had "very happy years" during the first five years of his 12-year marriage to Eleanor Holm, who was tossed off the American Olympic squad in 1936 for drinking champagne on the boat trip to Berlin.

"I refuse to get bitter about her," he declared.

Rose said that last October he offered his estranged wife "a darn sight more than Aly Khan offered Rita Hayworth."

"As far as I know," Rose told his interviewers, "Aly Khan hasn't even sent a box of Pablum (baby food) to Yasmin (daughter of the film star and the Indian prince.)"

Miss Hayworth is suing the prince for divorce in Nevada. He now is in the United States, and a meeting is reported probable. She is reported unofficially to have asked three million dollars from the prince for support of the daughter. But her lawyer has denied this claim was made.

Rose—who did not disclose what he had offered to his wife—said she and her lawyer had made claims which he and his lawyer "thought . . . on the fantastic side."

"If it's drama the other side wants, I'm ready to give it to them," Rose declared.

Rose and his wife separated about a year ago after actress Joyce Matthews, former wife of Milton Berle, cut her wrists in Rose's apartment in the Ziegfeld Theatre building, which he owns.

Looking back on what he called the five "happy years" of his life with Eleanor, Rose told newsmen:

"I don't think I shall ever be bitter about her, and I never will refuse to provide for her future. . . ."

The charge against Rose by Mrs. Bernie in California is punishable by a maximum of a year in jail and $5,000 fine.

Eleanor Accuses Billy

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Holm Rose today accused Billy Rose, her showman husband, of making "false and terrible" charges against her honor in the latest round of their marriage bout.

Yesterday it was Billy's day. He claimed the details of his married life with the former swimming star were "enough to make a strong man weep."

His outraged bellow was prompted by a criminal libel charge lodged against him Monday in California by Mrs. Dorothy Bernie, widow of radio's "Old Maestro" Ben Bernie. Mrs. Bernie based her complaint on an affidavit Rose obtained from her former New York maid, Mrs. Alberta Jones, detailing alleged events in Mrs. Bernie's apartment.

Rose is suing for divorce in New York state where the only ground is adultery. His wife is suing for a separation with maintenance.

Issues Statement

Today was Eleanor's day. Through the office here of her attorney, Louis Nizer, she issued a statement which said in part:

"I can only say that my attorney and I from the first never attempted to exploit Billy's moral and financial vulnerability. It has been difficult in the light of his campaign of shocking calumny which has and still is to be exposed, to preserve a sense of dignity.

"All those who know Mr. Rose and me will know who is making false charges and trying to defend an immoral situation by hurling abuse at the innocent party.

"His penuriousness is responsible for the impasse."

'Housekeeping License'

Conway, Ark. (AP) — A man stepped briskly up to the counter at the Faulkner county courthouse and asked for a "housekeeping license." Clerk Mrs. Jewell Crow diplomatically informed the man that she was authorized to issue marriage licenses—but not housekeeping permits. He asked another clerk and got the same answer. The caller finally departed the courthouse, apparently to continue "housekeeping"—sans license.

Whale Heart Beats Studied in Alaska

Anchorage, Alaska, Aug. 7 (AP)—Does a whale's heart work as hard in proportion to its size as the heart of a man or a mouse?

Does it beat as fast?

These are the questions the noted heart specialists are trying to answer by taking electrocardiographs of Alaskan whales.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston, and Dr. Robert King, Seattle, are at Clark's point on Bristol Bay where they hope to record on paper the heart beats of the Beluga whale.

Dr. White, internationally known in his field, was for many years chief of the cardiological branch of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and chief scientific advisor for the Heart Institute of the National Institute of Health.

Dr. King is president of the American Heart Association.

Through their studies of opposite extremes in size, the scientists hope to establish some sort of a scale which will help to understanding heart functions in relations to the size of man.

In order to record a whale heart in action, they will load their equipment into a small boat and travel into the nearest school of white whales.

The metallic contact of a 'cardiograph, which normally is placed on the skin, will be incorporated in the point of a light harpon. Wires leading from the contact will transmit heart beats along the harpon line to an electrocardiograph. A stylus in the machine will record heart action on a sheet of graph paper—if the whale cooperates.

It's a new experiment and no one knows whether the whale will swim undisturbed, or whether he will take off at the first contact in a dive to the bottom or a speedy flight to the open sea.

Contact Is Established

Saigon, Indochina, Aug. 7 (AP)—Britain's top official in Southeast Asia said today the French and British general staffs have established close contact "in view of a possible eventual intervention by (Communist) China into the war in Indochina." The official, Commissioner General Malcolm MacDonald, added, however, that nothing can be revealed of the plans. He forecast that French troops and Vietnam allies would be able to defeat the Communist-held Vietminh alone after long and difficult fighting.

Against Bare Legs

Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 7 (AP)—Women in bare legs have been giving too much competition to the natural beauty of the city's parks, according to the park board. So police have been ordered to hustle women in shorts out of such public places. "The only limbs we want to see in our parks are those growing on trees," said Paul L. Snyder, chairman of the board.

'Stunned'

Showman Billy Rose tells newsmen at conference in New York that he was "stunned and bewildered" that contents of an affidavit purporting to deal with his wife's conduct had been made public. Rose said Mrs. Bernie's effort to have him arrested made him decide "to pull out all the stops" in fighting the current separation suit brought against him by his wife, Eleanor Holm Rose. Mrs. Bernie, widow of the bandleader, filed a misdemeanor criminal libel charge against Rose in Beverly Hills, Calif., the day before. She charges Rose showed several persons an affidavit accusing Mrs. Bernie and Rose's estranged wife of improper conduct.

Mossadegh Plans

of the British-run Anglo-Iranian Oil Company last year. Oil production halted without British technicians, and foreign markets were cut off by a British shipping boycott. Previously, oil royalties had been the government's main source of revenue.

The new taxes would be a blow to the wealthy families who control most of the country's land and have heavy representation in parliament. But the violent Nationalist demonstrations which toppled the short-lived regime of Ahmed Qavam last month have made Mossadegh virtually supreme.

Power Is Expected

On Saturday the Iranian Senate is expected to stamp its final approval on a bill giving the Premier near-dictatorial power to rule by decree for six months. The parliament's lower House (Majlis) already has approved the measure.

Mossadegh apparently is holding off the announcement of the new taxes until the full powers are granted him.

A nod of approval was reported yesterday from the palace. The newspaper Keyhan said Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi told a parliamentary delegation he feels that Mossadegh's proposals "offer the best opportunity to take immediate action for the benefit of the people."

Rose Says . . .

broke into the limelight anew—that he was "stunned and bewildered" that contents of the affidavit about the purported conduct of his wife became public.

Rose said Mrs. Bernie's charge in California—under which he might be arrested if he went to that state—had convinced him that he should "pull out all stops" in fighting his wife's separation suit.

The showman said he had made "every effort" to see that the contents of Mrs. Jones' affidavit—naming Mrs. Bernie, Mrs. Rose and others—"never got into public print." Mrs. Bernie charged she was criminally libeled when Rose allegedly informed several persons about the contents of the affidavit.

Rose told newsmen he had "every intention" of going to California to face Mrs. Bernie's charge as soon as the litigation here was settled. He said he and his attorneys had decided several weeks ago not to use the affidavit in "open court."

The showman said he had "very happy years" during the first five years of his 12-year marriage to Eleanor Holm, who was tossed off the American Olympic squad in 1936 for drinking champagne on the boat trip to Berlin.

"I refuse to get bitter about her," he declared.

Rose said that last October he offered his estranged wife "a darn sight more than Aly Khan offered Rita Hayworth."

"As far as I know," Rose told his interviewers, "Aly Khan hasn't even sent a box of Pablum (baby food) to Yasmin (daughter of the film star and the Indian prince.)"

Miss Hayworth is suing the prince for divorce in Nevada. He now is in the United States, and a meeting is reported probable. She is reported unofficially to have asked three million dollars from the prince for support of the daughter. But her lawyer has denied this claim was made.

Rose—who did not disclose what he had offered to his wife—said she and her lawyer had made claims which he and his lawyer "thought . . . on the fantastic side."

"If it's drama the other side wants, I'm ready to give it to them," Rose declared.

Rose and his wife separated about a year ago after actress Joyce Matthews, former wife of Milton Berle, cut her wrists in Rose's apartment in the Ziegfeld Theatre building, which he owns.

Looking back on what he called the five "happy years" of his life with Eleanor, Rose told newsmen:

"I don't think I shall ever be bitter about her, and I never will refuse to provide for her future. . . ."

The charge against Rose by Mrs. Bernie in California is punishable by a maximum of a year in jail and $5,000 fine.

Eleanor Accuses Billy

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Holm Rose today accused Billy Rose, her showman husband, of making "false and terrible" charges against her honor in the latest round of their marriage bout.

Yesterday it was Billy's day. He claimed the details of his married life with the former swimming star were "enough to make a strong man weep."

His outraged bellow was prompted by a criminal libel charge lodged against him Monday in California by Mrs. Dorothy Bernie, widow of radio's "Old Maestro" Ben Bernie. Mrs. Bernie based her complaint on an affidavit Rose obtained from her former New York maid, Mrs. Alberta Jones, detailing alleged events in Mrs. Bernie's apartment.

Rose is suing for divorce in New York state where the only ground is adultery. His wife is suing for a separation with maintenance.

Issues Statement

Today was Eleanor's day. Through the office here of her attorney, Louis Nizer, she issued a statement which said in part:

"I can only say that my attorney and I from the first never attempted to exploit Billy's moral and financial vulnerability. It has been difficult in the light of his campaign of shocking calumny which has and still is to be exposed, to preserve a sense of dignity.

"All those who know Mr. Rose and me will know who is making false charges and trying to defend an immoral situation by hurling abuse at the innocent party.

"His penuriousness is responsible for the impasse."

'Housekeeping License'

Conway, Ark. (AP) — A man stepped briskly up to the counter at the Faulkner county courthouse and asked for a "housekeeping license." Clerk Mrs. Jewell Crow diplomatically informed the man that she was authorized to issue marriage licenses—but not housekeeping permits. He asked another clerk and got the same answer. The caller finally departed the courthouse, apparently to continue "housekeeping"—sans license.

Whale Heart Beats Studied in Alaska

Anchorage, Alaska, Aug. 7 (AP)—Does a whale's heart work as hard in proportion to its size as the heart of a man or a mouse?

Does it beat as fast?

These are the questions the noted heart specialists are trying to answer by taking electrocardiographs of Alaskan whales.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston, and Dr. Robert King, Seattle, are at Clark's point on Bristol Bay where they hope to record on paper the heart beats of the Beluga whale.

Dr. White, internationally known in his field, was for many years chief of the cardiological branch of the Massachusetts General Hospital, and chief scientific advisor for the Heart Institute of the National Institute of Health.

Dr. King is president of the American Heart Association.

Through their studies of opposite extremes in size, the scientists hope to establish some sort of a scale which will help to understanding heart functions in relations to the size of man.

In order to record a whale heart in action, they will load their equipment into a small boat and travel into the nearest school of white whales.

The metallic contact of a 'cardiograph, which normally is placed on the skin, will be incorporated in the point of a light harpon. Wires leading from the contact will transmit heart beats along the harpon line to an electrocardiograph. A stylus in the machine will record heart action on a sheet of graph paper—if the whale cooperates.

It's a new experiment and no one knows whether the whale will swim undisturbed, or whether he will take off at the first contact in a dive to the bottom or a speedy flight to the open sea.

Stevenson Might

any number of invitations to speak in all parts of the country, if he chose. But he may feel, as a good party man, that he ought to let Stevenson have an entirely free hand.

Will Discuss Problems

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Truman said today that everything necessary to obtain a Democratic victory will come under discussion when Gov. Adlai Stevenson meets with him and his cabinet here next week.

He told a news conference the questions it will include, among other things, what part he should take in the campaign.

Since Truman obviously is "raring to get in some licks at the Republicans, Stevenson may find himself confronted with the difficult task of suggesting that the President take a back seat. The Democratic nominee has been at some pains to avoid close identification with the Truman administration.

Truman said he invited Stevenson to the White House since Stevenson had suggested to him in Chicago, at the time of the Democratic national convention, that such a meeting would be a very fine thing.

To Attend Luncheon

He said the White House luncheon will be attended by Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the vice presidential nominee, and by Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

In a confidential tone, the President told the newsmen he would have supported Barkley for the presidential nomination had Barkley remained in the race.

Truman went on to say he thought the convention picked the best possible men—and men who can be elected.

On other political subjects, the President:

1. Voiced his support of Stuart Symington for election as Missouri senator over GOP Senator James P. Kem.

While the President backed State Attorney General J. E. (Buck) Taylor in the primary election yesterday, he told his news conference he is just as fond of Symington.

Was in That Mood

Truman said he voted for Taylor because he was in a frame of mind to vote for him. He said Taylor's defeat did not affect his own standing in Missouri.

The last remark was made directly to Duke Shoop, Kansas City Star reporter, who had referred to the defeat of Taylor as a "beating" for Truman.

The President said no, he had not taken a beating.

2. Said he was glad his frequent critic, Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, had been converted.

This was a reference to the fact that Byrnes yesterday urged the South Carolina Democratic Convention to back the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

In 1948, South Carolina gave its electoral vote to a States Rights ticket running in opposition to Truman.

3. Said that he had not talked with Averell Harriman about Harriman's entering the race for senator from New York against Republican Senator Ives.

No Outside Candidates

He said he did not select candidates outside Missouri, when asked if he would like to see Harriman make the race.

Under questioning, Truman said he had never considered supporting Harriman for the Democratic presidential nomination. He said Harriman had asked him if it would be alright for him to get the support of the New York delegation. Truman said he agreed to this.

Then Truman repeated that he considers Stevenson the best candidate and described him as one who certainly will win.

4. Refused comment on recent political speeches by the Republican presidential nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Asked if there was any precedent for next Tuesday's meeting of Stevenson with the cabinet, Truman said that whenever a president is going to be succeeded by the nominee of his party it is a good thing to have such a meeting.

"Will your role in the campaign be discussed at that time?" a reporter inquired.

Nods in Affirmative

Nodding affirmatively, the President said everything necessary to make the Democrats win—and he repeated everything—will be discussed.

He said the meeting is being held to discuss the political situation and a program for the election of a Democrat ticket.

There has been much speculation as to the extent to which Stevenson will want Truman to campaign.

Truman has said on two occasions that he is now "just a private in the rear ranks" and subject to orders from Stevenson and the national committee.

Talk Wages Today

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) opened wage talks today with shipping employers in an effort to get a 50 cents an hour pay hike for longshoremen employed in east coast ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va. The negotiations were instituted under a wage reopening clause in a contract which runs to September 30, 1953. Longshoremen now are paid $2.10 an hour.

Priests Are Decorated

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Warsaw radio said President Boleslaw Bieurt of Communist Poland today decorated 39 priests for patriotism on the eighth anniversary of the country's liberation in World War 2.

Eihenhower (left) holds the Veterans of Foreign Wars' first annual Bernard Baruch Award, presented at the organization's 53rd annual encampment, August 5, by its Commander-in-Chief, Frank C. Four Are Arrested In Theft of Garments

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Police investigating a series of thefts from the Montgomery Ward Company warehouse at 75 Varick street reported today the arrest of four men.

They said the men were arrested yesterday as 17 women's coats valued at $433 were being transferred from a Montgomery Ward-leased delivery truck to another truck at 14th street and Seventh avenue yesterday afternoon.

Those arrested gave their names as Stephen Dashen, 40, of 86-75 Midland Parkway, Forest Hills, Queens, a warehouse employe; James Simermeyer, 37, of Brooklyn; Joseph Lulek, 27, of Manhattan, and Fred Kusnick, 37, of 2124 Seneca Drive, Merrick, N. Y.

Police said Dashen used an old invoice to transfer the coats to the delivery truck, operated by Simermeyer and his helper, Lulek. The police said the latter two transferred the coats to a truck owned and operated by Kusnick, a women's clothing jobber with an establishment at 40th street and Seventh avenue.

Kusnick was charged with criminally receiving stolen goods and the other three with grand larceny. Police said the charges applied only to yesterday's transaction and not to any previous thefts.

Farms Collectivized

Hong Kong (AP)—The Chinese Communists so far have set up 45 collective farms as a possible first step toward collectivization of the highly-individualistic farmers of China. There are 10 of the farms in Manchuria containing 200,000 acres. The rest of the state farms are scattered throughout China proper.

Dictionary Too Old For Word He Sought

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—Judge Frank Powell was reading aloud from a report on a girl in a north London court yesterday when he stumbled on the word "ambivalent."

He asked for the court dictionary but couldn't find the word in it.

And no wonder, commented the judge. The dictionary was published in 1856, nearly a century ago.

"We are very economical, sir," suggested the court clerk.

"Should think you are," the judge replied, "and judging by the dust on this book, it has not been used since it was sent to the court."

Ambivalence, according to a modern psychiatric word book, is "contrasting emotions, such as love and hatred—one of which may be unconscious—experienced at the same time for the same person."

At the center of an atom is the nucleus, containing from one to 98 particles called protons, each of which has a positive electrical charge.

License Is Refused

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 7 (AP)—The West German economics ministry refused today to issue a license for a 35 million dollar trade contact between Red China and a group of German firms drawn up at the Moscow trade conference last April. The ministry told the German companies that up to the time when an official trade contract between the federal republic and Red China is possible, business between the two countries must be done on a barter basis.

Returns to Field

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—A Capital Airline Constellation returned to LaGuardia Field today, 62 minutes after taking off for Minneapolis. It made an emergency landing after circling the field six times to dump its gasoline. The flight, No. 921, carrying 22 passengers, took off at 9:20 a. m. (EST). The airline said the trouble was a "rough" number two engine. The passengers were assigned to a later flight.

The watermelon grows in numerous varieties and when mature may weigh as little as 8 or more than 80 pounds.

Stevenson Might

any number of invitations to speak in all parts of the country, if he chose. But he may feel, as a good party man, that he ought to let Stevenson have an entirely free hand.

Will Discuss Problems

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—President Truman said today that everything necessary to obtain a Democratic victory will come under discussion when Gov. Adlai Stevenson meets with him and his cabinet here next week.

He told a news conference the questions it will include, among other things, what part he should take in the campaign.

Since Truman obviously is "raring to get in some licks at the Republicans, Stevenson may find himself confronted with the difficult task of suggesting that the President take a back seat. The Democratic nominee has been at some pains to avoid close identification with the Truman administration.

Truman said he invited Stevenson to the White House since Stevenson had suggested to him in Chicago, at the time of the Democratic national convention, that such a meeting would be a very fine thing.

To Attend Luncheon

He said the White House luncheon will be attended by Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the vice presidential nominee, and by Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

In a confidential tone, the President told the newsmen he would have supported Barkley for the presidential nomination had Barkley remained in the race.

(Barkley pulled out of the race after a group of labor union leaders publicly called him "too old." He is 74.)

Truman went on to say he thought the convention picked the best possible men—and men who can be elected.

On other political subjects, the President:

1. Voiced his support of Stuart Symington for election as Missouri senator over GOP Senator James P. Kem.

While the President backed State Attorney General J. E. (Buck) Taylor in the primary election yesterday, he told his news conference he is just as fond of Symington.

Was in That Mood

Truman said he voted for Taylor because he was in a frame of mind to vote for him. He said Taylor's defeat did not affect his own standing in Missouri.

The last remark was made directly to Duke Shoop, Kansas City Star reporter, who had referred to the defeat of Taylor as a "beating" for Truman.

The President said no, he had not taken a beating.

2. Said he was glad his frequent critic, Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, had been converted.

This was a reference to the fact that Byrnes yesterday urged the South Carolina Democratic Convention to back the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

In 1948, South Carolina gave its electoral vote to a States Rights ticket running in opposition to Truman.

3. Said that he had not talked with Averell Harriman about Harriman's entering the race for senator from New York against Republican Senator Ives.

No Outside Candidates

He said he did not select candidates outside Missouri, when asked if he would like to see Harriman make the race.

Under questioning, Truman said he had never considered supporting Harriman for the Democratic presidential nomination. He said Harriman had asked him if it would be alright for him to get the support of the New York delegation. Truman said he agreed to this.

Then Truman repeated that he considers Stevenson the best candidate and described him as one who certainly will win.

4. Refused comment on recent political speeches by the Republican presidential nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Asked if there was any precedent for next Tuesday's meeting of Stevenson with the cabinet, Truman said that whenever a president is going to be succeeded by the nominee of his party it is a good thing to have such a meeting.

"Will your role in the campaign be discussed at that time?" a reporter inquired.

Nods in Affirmative

Nodding affirmatively, the President said everything necessary to make the Democrats win—and he repeated everything—will be discussed.

He said the meeting is being held to discuss the political situation and a program for the election of a Democrat ticket.

There has been much speculation as to the extent to which Stevenson will want Truman to campaign.

Truman has said on two occasions that he is now "just a private in the rear ranks" and subject to orders from Stevenson and the national committee.

Talk Wages Today

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) opened wage talks today with shipping employers in an effort to get a 50 cents an hour pay hike for longshoremen employed in east coast ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va. The negotiations were instituted under a wage reopening clause in a contract which runs to September 30, 1953. Longshoremen now are paid $2.10 an hour.

Priests Are Decorated

London, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Warsaw radio said President Boleslaw Bieurt of Communist Poland today decorated 39 priests for patriotism on the eighth anniversary of the country's liberation in World War 2.

Ike Gets Baruch Award

Four Are Arrested In Theft of Garments

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Police investigating a series of thefts from the Montgomery Ward Company warehouse at 75 Varick street reported today the arrest of four men.

They said the men were arrested yesterday as 17 women's coats valued at $433 were being transferred from a Montgomery Ward-leased delivery truck to another truck at 14th street and Seventh avenue yesterday afternoon.

Those arrested gave their names as Stephen Dashen, 40, of 86-75 Midland Parkway, Forest Hills, Queens, a warehouse employe; James Simermeyer, 37, of Brooklyn; Joseph Lulek, 27, of Manhattan, and Fred Kusnick, 37, of 2124 Seneca Drive, Merrick, N. Y.

Police said Dashen used an old invoice to transfer the coats to the delivery truck, operated by Simermeyer and his helper, Lulek. The police said the latter two transferred the coats to a truck owned and operated by Kusnick, a women's clothing jobber with an establishment at 40th street and Seventh avenue.

Kusnick was charged with criminally receiving stolen goods and the other three with grand larceny. Police said the charges applied only to yesterday's transaction and not to any previous thefts.
